Safe Harbor for Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements made in this Form 8-K, including all exhibits attached hereto, could be considered forward-looking and subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause results to differ materially from those projected. When the Company uses the words will, may, anticipate, estimate, should, could, expect, believe, intend, potential, or similar expressions, it intends to identify forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, the Company's business and investment strategy, its understanding of its competition, current market trends and opportunities, projected operating results, and projected capital expenditures.

These forward-looking statements are subject to known and unknown risks and uncertainties, which could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated including, without limitation: general volatility of the capital markets and the market price of the Company's common stock; changes in the Company's business or investment strategy; availability, terms and deployment of capital; availability of qualified personnel; changes in the Company's industry and the market in which it operates, interest rates or the general economy, and the degree and nature of the Company's competition. These and other risk factors are more fully discussed in each company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
