Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On August 10, 2006, Momenta Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (the Company) entered into a letter agreement (the Letter Agreement) with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) relating to the Amended and Restated Exclusive Patent License Agreement, dated November 1, 2002, by and between MIT and the Company, as amended (collectively, the MIT License Agreement), pursuant to which the Company licenses certain intellectual property from MIT and, in addition to other obligations, has agreed to pay MIT (i) a percentage of certain income received by the Company from corporate partners and sublicensees and (ii) royalties for certain drug products that are developed using such intellectual property and that constitute Licensed Products (as such term is defined in the MIT License Agreement).

The Company has used intellectual property licensed from MIT to develop its drug candidate M-Enoxaparin, which the Company is developing under its Collaboration and License Agreement (the Sandoz Agreement) entered into with Sandoz N.V. and Sandoz Inc. in November 2003 (Sandoz); however, under the terms of the MIT License Agreement no royalties would be payable to MIT because M-Enoxaparin does not constitute a Licensed Product. Under the Letter Agreement, the Company has agreed to pay MIT a percentage of the amount received by the Company from Sandoz under the Sandoz Agreement, which percentage represents a reduction to the royalty rates payable to MIT with respect to Licensed Products under the MIT License Agreement. The foregoing description of the Letter Agreement is qualified in its entirety by the full text of the Letter Agreement, a complete copy of which is filed herewith as Exhibit 10.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.
