NOTE ON FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Except for the statements of historical fact contained herein, some information presented in this annual report constitutes forward-looking statements. When used in this annual report, the words estimate, project, believe, anticipate, intend, expect, predict, may, should, the negative thereof or other variations thereon or other terminology are intended to identify forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors which may cause the actual results, performance or achievements of the Company to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Such factors include, among others, those factors discussed in the section entitled Risk Factors. Although the Company has attempted to identify important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially, there may be other factors that cause actual results not to be as anticipated, estimated or intended. There can be no assurance that such statements will prove to be accurate as actual results and future events could differ materially from those anticipated in such statements. Accordingly, prospective investors should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements in this annual report speak only as to the date hereof. The Company does not undertake any obligation to release publicly any revisions to these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.

Although we believe that the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, we cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements. Except as required by applicable law, including the securities laws of the United States, we do not intend to update any of the forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances occurring after the date hereof.

REVISION

The Company has revised its previously issued August 31, 2006 and 2005 US GAAP financial information furnished on form 6-K filed on November 30, 2006 to retrospectively reflect a change in accounting policy relating to share purchase warrants with an exercise price denominated in a currency other than the Company's functional currency. These are now reflected as a derivative liability. Please refer to note 32 of the financial statements in ITEM 18.

SELECTED FINANCIAL DATA

The following table sets forth selected financial data regarding our consolidated operating results and financial position. The data has been derived from our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada (Canadian GAAP). For reconciliation to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (U.S. GAAP), see note 32 to the Consolidated Financial Statements as at August 31, 2006 and 2005 and for the years ended August 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004. The financial data as at August 31, 2003 and 2002 and for the years ended August 31, 2003 and 2002 have been derived from our audited financial statements not included in this Annual Report on Form 20-F (the Annual Report or Form F-20). The following selected financial data is qualified in its entirety by, and should be read in conjunction with, the consolidated financial statements and notes hereto included in Item 18 Financial Statements in this Annual Report. The selected financial data is expressed in Canadian dollars.

RISK FACTORS

The Company's business is subject to a number of risks and uncertainties discussed below. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to the Company or that the Company does not currently anticipate will be material, may impair the Company's business operations and its operating results and as a result could materially impact its business, results of operations, prospects and financial condition.

Our consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis.

The auditors' report on our consolidated financial statements includes comments for U.S. readers on Canada-U.S. reporting differences and Note 1 to our consolidated financial statements outlines factors that cast substantial doubt on our ability to continue as a going concern.

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis which assumes that the Company will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business for the foreseeable future.

The continuing operations of the Company are dependent upon its ability to continue to raise adequate financing and to generate profitable operations for the future.

Management is continuing to target sources of additional financing as well as other business and financial transactions to assume continuance of the Company's operations.

There can be no assurances that the Company will be successful in raising additional cash to finance operations or that the continued support of creditors and shareholders will be available. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability of assets and classification of assets and liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

We may be delisted from the American Stock Exchange (AMEX).

On February 10, 2004, we had received notice from AMEX indicating that we were in breach of AMEX's continued listing standards of maintaining a shareholders' equity value greater than US$2,000,000 and sustaining losses in two of our three most recent fiscal years; and in breach of maintaining a shareholders' equity value greater than US$4,000,000 and sustaining losses from continuing operations and/or net losses in three out of our four most recent fiscal years, all as set forth in Section 1003(a)(i) and Section 1003 (a)(ii), respectively, of the AMEX Company Guide.

Over the past three fiscal years we have increased our shareholders' equity through a combination of an equity issuance of both common and preferred shares.

At August 31, 2006, the total of our shareholders' equity was $21,760,000 (US$19,687,000), thereby complying with the AMEX listing standard of maintaining equity greater than US$4,000,000. There is no guarantee that we will be able to continue reporting profitability and that our shareholders' equity will not decrease again below the AMEX threshold amount. If we incur losses and the losses are significant enough that our shareholders' equity value declines below the AMEX threshold we could, once again, be in breach of the AMEX listing requirements, which could result in our shares being delisted from the AMEX.

We have had losses, and we cannot assure future profitability.

We cannot assure you we will be able to operate profitably. In three of our last five years we have reported losses. We would have recognized losses in the last five fiscal years absent gains on settlement of obligations. As of August 31, 2006 we had an accumulated deficit of $8,683,000. If we continue to have losses in the future, we may not be able to generate positive cash flows sufficient to finance continuing activities. Our inability to meet those needs could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our success depends on factors in the motion picture and television industry.

The business of producing and distributing film and television programming is highly competitive and involves a substantial degree of risk. Revenues derived from the production and distribution of film and television programming depend primarily upon acceptance by the public, which is difficult to predict. Each film and television program is an individual artistic work, and unpredictable audience reactions primarily determine commercial success. Generally, the popularity of our productions depends on many factors, including the critical acclaim they receive, the actors and other key talent, their genre and their specific subject matter. The commercial success of our productions also depends upon the quality and acceptance of productions that our competitors release into the marketplace at or near the same time, the availability of alternative forms of entertainment and leisure activities, general economic conditions and other tangible and intangible factors, many of which we do not control and all of which may change. We cannot predict the future effects of these factors with certainty, any of which factors could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. Some or all of our proprietary film and television programs may not be commercially successful, resulting in our failure to recoup its investment or realize its anticipated profits.

Our revenues and results of operations may fluctuate significantly.

Results of operations for any period depend on a number of factors such as on the number of film and television programs that are delivered, the price at which we are able to sell them and when the cost of the productions are within budget. Consequently, results may vary from period to period, and the results of any one period may not indicate results for future periods. In particular, results of operations in any period depend to a large extent upon our production and delivery schedule for television programs and motion pictures. As a result of the production cycle, our revenues are not recognized evenly throughout any given year. Cash flows may also fluctuate and may not directly correspond with revenue recognition.

Our business requires a substantial investment of capital.

Our ability to maintain and expand our development, production and distribution of proprietary programming and to cover our general and administrative expenses depends upon our ability to obtain financing through equity financing, debt financing (including credit facilities) or the sale or syndication of some or all of our interests in certain projects or other assets. If our access to existing credit facilities is not available, and if other funding does not become available to replace existing credit facilities should they not be available, there could be a material adverse effect on our business.

We are subject to risks associated with possible acquisitions, business combinations, or joint ventures.

From time to time we engage in discussions and activities with respect to possible acquisitions, business combinations, or joint ventures intended to complement or expand our business. We may not realize the anticipated benefit from any of the transactions we pursue. Regardless of whether we consummate any such transaction as well as the integration of the acquired business could require us to incur significant costs and cause diversion of management's time and resources. Events and circumstances subsequent to such transaction could also result in impairment of goodwill and other intangibles, development write-offs and other related expenses. Any of the foregoing could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We may be unable to comply in a timely manner with the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act relating to the assessment by us of the effectiveness of our internal controls over financial reporting, and our assessment may identify material weaknesses and may result in an attestation with an adverse opinion from our auditors, each of which could adversely affect our reputation and share price.

Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act 2002 and related regulations presently requires that for the year ended December 15, 2008, we will be required to perform an evaluation of our internal controls over financial reporting and have our auditors attest to such evaluations on an annual basis. We have been and still are evaluating our internal control systems to allow our management to report on, and our auditors to attest to our internal control over financial reporting. As a result, we have incurred additional expenses in fiscal 2006 and a diversion of our management's time.

There can be no assurance that we will complete the necessary work to comply with all aspects of Section 404 and related regulations in a timely manner.

Weaknesses in our internal controls over financial reporting may cause us to be unable to prevent or detect material misstatements in a timely manner. Any failure to implement required new or improved controls, or difficulties encountered in their implementation, could cause us to fail to meet our reporting obligations. If the assessment of our internal control over financial reporting identifies material weaknesses that must be disclosed, we may receive an attestation with an adverse opinion from our auditors as to the adequacy of our internal control over financial reporting. Furthermore, potential acquisitions of businesses that are currently not in compliance with Section 404 requirements could lead to disclosures on currently unforeseen deficiencies in our internal control over financial reporting. This could adversely affect our ability to comply with business combinations accounting procedures in preparing our consolidated financial results. Each of these consequences could reduce the market's confidence in our financial statements and negatively affect the price of our shares.

While we believe that we will be able to meet the required deadlines, no assurance can be given that this will be the case. If we fail to complete this evaluation within the required time frame, or fail to remedy any identified material weakness or if our auditors render an adverse attestation, we may be subject to regulatory scrutiny and loss of public confidence in our internal controls. All of these factors may cause our stock price to decline.

The potential for budget overruns and other production risks are difficult to predict.

Actual production costs may exceed budget, perhaps significantly, due to factors within or beyond our control. These factors may delay or prevent completion of a production. If there are significant cost overruns, we may have to seek additional financing to complete the production. Financing on terms acceptable to us may not be available. We may be unable to recoup the additional costs, which could have a material adverse impact on operating results and liquidity. Productions are bonded and, if necessary, calling upon the bonder to complete can mitigate any significant cost overrun or risk of completion.

We rely on a few key customers.

Our revenue is generated in part due to production activities in numerous countries. We have several primary customers who purchase distribution rights to the filmed product we sell. We also have several large customers through which we distribute our home entertainment product. In the year ended August 31, 2006, one customer represented approximately 25% of total revenues, a second customer represented approximately 9% of total revenues and a third customer represented approximately 5% of total revenues and two customers collectively represented approximately 8% of total revenues.

Sales of outstanding shares may hurt our stock price.

Our current shareholders hold a substantial number of shares. We filed a registration statement which was declared effective on November 2, 2006 on Form F-3 to register an aggregate of 36,061,540 shares of common shares on behalf of certain shareholders of the Company. The sale of these shares could cause the trading price of our stock to substantially decline. In addition, such sales may create the perception by the public of difficulties or problems with our products and services or management. Sales of these shares could also make it more difficult for us to sell equity or equity-related securities in the future at a time and price that we deem reasonable or appropriate.

The Preference Shares have priority over the Common Shares of the Company

The Company has 4,347,807 Series I and 2,661,929 Series II Preference Shares outstanding as of August 31, 2006 and the Company has the ability to issue additional Preference Shares. The Preference Shares shall be entitled to priority over the Common Shares and over any other shares of the Company ranking junior to the Preference Shares with respect to the payment of dividends and in the distribution of assets in the event of the liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of the Company, whether voluntary or involuntary, or any other distribution of the assets of the Company among its shareholders for the purpose of winding up its affairs.

Management's forecasts for future revenues supporting film book values may not be achieved.

Investments in film and television programming are amortized against revenues in the ratio that current revenues bear to management's estimate of ultimate revenues for each program pursuant to the Statement of Position (SOP-002) issued by the Accounting Standards Executive Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

As a result of our policy we typically amortize a minimum of 80% of the costs over a three-year period. Management periodically reviews its estimates and adjusts the amortization of our programming accordingly. In the event that management should determine that the capitalized costs for a program exceed its fair value, capitalized costs would be written down in the current period, resulting in a corresponding decrease in earnings.

We could lose certain benefits by failing to meet certain government incentive programs

We currently finance a portion of our production budgets through Canadian and United States government agencies and incentive programs, including federal and provincial tax credits, as well as through similar international arrangements in the case of our international co-productions. These tax credits combined can represent approximately 20% of an individual production budget. We will continue to qualify for these tax credits if, among other things, Canadians beneficially own or control a majority of the voting rights of the Company. If Canadians fail to beneficially own or control a majority of our voting rights at any time, we could lose such tax incentives and the costs of our productions would increase substantially. Canadian law requires Canadian conventional, specialty, pay and pay-per-view television services to devote a certain amount of their programming schedules, including prime time, to Canadian productions. If we fail to qualify as a Canadian producer, it would be more difficult to obtain time slots in Canada for our programming, a "slot" being a broadcast time period for a program. We believe we will continue to qualify as a Canadian producer for this purpose as long as, among other things, Canadians beneficially own or control a majority of our voting rights. These incentive programs, including federal and provincial tax credit programs, may be amended or eliminated in the future, which could result in a material increase in the effective cost of our productions. The loss or elimination of these tax and business incentives would have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

We are smaller and less diversified than many of our competitors.

Although we are an independent distributor and producer, we compete with major U.S. and international studios. Most of the major U.S. studios are part of large diversified corporate groups with a variety of other operations, including television networks and cable channels that can provide both means of distributing their products and stable sources of earnings that may allow them better to offset fluctuations in the financial performance of their film and television operations. In addition, the major studios have more resources with which to compete for ideas, storylines and scripts created by third parties as well as for actors, directors and other personnel required for production. The resources of the major studios may also give them an advantage in acquiring other businesses or assets, including film libraries, that we might also be interested in acquiring. The foregoing could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our revenues and results of operations are vulnerable to currency fluctuations.

The Company receives a portion of its revenues from U.S. and international sources in U.S. dollars while its operating costs and production costs of film and television programming is primarily denominated in Canadian dollars. Accordingly, results of operations can be affected by fluctuations in the U.S. dollar exchange rate. The results of these fluctuations may be material. To date, we have not entered into any material currency hedging instruments. In addition, the Company has not maintained significant amounts of U.S. dollar balances in order to reduce the risk of exchange rate fluctuations.

Our revenues and results of operations are subject to interest rate fluctuations.

The Company borrows funds from banks and other financial institutions to finance the production costs of its film and television programming that is generally incurred in advance of contracted receipts and revenues from these programs. These loans usually bear interest at rates that change as market interest rates fluctuate. A rise in interest rates would cause an increase in costs to produce film and television programs and an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

The loss of key personnel could adversely affect our business.

Our success depends to a significant degree upon the services of certain key personnel, particularly Gary Howsam, our Chief Executive Officer. Because we are a relatively small company, these members of management are involved in many aspects of the production process and virtually all significant decisions are made or significantly influenced by these individuals. The loss of the services of any one or more of our key personnel could have a material adverse effect on our business. Although we have obtained and intend to maintain "key man" life insurance coverage with respect to these personnel, there is no assurance that the proceeds would be sufficient to compensate fully for the loss of the services of any of these individuals if they were to die. The loss of services of any of these employees could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

We could be adversely affected by strikes or other union job actions.

The film and television programming produced by us generally employ actors, writers and directors who are members of the Screen Actors Guild, Writers Guild of America and Directors Guild of America, respectively, pursuant to industry-wide collective bargaining agreements. The collective bargaining agreement with the Writers Guild of America was successfully renegotiated and became effective as of November 1, 2004 for a term of three years. The collective bargaining agreements with the Screen Actors Guild and Directors Guild of America were each successfully renegotiated and became effective as of July 1, 2005 for a term of three years. Many productions also employ members of a number of other unions, including, without limitation, the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, the Teamsters and the Alliance of Canadian Cinema, Television and Radio Artists. A strike by one or more of the unions that provide personnel essential to the production of motion pictures or television programs could delay or halt our ongoing production activities. Such a halt or delay, depending on the length of time, could cause a delay or interruption in our release of new motion pictures and television programs, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

Piracy of motion pictures, including digital and internet piracy may reduce the gross receipts from the exploitation of our films.

Motion picture piracy is extensive in many parts of the world, including South America, Asia, the countries of the former Soviet Union and other former Eastern bloc countries. Additionally, as motion pictures begin to be digitally distributed using emerging technologies such as the Internet and online services, piracy could become more prevalent, including in the U.S., because digital formats are easier to copy. As a result, users can download and distribute unauthorized copies of copyrighted motion pictures over the Internet. In addition, there could be increased use of devices capable of making unauthorized copies of motion pictures. As long as pirated content is available to download digitally, many consumers may choose to download such pirated motion pictures rather than pay for motion pictures. Piracy of our films may adversely impact the gross receipts received from the exploitation of these films, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

We face additional risks from doing business internationally.

We distribute our film and television programming outside the United States and Canada through third party licensees and derive revenues from these sources. As a result, our business is subject to certain risks inherent in international business, many of which are beyond our control. In addition to the currency fluctuation risks described above, these additional risks include: changes in local regulatory requirements, including restrictions on content; changes in the laws and policies affecting trade, investment and taxes (including laws and policies relating to the repatriation of funds and to withholding taxes); differing degrees of protection for intellectual property; instability of foreign economies and governments; cultural barriers; and wars and acts of terrorism. Any of these factors could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

Protecting and defending against intellectual property claims may have a material adverse effect on our business.

Our ability to compete depends, in part, upon successful protection of our intellectual property. We do not have the financial resources to protect our rights to the same extent as major studios. We attempt to protect proprietary and intellectual property rights to our productions through available copyright and trademark laws and licensing and distribution arrangements with reputable international companies in specific territories and media for limited durations. Despite these precautions, existing copyright and trademark laws afford only limited practical protection in certain countries. We also distribute our products in other countries in which there is no copyright and trademark protection. As a result, it may be possible for unauthorized third parties to copy and distribute our productions or certain portions or applications of our intended productions, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

Litigation may also be necessary in the future to enforce our intellectual property rights, to protect our trade secrets, or to determine the validity and scope of the proprietary rights of others or to defend against claims of infringement or invalidity. Any such litigation could result in substantial costs and the diversion of resources and could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition. We cannot assure you that infringement or invalidity claims will not materially adversely affect our business, results of operations or financial condition. Regardless of the validity or the success of the assertion of these claims, we could incur significant costs and diversion of resources in enforcing our intellectual property rights or in defending against such claims, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

Because we are a Canadian corporation, it may be difficult to sue us or to enforce a judgment against us

We are a Canadian corporation with our principal place of business in Toronto, Ontario. Substantially all of our directors and executive officers and some of the experts named in this report are not residents of the U.S. and virtually all of the assets of these persons and substantially all of our assets are located outside the U.S. As a result, it may not be possible for you to serve summons and complaints within the U.S. upon these persons or upon us. Similarly, it may not be possible to enforce in U.S. courts, against such persons or against us, judgments of U.S. courts based upon civil liability provisions of the U.S. federal or state securities laws. In addition, it may be difficult in Canadian courts for you, in original suits or in suits for the enforcement of judgments of U.S. courts, to enforce civil liabilities based upon U.S. federal or state securities laws against us or our directors or executive officers, or our experts. We have appointed National Registered Agents, Inc. of Washington, D.C., to act as agent for service of process in any action in any U.S. federal or state court brought against us under the securities laws of the U.S.

ITEM 4.

INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY

HISTORY AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE COMPANY

The Company is an integrated media company that finances, produces, acquires and distributes film and television programming for worldwide markets. The Company's three principal business segments are: Motion Picture, Television and Home Entertainment. Over the past few years, the Company has transformed itself into a streamlined, distribution driven company, while reducing the amount of capital and other resources devoted to production and other related activities.

Peace Arch was incorporated on October 22, 1986, as a British Columbia corporation under the name Vidatron Enterprises Ltd. On July 14, 1999, we changed our name to Peace Arch Entertainment Group Inc.

On February 11, 2004 under the Company Act (British Columbia), by special resolution, the following occurred:

Our Articles of Memorandum were amended such that the share capital was reorganized, eliminating the distinction between Class A Multiple Voting Shares without par value and Class B Subordinate Voting Shares without par value and designating such shares as Common Shares without par value each having one vote. Each class A Multiple Voting Share was exchanged for one new common share and one Class B Subordinate Voting Share was exchanged for one new common share. The reorganization was implemented to simplify the Company's share capital. Our common shares began trading on the TSX and AMEX on March 16, 2004 under the trading symbol PAE.

The Company deleted Article 29 Restrictions on the Issue and Transfer of Shares of its Articles of Memorandum resulting in the authorized share capital being 200,000,000 common shares with no par value as well as 25,000,000 preference shares with no par value.

The Company applied for and was accepted to continue under the Business Corporations Act (Ontario), OBCA. The Company became an Ontario corporation on September 1, 2004. Under the articles of continuance (the Articles) the Company's authorized share capital was changed to an unlimited amount of common shares with no par value and an unlimited amount of preference shares with no par value.

On August 24, 2005 under the Business Corporations Act (Ontario), by special resolution, the following occurred:

The Company altered its Articles by re-designating the Series I Non-Voting Preference Shares as Series I Preference Shares and Series II Non-voting Shares as Series II Preference Shares .

The Company altered its Articles to change the Series I and Series II Preference Shares from non-voting to voting shares on the basis of one vote for each outstanding Series I Preference Share and one vote for each outstanding Series II Preference Share, and to re-designate such shares as series I Voting Preference Shares and Series II Voting Preference Shares.

The Articles were amended to authorize the issuance of an unlimited number of common shares and an unlimited number of Preference Shares issuable in series.

The Articles were amended to designate the Series I Voting Preference Shares and Series II Voting Preference Shares as each of such series of Preference Shares.

The Articles were modified to delete the rights, privileges and conditions attaching to each class of shares as provided in the Articles of Continuance dated September 1, 2004.

The directors were authorized to reduce the Company's stated capital account for the common shares by the amount of up to $29,706,623.

Our registered and principal office's address and phone telephone number are: 124 Merton Street, suite 407, Toronto, Ontario M4S 2Z2, (416) 486-0377. We also operate offices in Vancouver (Canada), Los Angeles (United States) and London (England).

The Company's agent for service in the United States is National Registered Agents Inc., 1090 Vermont Avenue, NW, suite 910, Washington, D.C. 20005.

Neither Peace Arch nor any of its subsidiaries have been subject to any bankruptcy, receivership or any similar proceedings.

There have been no indications of any public takeover offers by third parties in respect to our shares or by us in respect of other companies' shares which have occurred during the last and current financial year.

Recent Developments

On January 23, 2006, the Company acquired 100% of the issues and outstanding shares of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. (kaBOOM), a home entertainment studio in Canada that distributes videocassettes, DVDs and ancillary merchandise to retailers and mass merchandisers in Canada, for a purchase price of approximately $7,983,000. The purchase price was paid by issuance of 1,033,058 common shares of the Company valued at $500,000, 50,000 options of the company valued at $17,000, and future cash consideration of $4,202,000 and direct costs of acquisition of $264,000. To finance the cash portion of the purchase price, the Company arranged a debt facility from a financial institution and for a portion of the cash and the balance was provided by letters of credit from the preference shareholders. kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. was renamed to Peace Arch Home Entertainment Inc. on September 12, 2006.

On June 7, 2006, the Company completed a private placement of 7.5 million common shares for gross proceeds of $9,075,000 (net proceeds of $8,370,000). The proceeds were used to repay a term loan of $3,447,000, to settle letters of credit amounting to $4,202,000 in connection with the kaBOOM acquisition and to provide working capital. An additional 269,000 Common Share Purchase Warrants were issued to Westwind Partners Inc. as partial payment for acting as agent on the Canadian portion of the transaction.

On November 1, 2006, the Company entered into a binding letter agreement with CSC Global Technologies Inc. (CSC). Pursuant to the agreement, a new company will be created, where 51% of the common shares will be owned by the Company and 49% owned by CSC. The agreement will require the Company to provide financing toward the start up of the business venture. The amount of this obligation has not yet been determined.

On December 21, 2006, the Company acquired 100% of the issued and outstanding shares of Castle Hill Productions Inc. and Dream LLC, which holds the rights to a library of films for a purchase price of US$9,000,000. The purchase consideration is US$8,000,000 cash and US$1,000,000 in issuance of Company shares. The total amount of Common Shares issued was 1,120,419 and the fair value per Common Share was US$0.89, determined by the 10 day weighted average prior to closing.

The cash component of the transaction was financed by (i) a corporate facility with Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce for US$2,700,000 secured by the acquisition's accounts receivables; (ii) two increased loan facilities with Imperial Capital Bank totalling US$4,600,000, secured by Peace Arch's accounts receivables; (iii) working capital of the Company in the amount of US$700,000. The acquisition will be accounted for under the purchase method and the results of operations will be included in the consolidated financial statements from the acquisition date in the Company's second quarter results of fiscal 2007.

Reorganization and Settlement of Obligations

Under the terms of a Debt Repayment Agreement with Fremantle Enterprises Ltd. (Fremantle), a former trade creditor who had previously agreed to exchange Fremantle's trade payable balance for a term loan issued a Conversion Right Certificate (the Fremantle conversion instrument). It was agreed that if any amount of the Fremantle debt, including unpaid interest, remained outstanding as of December 31, 2004, Fremantle would, for a period of 90 days, have the right to convert such unpaid amount to common shares in the capital of the Company at the lesser of either (a) $5.00 per share or (b) the average trading close price of the shares for the 30 days prior to December 31, 2004, provided that in no event would the conversion price be less than $3.00 per share. Pursuant to the terms of the Fremantle conversion instrument, 2,527,000 common shares, which represent the number of shares that could be issued for the principal amount of debt of $7,580,000, were reserved for issuance. During the year ending August 31, 2005, Fremantle converted its $8,793,000 note plus interest for 2,931,125 shares of the Company's common shares. During fiscal 2005, the Company recognized a gain on settlement of its obligation of $1,105,000 representing the difference between the carrying amount of the obligation and the fair value of the Company's common shares issued on the conversion date, and a gain on settlement of liability of $1,455,000 representing the extinguishment of the Company's distribution liability to Fremantle.

Pursuant to a Release and Reconstitution Agreement with Comerica Bank (Comerica), the terms of a loan guarantee of US$1,075,000 were restructured to restrict repayment of the loan to the ultimate sales proceeds of certain specific exploitation rights and, subject to priority interests, including repayment to Fremantle, to certain assets. The Company also issued a Conversion Right Certificate (the Comerica conversion instrument) to Comerica wherein it was agreed that if any amount of the loan remained outstanding as of December 31, 2005, Comerica would, for a period of 90 days, have the right to convert such unpaid amount to common shares in the capital of the Company at a deemed price of $5.00 per share. Pursuant to the terms of the Comerica conversion instrument, the Company reserved a sufficient number of shares that could be issued in settlement of the US$1,075,000 obligation. On March 30, 2006 Comerica converted its US$1,075,000 loan for 215,000 common shares in the Company. During fiscal 2006, the Company recognized a loss of $15,000 on the settlement of its obligation which represents the extinguishment of the Company's distribution liability to Comerica. Since the Company had issued a right to receive a variable amount of shares in settlement of their obligations, the Company reflected the amounts as a liability.

Pursuant to the reorganization Peace Arch Project Development Corp. (PAPDC) is owner of substantially all of the pre-existing assets, which consisted principally of accounts and loans receivable, film and television programming rights, and all shares and other securities (including intercompany loans) held by the Company in its subsidiaries existing on the date of the reorganization.

At the same time, PAPDC and its subsidiaries directly or indirectly were assigned substantially all of the pre-existing debts and liabilities of the Company, including the Company's indebtedness to Fremantle and Comerica. However, the Company continued to have a conditional obligation to satisfy any remaining indebtedness to Fremantle and Comerica by issuing a variable number of shares to Fremantle and Comerica under Conversion Rights Certificates (the conversion instruments) issued by the Company to each of them.

During the year ended August 31, 2004, the Company voluntarily issued 3,489,814 common shares to PAPDC in consideration for PAPDC agreeing to assume the obligation to issue the common shares of the Company to Fremantle and Comerica collectively known as the (Lenders) should the Lenders eventually opt to call upon those shares in settlement of the PAPDC obligations. The Company voluntarily issued common shares, in escrow, to PAPDC to settle the Lenders' obligations. Following the issuance of shares in settlement of their obligations there remained 343,689 common shares held in escrow. On September 1, 2006, the Company returned 121,000 of these shares to treasury.

Subsequent to the reorganization, on August 1, 2003, the Company sold all of its shares in PAPDC. The Company determined that PAPDC was a Variable Interest Entity under the rules governing Accounting Guideline-15 (see discussion on Variable Interest Entities on page 31).

On May 26, 2005, the Company re-acquired 100% of PAPDC shares for a nominal amount, which had no effect on the carrying amount of any assets or liabilities.

Pursuant to the original arrangements with PAPDC, the Company was obligated to carry out management services for PAPDC. This obligation continued until June 25, 2004. During the year ended August 31, 2006, the Company recovered costs against the payable to Fremantle of $nil and $145,000 and $427,000 for the years ended August 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

BUSINESS OVERVIEW

GENERAL

Peace Arch is an integrated media company that finances, produces, acquires and distributes high quality film and television programming for worldwide markets.

The Company earns revenues primarily from two sources: the distribution of newly acquired product and productions, and the distribution of its library. Once a production is completed and delivered, the program is then included in the Company's library of film and television programs along with acquired programming. Through its internal sales operations, the Company licenses that programming to theatrical distributors, television broadcasters, cable companies, satellite services and home entertainment distributors around the world.

The Company has a track record of delivering critically acclaimed productions to both film and television distributors. In 2006, the Company's film Delirious was awarded three prizes in the elite competition section of the 54th San Sebastian International Film Festival. In 2005, the Company's television motion picture, Our Fathers, was nominated for two Emmy awards, and the Directors Guild of Canada nominated the Company's feature, The Good Shepherd, for two awards. In addition, the Company won six Leo Awards for programming excellence for its projects Love it or Lose it! and Prisoners of Age. The success of these projects enhances the demand for Peace Arch's existing and future productions and increases the Company's visibility, enhancing the long-term marketability and value of its library of film and television programming both domestically and internationally.

The Company operates in five locations, two in Toronto and one each in Vancouver, Los Angeles and London, England. Peace Arch manages its business in three operating segments: Motion Picture, Television, and Home Entertainment.

Motion Picture

The Company produces or acquires a large number of lower budget feature films intended for DVD or television premieres and a smaller number of medium budget films intended for worldwide theatrical release. The Motion Picture segment derives its revenues by licensing distribution rights to these productions to sub-distributors in various territories and media throughout the world.

During fiscal 2006, the Company delivered 10 feature films and had 9 other features in production at year-end. The films delivered during fiscal 2006 were: The Veteran, Heartstoppers, Warriors of Terra, Five Girls, The Last Sect, UKM: Ultimate Killing Machine, Troubled Waters, Living Death, Dead Mary and Delirious. The films acquired or in production at the end of fiscal 2006 were: Chapter 27, Watching the Detectives, Guantanamo, In Transit, The Mad, Bottom Feeder, Harm's Way, Stillborn and Never Forget.

Television

The Company's Television segment derives revenues by licensing television films, documentaries and other programming produced or acquired by the Company to broadcasters, cable and satellite television providers and home entertainment distributors domestically and abroad. In fiscal 2006, the Company expanded its television division beyond its traditional lifestyle and documentary niche to include made-for-television movies and mini-series. During fiscal 2006, the Company delivered 10 episodes of lifestyle programming, 2 documentaries and 1 made-for-television movie. At year-end, the Company had 1 mini-series, 2 television series and 3 made-for-television movies in production. The television episodes delivered were for the series Love it or Lose It! (Series II), Makeover Wish, and Uber Guide, the documentaries delivered were Fantasy Lands Asia, and Fantasy Lands 2006, and the made-for-television movie delivered during the year was The Stranger Game. The movies for television acquired or in production at fiscal year end were Luna: The Way Home, Passions Web and Nightmare. The mini-series in production is The Tudors. The two television series in production were Air Dogs and Last 10 Pounds.

Home Entertainment

During fiscal 2006, the Company acquired 100% of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. (kaBOOM!), one of Canada's leading independent home entertainment studios. kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. was renamed Peace Arch Home Entertainment Inc. and continues to conduct business under the kaBOOM! label for its children's products and under the Peace Arch Entertainment for all others products. This strategic acquisition emphasizes the Company's focus on building its distribution business.

The Company's Home Entertainment segment derives its revenues from the distribution of DVDs and ancillary merchandise to wholesalers and retailers in Canada. It provides a full range of services relating to the licensing, marketing sales and distribution of its products. It distributes sell-through and rental films across a wide variety of genres, such as children's and family, special interest and live action feature films.

In collaboration with its content partner Nelvana, during fiscal 2006 the Home Entertainment segment developed two unique branded product lines Treehouse Presents, and Teletoon Presents. Peace Arch Home Entertainment has relationships with content providers such as Lionsgate (Maple Pictures), THINKFilm, Sesame Workshop, DIC Entertainment, Sony BMG, EMI Music, and more.

Existing Library

Since 2003, Peace Arch has built a library of 28 feature films, 60+ television episodes and 6 documentaries and with the acquisition of Dream LLC and Castle Hill Productions Inc., the Company acquired a library of approximately 500 feature films. Prior to 2003, the Company had an additional 200+ hours of filmed entertainment.

REVENUE STREAMS

The Company reports its results of operations in three reportable segments, Motion Picture, Television, and Home Entertainment representing its principal business activities. The Motion Picture segment focuses its activities on the acquisition and worldwide exploitation of motion picture content; and has recently produced two full length feature films Delirious and Chapter 27 . The Television segment focuses its activities on the acquisition, production and worldwide exploitation of television content. The Home Entertainment segment focuses its activities on marketing and licensing videos, DVDs and ancillary merchandise to most of the major retail outlets in Canada.

The table below shows the breakdown of revenues by segments during our past three fiscal years:

	Year Ended August 31,
	2006	2005	2004
	(Canadian dollars in millions)
Revenues by Segment
Motion Picture	9.4	9.2	18.3
Television	2.3	1.5	2.9
Home Entertainment	9.6	-	-
Total Revenues	21.3	10.7	21.2

Over the past three years, an average of approximately 36% of Peace Arch's revenue was generated outside of North America. We expect that recent additions to Peace Arch's sales force will generate revenue growth in all geographical markets. The revenues generated in Europe and other markets increased in 2006 due to having a larger supply of programming available to European buyers than in fiscal 2005. The increase in Canadian revenues in fiscal 2006 was due primarily to the addition of seven months of revenues from the newly acquired Home Entertainment business segment of the Company.

The table below shows the breakdown of total revenues by geographic market during our past three fiscal years:

	Year Ended August 31,
	2006	2005	2004
	(Canadian dollars in millions)
Revenues by Geographic Market
Canada	11.9	3.9	3.4
U.S.	3.4	4.9	6.5
Europe and other markets	6.0	1.9	11.3
Total Revenues	21.3	10.7	21.2

SEASONALITY

Results of operations for any period are dependent on the number, timing and commercial success of motion pictures and television programs delivered or made available to various media, none of which can be predicted with certainty. Home Entertainment results of operations are impacted by strong sales in the Christmas season during the first two quarters of the fiscal year. Consequently, results of operations may fluctuate materially from period to period and the results of any one period are not necessarily indicative of results for future periods. Cash flows may also fluctuate and are not necessarily closely correlated with revenue recognition.

MARKETING AND DISTRIBUTION CHANNELS

Early in 2003, Peace Arch established an international marketing and sales division in London, England, through which the Company now manages licensing of the Company's motion pictures. The Company also markets and distributes titles directly to existing pay and free television, home video and other markets. Peace Arch's international distribution capability enables it to enhance revenue and margins through:

(i) controlling the exploitation of its own and third party programming in order to optimize the revenue potential of productions and its library; and improving its understanding of the market and thereby enhancing its ability to package commercially successful productions.

Strategically, the Company has been growing its in-house sales division, since the trend expected from this strategy is increased international sales. The costs of such a strategy are direct costs of maintaining a sales operation and the costs of marketing and distributing the films Peace Arch sells. The Company believes that representing its own product assures meaningful control over the exploitation of acquired or produced.

During 2006, the Company hired a Vice President of Public Relations. Together with the President of the Company, the Vice President of Public Relations and an investor relations firm, based in Los Angeles, are working on exposing the Company to the business and entertainment trade press to have the Peace Arch name become more mainstream.

Relationships with Licensors and Licensees Peace Arch believes that relationships with domestic and international broadcasters, distributors, financing sources and creative talent are important to the successful expansion of the proprietary motion picture and television business. The Company has produced programming in association with a variety of U.S. and international broadcasters and distributors including, Buena Vista Television, Genius Products, Inc., Lions Gate Entertainment, NuImage, Showtime Networks and Sony. Peace Arch has long-standing relationships with the Canadian broadcast community, including Motion Picture Distribution LP, CTV, CBC, Knowledge Network and The Family Channel. Motion Picture Distribution LP has acquired distribution rights to many Peace Arch feature films for all media in Canada, the United Kingdom, and Spain. Peace Arch continues to establish relationships with key licensees (Showtime, Motion Picture Distribution LP, Genius Products, Inc., Sony, Corus, Movie Central, RHI Entertainment and CBC) and leading retailers worldwide to promote Peace Arch distribution rights.

U.S. and International Broadcasters and Distributors We have produced our programming in association with a variety of U.S. and international broadcasters and distributors including Buena Vista Television, Genius Products, Inc., Lions Gate Entertainment, Showtime Networks, Sony and Motion Picture Distribution LP (MPDLP). MPDLP has licensed rights to all of the Company's current motion pictures in Canada.

Canadian Domestic Broadcasters We have a long-standing relationship with the Canadian broadcast community, including MPDLP, CTV, CBC, Life Network Inc., Knowledge Network and The Family Channel to whom we provide programming.

Distribution Vehicles Distribution involves the promotion and exploitation of motion pictures in a variety of distribution platforms, including theatrical exhibition, home entertainment, television and ancillary markets. The first major distribution platform is theatrical exhibition. Revenues are derived from renting films to cinemas and sharing in box office receipts. The second major distribution platform for motion picture is home entertainment. Revenues in this distribution platform are derived from consumers renting a DVD for a specific period of time (rental revenue) or purchasing a DVD for home use (sell-through revenue). Home entertainment typically represents the single largest source of revenue for a motion picture distributor.

Distribution to ancillary markets involves granting licenses in non-traditional markets such as to airlines, schools, libraries, hospitals, childcare centers, military installations and other governmental institutions. These customers (other than airlines) tend to pay annual fees for access to the entire catalogue of motion pictures of a distributor.

After a motion picture's initial theatrical exhibition, distribution to ancillary markets and home entertainment release, motion picture distributors generate revenues from television distribution. This platform includes video-on-demand and pay per-view, cable television, and free television.

COMPETITION

Feature film production and distribution and home entertainment is a highly competitive business. The most important competitive factors include popular appeal, artistic excellence and cost effectiveness. The Company faces intense competition from other Canadian and international producers and distributors, many of whom are substantially larger and have greater financial resources than the Company.

DVD distribution continues to be a highly competitive sector as there is competition from the major film studios and independents. However there are significant barriers to entry as the systems and technology requirements required to service the major national retailers are substantial.

The Company also competes with other television and production companies for ideas and story lines created by third parties as well as for actors, directors and other personnel required for production.

The major U.S.-based motion picture studios are the Company's main competitors in Canada. All other Canadian motion picture distributors in the aggregate have historically represented less than a 10% share of theatrical box office receipts. In the United Kingdom and Spain, where the Company's market share is smaller, its main competitors also include several locally-based independent distributors in addition to the U.S.-based studios.

REGULATION

The Company's status as a producer of Canadian programming, operating in Ontario and other provinces, enables us to receive Canadian tax and business incentives. The Company will continue to qualify for these tax and business incentives if, among other things, Canadians beneficially own or control a majority of the voting rights of Peace Arch.

Canadian Content Requirements Canadian conventional, specialty, pay and pay-per-view television services are required to devote a certain amount of their programming schedules, including prime time, to Canadian productions. Compliance with these requirements is enforced by the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission ("CRTC"). These requirements provide support to the market for Canadian programming, such as those we produce, as long as they qualify as Canadian programming for CRTC purposes.

According to the Canadian Audio and Visual Certification Office (CAVCO) and CRTC regulations, a program will qualify if it is produced by an individual Canadian producer with the involvement of individual Canadians in key creative functions, and where a substantial portion of the remuneration paid to individuals is for services provided by Canadians and processing and final preparation costs are for services provided in Canada. In addition, the Company must qualify as a Canadian production company defined as a Canadian company which carries on business in Canada with a Canadian business address, which is owned or controlled by Canadians and whose principal business is the production of film, videotape or live programming for distribution on television or in theatrical, industrial or educational markets

International Co-Production Canada is a party to co-production treaties with more than 50 countries throughout the world, excluding the U.S. Canada's co-production treaties allow for the reduction of the risks of production by permitting the pooling of creative, technical and financial resources of Canadian producers with non-Canadian producers under prescribed conditions. A production that qualifies as a co-production for treaty purposes is considered to be a national product in each of the participating countries and, as such, is entitled to many local advantages in each country. More specifically, the co-production usually satisfies criteria for national certification in regard to content broadcasting regulations, government subsidies and tax benefits.

Industry Incentives

Refundable Income Tax Credit - Federal Film and television productions undertaken by qualified Canadian corporations are eligible for a refundable tax credit under the Canadian Income Tax Act. The tax credit equates to 25% of the lesser of qualified labour expenditures and 50% of eligible costs of production of a given project. The credit is calculated on the basis of each individual production and is available to taxable Canadian corporations whose activities are primarily Canadian film or video production carried on through a permanent establishment in Canada which is Canadian-controlled as determined under the Investment Canada Act. In fiscal 2006 and 2005, the Company was eligible for federal refundable income tax credits amounting to $235,000 and $389,000, respectively.

Refundable Income Tax Credit - Province of British Columbia Under the terms of the current film and television provincial tax credit system under the Income Tax Act (British Columbia), the Province of British Columbia offers refundable tax credit incentives for British Columbia film productions. The incentives as at August 31, 2006 are as follows:

Basic incentives equal to 30% of qualified British Columbia labor expenditures;

A regional incentive equal to 12.5% of qualified British Columbia labor expenditures for productions where principal photography occurs outside of the Greater Vancouver area in British Columbia; and

A training incentive equal to the lesser of 3% of British Columbia labor expenditures or 30% of qualified labor expenditures attributable to payments to eligible industry trainees.

Eligible labor expenditures are limited to 48% of the total production costs, net of government assistance. The credit is calculated on the basis of each individual production and is available only to a qualified corporation having a permanent establishment in British Columbia and carrying on an eligible film or television production business through a permanent establishment in Canada. In fiscal 2006 and 2005, the Company was eligible for refundable income tax credits under the British Columbia program amounting to $274,000 and $408,000, respectively.

Refundable Income Tax Credit Province of Ontario Under the terms of the current film and television provincial tax credit system under the Income Tax Act (Ontario), the Province of Ontario offers refundable tax credit incentives for Ontario film productions. The incentives as at August 31, 2006 are as follows:

30% of qualified Ontario labor expenditures.

A regional incentive equal to 10% of qualified Ontario labor expenditures for productions where principal photography occurs outside of the Greater Toronto area in Ontario.

Eligible labor expenditures are limited to 60% of the total production costs, net of government assistance. The credit is calculated on the basis of each individual production and is available only to a qualified corporation having a permanent establishment in Ontario and carrying on an eligible film or television production business through a permanent establishment in Canada. In order to access the basic credit, persons domiciled in Ontario must also control the corporation. In addition, in order to access the basic credit, the producer of the eligible production must be an Ontario resident for tax purposes. In fiscal 2006 and 2005, the Company was eligible for refundable income tax credits under the Ontario program amounting to $nil and $309,000, respectively.

Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC) The PSTC is a mechanism designed to encourage the employment of Canadians, by a taxable Canadian or a foreign-owned corporation with a permanent establishment in Canada, the activities of which are primarily film or video production or production services. The PSTC is a tax credit equal to 16% of salary and wages paid to Canadian residents or taxable Canadian corporations. This refundable tax credit has no cap on the amount which can be claimed and is available to taxable Canadian corporations or foreign-owned corporations with permanent establishments in Canada.

Canadian Television Fund (CTF) The Canadian Television Fund was created in 1996 to support the production and broadcast of high quality, distinctively Canadian television programs. The CTF is a public-private partnership, financed by contributions from the Government of Canada, the Canadian cable and direct to home satellite industries and Telefilm Canada.

Other Incentives The Company has also utilized production financing from other government sources including British Columbia Film, The Independent Production Fund and CanWest Independent Producers Fund. There are government incentives in the other provinces, available for our use that the Company may access in the future.

Copyright Ownership

One of the Company's strategies is to maintain ownership (or co-ownership, in the case of treaty co-productions) of the copyright to all of our films and programming in order to exert greater control over the exploitation of those films and to build significant future asset value. While a substantial portion of our projects' ultimate revenues are generated in their initial distribution cycle, commercially successful motion pictures may continue to generate revenues after the project's initial distribution cycle from the re-licensing of distribution rights in certain media and from the licensing of distribution rights to new media and technologies. As the owner or co-owner of the copyright for the projects we produce, we are able to exploit those films in any medium in perpetuity. In addition, we may profit from revenue streams that can be derived from the exploitation of ancillary and derivative rights from these motion pictures, including sequels, remakes, television series, Internet-based content, merchandising, interactive games, book and music publishing and soundtracks and as-yet undeveloped media.

Intellectual Property

The Company has the trademarks "Peace Arch Entertainment" registered in Canada, the United States and the European Union. As well, the name "Peace Arch Entertainment Group Inc." and the relevant logo design are registered in Canada and the United States.

There are no environmental issues related to the above mentioned properties.

ITEM 5.

OPERATING AND FINANCIAL REVIEW AND PROSPECTS

The Company is committed to expanding the way it delivers content to viewers by building its distribution business and focusing on the strength of its brands. Ownership of distribution rights in film and television programming provides a source of both current and future cashflows. Through growth and exploitation of a library of film and television distribution rights, the Company will realize the benefit of future revenue streams providing a source of long term cash flow and value to the Company.

The Company has begun to formalize key international distribution relationships which can reliably support the financing and exploitation of its products. While maintaining a conservative production financing strategy based on single-production, non-recourse bank loans supported in large part by presales of distribution rights and tax credits, the Company is also working to enhance its ability to support financing of projects through exclusive funding agreements with third party interim and equity financiers. The Company will focus on building and maintaining liquidity and capital resources to fund strategic acquisitions to support its growth.

On January 23, 2006, the Company acquired 100% of the issued and outstanding shares of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. (kaBOOM!), a home entertainment studio in Canada that distributes videocassettes, DVDs and ancillary merchandise to retailers and mass merchandisers in Canada. The cost of the purchase was $7,983,000 consisting of 1,033,058 common shares of the Company valued at $500,000, 50,000 options of the Company valued at $17,000, cash consideration of $3,000,000 paid at the time of closing, future cash consideration of $4,202,000 and direct costs of acquisition of $264,000.

On June 7, 2006, the Company completed a private placement of 7.5 million common shares for gross proceeds of $9,075,000. The proceeds were used to repay a term loan of $3,447,000, to settle letters of credit amounting to $4,202,000 in connection with the kaBOOM acquisition and to provide working capital.

Subsequent to the year ended August 31, 2006 the following significant transactions occurred:

On November 1, 2006, the Company entered into a binding letter agreement with CSC Global Technologies Inc. (CSC). Pursuant to the agreement, a new company will be created, whereby 51% of the common shares will be owned by the Company and 49% owned by CSC. The agreement will require the Company to provide financing toward the start up of the business venture. The amount of this obligation has not yet been determined.

On December 21, 2006, the Company acquired 100% of the issued and outstanding shares of Castle Hill Productions Inc. and Dream LLC, which holds the rights to a library of films for a purchase price of US$9,000,000. The purchase consideration is US$8,000,000 cash and US$1,000,000 in issuance of Company shares. The total amount of common shares issued was 1,120,419 and the fair value per common share was US$0.89, determined by calculating the 10 day weighted average prior to closing.

- On December 21, 2006, the Company negotiated a settlement of an outstanding legal dispute with Viacom Inc., MTV Networks, and VH1 Music First et al. Viacom agreed to pay US$1.0 million as settlement to the Company's claim for damages in the original amount of US$2.7 million and consequential damages arising from the failure to honor a contract for the co-financing of the television series Big Sound. In addition, the Company entered into a distribution agreement with Viacom for the sale of certain U.S. broadcast rights for the television series Big Sound.

The following discussion should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this annual report.

ACCOUNTING CHANGES AND RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

Impact of new accounting pronouncements

In September 2006, the CICA released new Handbook Section 1506, Accounting Changes (Section 1506), effective for annual and interim periods beginning on or after January 1, 2007. This section replaces the former section 1506 which establishes criteria for changing accounting policies, together with the accounting treatment and disclosure of changes in accounting policies and estimates, and correction of errors. The Company has determined that Section 1506 will not have any impact to the consolidated results of operations or financial position.

In September 2006, the Emerging Issues Committee issued EIC-163 Determining the Variability to be Considered in Applying AcG-15, effective for the first interim or annual reporting period beginning on or after January 1, 2007. EIC-163 defines that the variability to be considered in applying AcG-15 is to be based on analysis of the design of the entity and prescribes the steps to be undertaken in such an analysis. The Company has not yet determined the impact of adopting EIC-163 on its consolidated results of operations or financial position.

Critical accounting estimates

The Company's significant accounting policies are described in note 2 to the consolidated financial statements. The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with Canadian GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect its reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and the related disclosure of contingencies. The Company bases its estimates on historical experience and on third party information that it believes is reasonable in the circumstances. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The Company's most significant use of estimates and assumptions in preparing the consolidated financial statements relate to future revenue projections used for the purposes of amortizing investment in film and television programming, provision for doubtful accounts to reflect credit exposures, recoverability of tax credits returns and rebates, valuation allowances and impairment assessments for various assets including investment in film and television programming and productions in progress.

Variable Interest Entities Effective December 1, 2004, the Company adopted Accounting Guideline 15 (AcG-15) - Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities issued by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants 9 (CICA). AcG-15 provides criteria for the identification of VIEs and further criteria for determining what entity, if any, should consolidate them. AcG 15 defines a VIE as an entity that either does not have sufficient equity at risk to finance its activities without subordinated financial support or wherein the equity investors lack the characteristic of a controlling financial interest. VIEs are subject to consolidation by a company if that company is deemed the primary beneficiary of the VIE. The primary beneficiary is the party that is either exposed to a majority of the expected losses from the VIE s activities or is entitled to receive a majority of the VIEs residual returns or both.

The Company acquires from independent production entities various distribution rights to film properties either outright or by providing a non-refundable minimum guarantee against future revenues to be generated from its distribution activities. The Company has determined that these independent production entities are VIEs since they lack sufficient equity financing to support their business activities. The Company's interest in a particular film, as represented by its non refundable minimum guarantees, is variable due to its participation in future distribution revenues of the production entity and can be significant. The Company's maximum exposure to loss for any particular film is represented by its non-refundable minimum guarantee and is reflected in the financial statements as investment in film and television programming. In evaluating its arrangements with the independent production entities for the acquisition of its distribution rights and all other arrangements with variable interest entities which have been identified, the Company has determined that it is exposed to greater than 50% of the expected losses or a majority of the expected returns in arrangements with two independent productions and therefore is considered the primary beneficiary of these entities. As a result, the Company has consolidated the assets, liabilities and operating results of PA Heartstopper Films Inc. and PA Warterra Films Inc. The Company has determined that its rights to the remaining acquired film properties do not expose the Company to the majority of the expected losses or a majority of the expected returns of the VIEs. The aggregate of the Company's maximum exposure to loss as represented by the aggregate of the non-refundable minimum guarantees to the production entities is $12,118,000.

Film Investments The Company records amortization of investment in film and television programming based upon the ratio that current revenues bear to estimated remaining unrecognized ultimate revenue as of the beginning of the current fiscal year. Investment in film and television programming is recorded at the lower of remaining unamortized film costs and fair value and productions in progress are recorded at the lower of cost and estimated fair value.

Estimates of future film and television programming revenue and fair value are affected by changes in general economic or industry conditions and market preferences. These factors are primarily outside of the Company's control. Management's estimates of future cash flows are based on its best estimates of future economic conditions as they impact the Company. These estimates are reviewed periodically in accordance with company policy. Significant decreases in future estimates of revenue may result in accelerating amortization of film and television production costs or require unamortized costs and productions in progress being written down to fair value, based upon estimated future discounted net cash flows from the related feature film productions or series.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets Goodwill and intangible assets are tested for impairment at least annually. The impairment test follows a two-step approach. The first step determines if the goodwill is potentially impaired, and the second step measures the amount of the impairment loss, if necessary. Under the first step, goodwill is considered potentially impaired if the value of the reporting unit is less than the reporting unit's carrying amount, including goodwill. Under the second step, the impairment loss is then measured as the excess of recorded goodwill over the fair value of the goodwill, as calculated. The fair value of goodwill is calculated by allocating the fair value of the reporting unit to all the assets and liabilities of the reporting unit as if the reporting unit was purchased in a business combination and the purchase price was the fair value of the reporting unit.

The fair value of the Company's intangible assets is exposed to future adverse changes if the Company experiences declines in operating results, or if future performance is below historical trends.

Income Taxes Future income taxes are provided for using the asset and liability method. Under the asset and liability method, future tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Future tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted tax rates expected to apply when the asset is realized or the liability settled. The effect on future tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that substantive enactment occurs. To the extent that the Company does not consider it to be more likely than not that a future tax asset will be realized, it provides a valuation allowance against the excess.

The recognition of future tax assets depends on management's assumption that future earnings will be sufficient to realize the future benefit. No assurance can be given that future earnings will be sufficient to realize the future benefit.

Comparison of Canadian and US GAAP Note 32 to the Consolidated Financial Statements sets forth differences between Canadian GAAP and U.S. GAAP. In addition to the U.S. GAAP issues taken into account in the preparation of Note 32, there have been accounting standards issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (the FASB) or other bodies in the U.S. that may become applicable to our reported results, but have not yet been adopted because such standards are not effective for the periods presented.

A.

OPERATING RESULTS

Key Performance Indicators

The Company measures the success of its strategies using a number of key performance indicators. These have been outlined below, including a discussion as to their relevance, definitions, calculation methods and underlying assumptions.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to the results reported in accordance with Canadian GAAP, the Company uses various non-GAAP financial measures, which are not recognized under Canadian or U.S. GAAP as supplemental indicators of our operating performance and financial position. These non-GAAP financial measures are provided to enhance the user's understanding of our historical and current financial performance and our prospects for the future. Management believes that these measures provide useful information in that they exclude amounts that are not indicative of our core operating results and ongoing operations and provide a more consistent basis for comparison between years.

While many in the financial community consider these non-GAAP financial measures to be important measures of operating performance, they should be considered in addition to, but not as a substitute for, net earnings (loss) for the year, cash flow and other measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with Canadian GAAP which are presented in the consolidated financial statements in Item 18. In addition, these and related measures do not have any standardized meaning prescribed by Canadian GAAP and, therefore, are unlikely to be comparable with the calculation of similar measures used by other companies. Earnings from operations before the undernoted have been reconciled to their related Canadian GAAP measure on page 25.

Revenue Revenue is a measurement defined by Canadian and U.S. GAAP. Revenue is the inflow of cash, receivables or other consideration arising from the sale of product and services and is net of items such as trade or volume discounts and certain excise and sales taxes. Peace Arch's revenue streams for the years ended August 31, 2006 and 2005 were derived primarily from its three business segments: Motion Picture 44% and 86%, Television 11% and 14% and Home Entertainment 45% and 0%, respectively.

Amortization of investment in film and television programming, other production and home entertainment direct costs Amortization of investment in film and television programming, production and home entertainment direct costs represents the amortization of the capitalized costs associated with internally produced and acquired film and television programming, from which distribution and licensing revenues are derived. Other production costs include amounts due to third party participants with interests in the performance of the production. Home entertainment direct costs consists primarily of duplication, distribution and marketing expenses of video and DVD as well as royalty expenses.

Selling, general and administrative expenses Selling, general and administrative expenses include period costs that are not directly attributable to the film and television program or home entertainment product. These include such costs as employee remuneration, professional fees, regulatory license fees, occupancy costs and overhead costs. Stock based compensation and warrant costs include the expenses associated with stock options granted to employees during the year, as well as the costs related to warrant issues. The Company categorizes these expenses as salary, general and administrative expenses.

Earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted Loss from operations before the undernoted is defined as revenue less expenses.

The following table presents summary financial information for Peace Arch's operating business segments and a reconciliation of earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted to net earnings (loss) for the year for each of the listed years ended August 31:

Home Entertainment represents seven months from January 23, 2006.

Earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted as defined in Key performance indicators .

Motion Picture, Television and Home Entertainment Expense % and Earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted % are calculated based on segment specific Revenues.

FISCAL 2006 COMPARED TO FISCAL 2005

Revenues for fiscal 2006 were $21.3 million, up 98% from $10.7 million last year. Motion Picture and Television experienced increases of 2% and 46%, respectively. Home Entertainment revenues in 2006 represent seven months of revenues from the purchase, in the second quarter, of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc.

Operating expenses, defined as amortization of investment in film and television programming and other production costs, home entertainment direct costs, selling, general and administration and other amortization, of $24.4 million were up 94% from $12.6 million in the prior year. The increase is consistent with the revenue growth, and includes seven months of Home Entertainment costs from the purchase of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc.

Earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted was $(3.1) million compared to $(1.9) million last year. Earnings (loss) from operations excludes interest and other gains or losses not attributable to operations. The Television segment reported earnings of $648,000, an increase of 8.2% from prior year. The Home Entertainment segment achieved earnings of $876,000 for the seven months reported, and the Motion Picture segment incurred a loss of $(1.2) million, after incurring a loss of $(878,000) the prior year.

Motion Picture

Motion Picture revenues for the year were $9.4 million, up 2.2% from prior year. The Company's current strategy to expand its distribution channel with a variety of new programming is consistent with the Company's focus on distribution.

Operating expenses for the year were $10.6 million, up 5.2% from last year, primarily driven by enhanced marketing and sales activities.

Segment loss was $(1.2) million for the year, 37.2% higher than the loss of $(878,000) reported in the prior year due to increased sales infrastructure and marketing cost related to the increased number of feature films delivered. The Company increased the sales infrastructure to accommodate the growing number of titles to be acquired or delivered.

Television

Television revenues for the year were $2.3 million, up 46.4% over last year. This increase is due to higher sales from the television library and the recognition of a television movie entitled "The Stranger Game" in fiscal 2006 compared to fiscal 2005.

Operating expenses for the year were $1.6 million, an increase of 70.6% from prior year, consistent with the increase in revenues.

Segment earnings were $648,000 for the year, 8.2% higher than last year. The Company plans to expand the television division by acquiring and producing more projects. The Company is currently in production of a 10 hour dramatic mini-series focusing on the tumultuous years of King Henry VIII's nearly 40 year reign of England.

Home Entertainment

Home Entertainment revenues of $9.6 million in fiscal 2006 represent seven months of revenues recognized from the acquisition kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. in the second quarter of 2006.

Operating expenses for the year were $8.7 million, representing seven months of DVD duplication, other direct costs and overhead costs associated with home entertainment revenues.

Segment earnings were $876,000 for the year. The Company acquired kaBOOM in January 2006 as part of the Company's strategy to diversify operations by selling directly to video and DVD retailers.

Corporate

The Corporate results represent the incremental cost of corporate overhead in excess of the amount allocated to the other operating divisions. Corporate overhead in fiscal 2006 was $3.5 million, up from $1.5 million in 2005. The increase is a result of additional support required for organic growth and the acquisition of kaBOOM!. Stock-based compensation and warrant costs increased to $1.4 million in fiscal 2006 from $257,000 last year. This increase reflects the Company's higher expense for the costs related to warrant issues and stock options granted to employees during the year.

Interest Income

Interest income increased to $1.1 million for the year, compared to $818,000 in the prior year. The largest component is interest revenue earned on a restricted term deposit (the Restricted Term Deposit) of $991,000 compared to $811,000 in the prior year. The Restricted Term Deposit is restricted for use as security for a revenue guarantee obligation, and cannot be used for any other purpose. This interest revenue was offset by interest expense of the same amount recorded in respect of the Film Financing Obligation.

Interest Expense

Interest expense for the year was $2.9 million up from $953,000 last year due to the increase in production loans from $16 million to $29.8 million and interest on the bank credit facility and interest expense on the Film Financing Obligation discussed above.

In fiscal 2006, $1.1 million of interest on indebtedness relating to production of film and television programming was capitalized. In fiscal 2005, $0.7 million of interest on indebtedness relating to production of film and television programming was capitalized. Interest component may vary each year depending on the dollar value of production during the year and the timing of production commencement and delivery during the year.

Income Tax Recovery

Intangible assets and goodwill that arose in the kaBOOM! acquisition resulted in a future income tax liability represented by the tax effect of the temporary timing differences between the tax and accounting treatment related to the amortization of intangible assets and goodwill. Amortization of the intangible assets during the year resulted in a partial reversal of the temporary timing differences and an income tax recovery of $108,000.

FISCAL 2005 COMPARED TO FISCAL 2004

Revenues for fiscal 2005 were $10.7 million, down 49.5% from the prior year. Both Motion Picture and Television revenues decreased reflecting the lower number of projects produced as well as lower sales from the television library.

Operating expenses defined as amortization of investment in film and television programming and other production costs, home entertainment direct costs, selling, general and administration and other amortization, of $12.6 million were down 43.2% from $22.1 million in the prior year. The decrease in expenses is consistent with the decrease in revenues year over year.

Earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted was $(1.9) million compared to $(925,000) in 2004. Earnings (loss) from operations excludes interest and other gains or losses not attributable to operations. The Television segment reported earnings of $599,000, a decrease of 52.5% from prior year. Motion Picture segment incurred a loss of $(878,000) after incurring a loss of $(1.7) million the prior year.

Motion Picture

Motion Picture revenues for the year were $9.2 million, down 49.7% from prior year. The decrease in revenues reflects the lower number of projects produced by Peace Arch and is consistent with the Company's strategy to prioritize the distribution arm of the business. This resulted in lower presale revenues at the time a project is completed and delivered.

Operating expenses for the year were $10.0 million, down 49.7% from last year, consistent with the decrease in revenues of 50%.

Segment loss from operations before the undernoted was $(878,000) for the year, 46.9% lower than the loss of $(1.7) million reported in the prior year.

Television

Television revenues for the year were $1.5 million, down 48.3% from 2004. The decrease is due to lower sales from the television library in fiscal 2005 compared to fiscal 2004.

Operating expenses for the year were $948,000, a decrease of 42.4% from prior year, consistent with the decrease in revenues of 46.8%.

Segment earnings (loss) from operations before the undernoted were $599,000 for the year, 52.5% lower than 2004.

Corporate

Corporate overhead in fiscal 2005 was $1.6 million, up from $534,000 in 2004. The increase was driven by the inclusion of a full year of operations of the Los Angeles office for fiscal 2005, and lower recovery of selling, general and administrative costs. Included in 2005 was $257,000 of costs associated with the stock options granted to employees, none were granted in 2004.

Interest Income

Interest income of $818,000 for the year compared to $39,000 in the prior year. Increase in interest income is due to interest revenue earned on the Restricted Term Deposit.

Interest Expense

Interest expense for the year was $953,000 up from $220,000 in 2004 due to an interest expense recorded on the Film Financing Obligation. The interest expense was offset by interest revenue of the same amount recorded with respect to the Restricted Term Deposit.

Income Tax Recovery

At August 31, 2005, the Company had accumulated losses for tax purposes of $6.5 million which are available for carry forward to future years. The benefits of the tax loss carry-forwards have not been reflected in the financial statements.

During the year ended August 31, 2004, the Company recorded a reversal of future income taxes valuation of $989,500. These future income taxes arose from the forgiveness of production loans in the amount of $2.7 million from a related party. The loan forgiveness has been recorded as contributed surplus net of the income tax impact of $989,500.

B.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The nature of the business is such that significant expenditures are required to produce, acquire and promote television programs and motion pictures in advance of revenue generation from these programs and motion pictures, which is earned over an extended period of time after their completion or acquisition. The Company has historically financed its capital requirements through various bank and other financial institution loans, vendor financing arrangements, loans from related parties as well as through the issuance of shares and warrants.

While these consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the going concern basis, which assumes the realization of assets and the settlement of liabilities in the normal course of operations, there are conditions that cast substantial doubt on the validity of this assumption. The Company has undergone substantial growth in corporate, sales infrastructure and through acquisitions and requires additional financing until it can generate positive cash flows from operations. While the Company continues to maintain its day-to-day activities and produce and distribute films and television programming, its working capital situation is severely constrained. Furthermore, the Company operates in an industry that has long operating cycles which require cash injections into new projects significantly ahead of the delivery and exploitation of the final production.

During the year, the Company completed a private placement with net proceeds of $8.4 million, secured new sources of financing for the cost of acquisitions and productions carrying lower rates of interest and received funds from the exercise of Preferred Share warrants. The Company is currently working on various financing initiatives; however, there is no assurance that the Company will be successful in its financing efforts and in achieving sufficient cash flows from operations. If the Company is unsuccessful, the Company may be required to significantly reduce or limit operations. The application of the going concern basis is dependent upon the Company obtaining additional financing in the short term and achieving sufficient cash flows from operations to fund continuing operations and meet its obligations as they come due.

The Company's success is predicated on its ability to finance growth. Adequate financing provides the flexibility to make appropriate investments in the future. The Company monitors cash flow with the long-term goal of maintaining credit worthiness. The Company attempts to ensure that new film and television programming are fully financed from distribution minimum guarantees, presales of certain rights, tax credits and bank financing, the security for which is limited to the future cash flows from the film project and in some cases provides a guarantee to the providers of the loan. The Company borrows funds from banks and other financial institutions to finance the costs of production which are generally incurred in advance of contracted receipts and revenues from these programs. The Company typically finances the capitalized costs of its proprietary film and television programming through presales from customers, borrowings from bank facilities, government tax incentives, contributions from co-producers and working capital deployed as interim financing to contracted receipts. The Company also funds capital requirements through the issuance of shares, warrants and debt. As the business grows, the Company's financing requirements are expected to grow and the Company expects the continued use of cash in operating activities and, therefore, is dependant on continued access to external sources of financing.

As at August 31, 2006, the Company had cash or cash equivalents available of $1.2 million compared to $1.4 million in 2005 and had drawn $1.8 million on its $2.5 million bank credit facility.

Cash Flows from Operating Activities

During the year, $17.9 million was used by operating activities, compared to $5.8 million used by operating activities in fiscal 2005 and $3.2 million generated from operations in 2004. The increase of cash flows used from operations for the year ended August 31, 2006 was due primarily to the increase in investment in film and television programming.

The use of cash flows from operating activities of $5.8 million in fiscal 2005 compared to the increase in cashflows of $3.2 million in 2004 is attributable to a use of working capital in 2005.

Cash Flows from Investing Activities

During the year, cash flow used from investing activities was $7.4 million, compared with $51,000 used in 2005 and $71,000 used in 2004. The increase in 2006 was due to the acquisition of 100% of the issued and outstanding shares of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc., the net cash requirement of the transaction was $7.2 million.

Cash Flows from Financing Activities

In fiscal 2006, cash flows from financing activities was $25.1 million compared to $5.8 million in fiscal 2005 and cash used for financing activities of $2.6 million in fiscal 2004. The Company issued $31.9 million and repaid $18.3 million of production loans in 2006. These production loans represent various loan financing arrangements for the purpose of commencing the production of a film project or the acquisition of film distribution rights. During 2006, the Company generated cash flows of $8.6 million from financing activities through the issuance of common shares. On June 7, 2006, the Company completed a private placement of 7.5 million common shares for net proceeds of $8.4 million. The proceeds were used to repay the term loan of $3.5 million, and to settle letters of credit provided by a financial institution and certain of the preferred shareholders of $4.2 million in connection with the kaBOOM! acquisition and to provide working capital. The increase in production loans and proceeds from the private placement account for the majority of the increase in cash flow from financing activities in 2006.

In 2005, cash from financing activities was provided from the proceeds of the issuance of Series I Preference Shares and warrants of $2.3 million, and net additions of production loans of $3.4 million. Cash used in financing activities in fiscal 2004 of $2.6 million was primarily due to the net repayment of production loans.

Capital Resources

Bank Credit Facility The Company has a bank credit facility with a Canadian bank with a maximum credit availability of $2.5 million. The credit facility bears interest at the prime rate of interest plus 1.25% and is due on demand. The bank credit facility is secured by a general assignment of a subsidiary's assets and a guarantee from the Company. At year end, there was $689,000 available under the facility.

Production Loans The Company enters into various loan financing arrangements for the purpose of commencing a production of a film project or the acquisition of film distribution rights. Such loans are usually specific to each film but may be secured by the receivables of several films. The Company expects $26.9 million of the loans to be repaid in 2007, and $2.8 million to be repaid in 2008. The Company has production loans outstanding at August 31, 2006 of $29.8 million compared to $16.0 million in 2005. Of the loans outstanding, $16.9 million is denominated in United States dollars. See note 8 to financial statements for terms and interest rates.

Commitments The Company has entered into various contracts which result in future cash flow commitments related to production loans, operating leases, obligations to issue shares and revenue guarantee obligations. See Item 5.E. and 5.F. for further details of commitments.

Capital Transactions During the year, the following capital transactions occurred in addition to those noted above:

i)

On December 30, 2005, 1,435,897 Series II Preference Share warrants were exercised at a price of US$0.50 per share for total proceeds of US$717,948.

ii)

On March 30, 2006, Comerica Bank of California agreed to convert its US$1,075,000 loan for 215,000 shares of the Company's common shares.

iii)

On April 24, 2006, 500,000 Series II Preference Share warrants were exercised at a price of US$0.50 per share for total proceeds of US$250,000.

iv)

In connection with the kaBOOM! acquisition on January 23, 2006 certain preferred shareholders provided letters of credit in return for a fee that was eligible to be settled in cash or common shares. The fee was classified as equity as it was most likely to be settled by a fixed number of shares and valued at $108,000. On April 24, 2006, the Company issued 245,291 common shares to settle the fees.

v)

On April 28, 2006, the Company issued 178,620 common shares for the settlement of $97,000 of dividends payable to certain preferred shareholders. The value of the shares issued to settle the liability was $123,000 and therefore the Company recorded a loss on settlement of the dividends of $26,000.

vi)

On May 25, 2006, 726,032 Series II Preference Share warrants were exercised at a price of US$0.50 per share for proceeds of US$363,016.

vii)

On June 7, 2006, the Company granted, as partial compensation to retain an investment banker as its financial advisor in connection with the private placement described in note 18(a)(vi) of the financial statements, a warrant to purchase up to 269,000 common shares at an exercise price of $1.21 per share, exercisable to June 7, 2010 as described in note 20 of the financial statements. The fair value of $272,000, which was allocated against the net proceeds of the private placement, was estimated on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions: an expected life of the warrants of 3 years, a risk free rate of interest of 4.16% and an expected volatility of 102.6%.

32

viii)

During the year ended August 31, 2006, the Company issued 441,333 common shares for gross proceeds of $255,000 in connection with employee stock options that had been exercised. A balance of $118,000 representing a portion of the value associated with stock options was transferred from contributed surplus.

ix)

During the year, the Company recorded dividends of $308,000 compared to $22,000 in 2005 in respect of the Series I Preference Shares and the Series II Preference Shares.

On February 7, 2006, the Company issued 1.5 million common share warrants to a firm of marketing and publicity consultants. One million warrants vested immediately and 500,000 warrants vest at the end of the arrangement 12 months after the grant date, as a result, the Company recorded an expense of $469,000. Each warrant is convertible into one common share of the Company at an exercise price of US$0.54, exercisable to February 7, 2009. The fair value of each warrant was estimated on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions: an expected life of the warrants of 2-3 years, a risk free rate of interest of 4.0% and an expected volatility of between 94.38% and 102.6%.

During fiscal 2001, the Company granted, as partial compensation to retain an investment banker as its financial advisor, a warrant to purchase up to 100,000 Class B Shares at an exercise price of US$2.72 per share, exercisable to April 16, 2006. As the warrants were granted at an exercise price equal to the market value of Company's shares on the date of grant, no compensation expense was recorded. During the year, the warrants were not exercised and have since expired.

xii)

Each Series I and Series II Preference Share is convertible into one common share of the Company at any time. Each outstanding Series I and II Preference Shares pays a 10% cumulative dividend on a quarterly basis.

xiii)

On July 29, 2005, in connection with a private placement, the Company issued 4,347,825 Series II Preference Share warrants. Each Preference Share warrant is convertible into one Series II Preference Share of the Company at a price of US$0.50 at any time up to July 29, 2009. The allocation of the proceeds from the issuance of the Units to the warrants was $693,000.

TREND INFORMATION

In the United States marketplace the revenue streams supporting feature film exploitation have markedly increased in the past few years. We believe there are three primary factors that contribute to this increase. First, there is an absolute increase in DVDs being purchased and the attendant number of distributors engaged in this business has likewise increased. Secondly, there is an increasing strengthening of the cable and pay marketplace in respect of proliferation of outlets which have become viable over this period. This has led to increased demand for motion picture licensing rights among these cable companies. Given the proliferation of supply, there has been marginal decline in license rates, but the number of licensing opportunities has increased which is expected to offset the decrease in licensing margins. Thirdly, the recent emergence of the highly competitive High Definition Television (HDTV) business. All U.S. delivery systems are at this time scrambling to purchase the rights to broadcast motion picture entertainment in high definition (HD) format. Consequently, a rapidly expanding demand and market has now emerged for the licensing of HD exhibition rights from distributors of independent films. Independent distributors and rights owners will clearly experience sources of new revenue as a consequence.

The international marketplace has historically followed the patterns of distribution and technology manifest in the United States. We expect this trend to continue. Furthermore, the lag rate internationally continues to diminish with the advance of time and technology. At this time there is rapid acceleration and proliferation of new pay and cable operations in Europe and Asia.

Peace Arch licenses its feature films to third party distributors around the world in exchange for negotiated license fees and a share of each picture's profits. In the past, licenses to international video and television distributors generated sufficient revenues to profitably support the Company's films without the need for a U.S. theatrical release. But softening demand for non-theatrical films on television, changes in video/DVD sales patterns and a growing international acceptance of non-Hollywood films have brought significant changes to the worldwide market. Management believes that, with few exceptions, U.S. theatrical distribution is a prerequisite to the success of most feature films.

The proliferation of cable and satellite television channels and expanding demand for television programs on DVD have created significant new niche markets for much of the Company's past, present and future television programming. The acquisition of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc. in fiscal 2006 serves as a vehicle for the Company to exploit these new revenues.

HD exhibition has commenced in many of the major markets around the world. However, due to projected take-up rates in Asia and Latin America being estimated at a much more protracted pace than in Europe and the United States, we feel that the overall support to values of exploitation rights over the next ten years will not be as strong internationally as in the United States.

OFF-BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

Variable Interest Entities Effective December 1, 2004, the Company adopted Accounting Guideline 15 (AcG-15) - Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities issued by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants 9 (CICA). AcG-15 provides criteria for the identification of VIEs and further criteria for determining what entity, if any, should consolidate them. AcG 15 defines a VIE as an entity that either does not have sufficient equity at risk to finance its activities without subordinated financial support or wherein the equity investors lack the characteristic of a controlling financial interest. VIEs are subject to consolidation by a company if that company is deemed the primary beneficiary of the VIE. The primary beneficiary is the party that is either exposed to a majority of the expected losses from the VIE's activities or is entitled to receive a majority of the VIEs residual returns or both.

The Company acquires from independent production entities various distribution rights to film properties either outright or by providing a non-refundable minimum guarantee against future revenues to be generated from its distribution activities. The Company has determined that these independent production entities are VIEs since they lack sufficient equity financing to support their business activities. The Company's interest in a particular film, as represented by its non-refundable minimum guarantees, is variable due to its participation in future distribution revenues of the production entity and can be significant. The Company's maximum exposure to loss for any particular film is represented by its non-refundable minimum guarantee and is reflected in the financial statements as investment in film and television programming. In evaluating its arrangements with the independent production entities for the acquisition of its distribution rights and all other arrangements with variable interest entities which have been identified, the Company has determined that it is exposed to greater than 50% of the expected losses or a majority of the expected returns in arrangements with two independent productions and therefore is considered the primary beneficiary of these entities. As a result, the Company has consolidated the assets, liabilities and operating results of PA Heartstopper Films Inc. and PA Warterra Films Inc. The Company has determined that its rights to the remaining acquired film properties do not expose the Company to the majority of the expected losses or a majority of the expected returns of the VIEs. The aggregate of the Company's maximum exposure to loss as represented by the aggregate of the non-refundable minimum guarantees to the production entities is $12,118,000.

Loan guarantees Certain film productions delivered during prior years were pursuant to co-production agreements with an independent producer (the co-producer) in another country. The production loans are arranged jointly by the co-producers to cover their individual funding of the respective film production. Each co-producer is responsible for the payment of its respective portion of the loans out of receipts from the respective co-producer's exploitation of the production. In the event of default by the co-producer, the Company is liable for any unpaid balance of the co-producer's share of the loan. At August 31, 2006 and 2005, the total amount of such unpaid loans was approximately $223,000 and $343,000, respectively. In the event of such a default, the Company has full recourse to all the copyright, exploitation and other rights attributed to the co-producer pursuant to the co-production agreement. No accrual has been made as the Company believes the likelihood of payment is remote.

Film distribution rights commitment At August 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company had commitments of $2,229,000 and $3,134,000, respectively, with respect to the acquisition of film distribution rights to 10 films, which will be delivered to the Company during the year ended August 31, 2007. These payments are required to be made at the date of delivery of the respective films which is expected to be no later than August 31, 2007.

Guarantee of sales performance At August 31, 2005, the Company provided a guarantee of the sales performance of its subsidiary Peace Arch Films Limited (PAF) of US$2,500,000 to assist with a third party producer's financing for a production for which PAF has acquired worldwide distribution rights. The Company has been advised that the related financing obligation was fully satisfied prior to August 31, 2006.

F.

He began his career in the film industry as an attorney specializing in independent production, financing and distribution, with a particular emphasis on international co-production and co-financing arrangements. Mr. Flock has produced or executive produced a dozen feature films, including: Clockwatchers (BMG), Storyville (Fox), Fortress (Dimension) and Fortre 2 Reentry (TriStar). Mr. Flock has spent the last decade developing, writing and producing nearly a dozen motion pictures. Prior to 2004 he was senior production and financing advisor to Cinefinance llc, one of the industry's leading completion guarantors.

There are no family relationships between any two or more directors or executive officers. There are no material arrangements or understandings with any major shareholders, customers, suppliers or others pursuant to which any director or executive officer was selected as a director or executive officer.

Committees of the Board of Directors

During fiscal 2006 we had four committees, three of which were constituted with a majority of independent directors, as follows:

Audit Committee: The mandate of the Audit Committee is to review the Company's audited and interim financial statements and to report on such statements to the Board before the statements are approved by the Board. To fulfill this responsibility, the Audit Committee meets with the Company's auditors to discuss the financial statements and any concerns raised by the auditors with respect to financial presentation or disclosure, and with respect to the Company's financial controls. For the year ended August 31, 2006, the Audit Committee was composed exclusively of outside directors, within the requirement of the TSX Guidelines.

As of August 31, 2006, our Audit Committee consisted of Juliet Jones, Robert Essery and Nelson Thall. Each of these individuals is independent and financially literate, as those terms are defined in relevant Canadian securities legislation. They met seven times in the last fiscal year.

Compensation Committee: The Compensation Committee for the year ended August 31, 2006, was composed of Nelson Thall, Juliet Jones and Drew Craig. It is the responsibility of the Compensation Committee to administer the compensation policies related to our executive management. They met four times in the last fiscal year.

Executive/Corporate Governance Committee: The Executive/Corporate Governance Committee for the year ended August 31, 2006, was composed of Juliet Jones, Richard Watson and Robert Essery who are responsible for reviewing our adherence to the corporate governance policies of the securities regulatory authorities. They make recommendations with respect to the composition of the board of directors. As well, the Executive/Corporate Governance Committee, working independently of management, reviews strategic proposals including potential mergers, acquisitions and financing scenarios. In addition, the Executive/Corporate Governance Committee has been authorized to develop a process for assessing the effectiveness of the Board as a whole and of committees of the Board, and for assessing the contribution of individual directors. The Executive/Corporate Governance Committee meets intermittently as needed.

Greenlight Committee: The Green-Light Committee for the year ended August 31, 2006, was composed of John Flock, Richard Watson and Jeff Sagansky (Mr. Sagansky is an advisor to the board). The Green-Light Committee is responsible for reviewing all projects, ensuring that they are fully funded and ultimately giving authority for them to proceed into production. The Green-Light Committee meets intermittently as needed.

BOARD PRACTICES

See discussion in the "Directors and Senior Management" in section 6.A. There are no directors' service contracts providing benefits on employment termination.

During the most recently completed financial year ended August 31, 2006 the directors of the Company were entitled to a yearly retainer of $5,000, which the Company paid in full. As well, directors were entitled to $500 for each directors' or Committee Meeting attended in person and $300 for each directors' or Committee Meeting attended by conference call. Chairpersons of any directors' or Committee Meeting were entitled to twice that of a non-chair member. The directors also receive 75,000 stock options upon their election to the Board.

EMPLOYEES

As of August 31, 2006 we had approximately 53 full-time permanent employees. We also hire additional personnel on a project-by-project basis in connection with the production of our film and television programming. On average, we may employ, on a temporary basis, 50 people for a motion picture project and 15 for a television program. We believe that our employee and labor relations are good. None of our permanent employees are members of unions. We had 30 full-time employees at August 31, 2005 and 25 full-time employees at August 31, 2004.

The following chart shows the number of persons employed by the Company by activity and by geography as at August 31, 2006:

	2006	2005	2004
By Activity
Sales	7	5	4
Production	16	14	10
Administration	15	11	11
Distribution	15	-	-
Total	53	30	25
By Geography
United Kingdom	7	7	6
United States	5	3	2
Canada	41	20	17
Total	53	30	25

The significant increase in the number of employees from 2005 to 2006 is due to the acquisition of kaBOOM! Entertainment Inc., which occurred on January 23, 2006.

OPTION/SAR GRANTS DURING THE MOST RECENTLY COMPLETED FINANCIAL YEAR

In 1997, the Company adopted a stock option plan (the Plan) which was approved by the Company's shareholders on January 28, 1998 pursuant to which the Company's Board of Directors may grant stock options to officers and key employees. On July 14, 1999, February 21, 2001, January 20, 2003, and February 2006, the Company's shareholders approved amendments to the Plan (the Amended Plan). In accordance with the Amended Plan, the number of shares issuable upon the exercise of options pursuant to the Amended Plan and any other Share Compensation Arrangements (as such term is defined in the Amended Plan) is 6,217,466 common shares of the Company. Stock options are granted with an exercise price in Canadian dollars equal to the stock's fair market value at the date of grant. All stock options have terms between one and three years and vest and become fully exercisable immediately or after up to 37 months. The Company intends to issue new shares for any stock options exercised.

During the most recently completed fiscal year, options to purchase an aggregate of 457,500 Common Shares were granted to the below Named Executive Officers and directors as follows:

Name of Executive Officer, Employee or Director	No. of Exercise Common Price Option/SARs ($/Share) Granted		Expiration Date	No. of Common Option/SARs Exercised

Gary Howsam	75,000	$1.31	May 15, 2009	0
Mara Di Pasquale	75,000	$0.63	August 31, 2009	0

During the most recently completed year, options to purchase an aggregate of 1,417,500 Common Shares were granted to employees and key contributors of the Company.

Additional disclosure for U.S. GAAP purposes:

As at August 31, 2006, the aggregate intrinsic value (difference between the market value and exercise price) for fully vested stock options was $548,000.

For the year ended August 31, 2006, there was no income tax benefit for total stock based compensation costs.

The Company has guidelines for issuing shares from treasury to satisfy share option exercises.

Except for our Amended Share Option Plan there are no plans in effect to which cash or non-cash compensation was paid or distributed to Named Executive Officers during the most recently completed fiscal year, or is proposed to be paid or distributed in a subsequent year. We do not have any pension plans or retirement benefit plans.

On June 7, 2006, Todd Wagner received 3,000,000 Common Shares pursuant to a private placement of 7.5 million of the Company's Common Shares.

To the best of our knowledge there are no new arrangements that could result in a change of control.

B.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company has transacted business in the normal course with entities that are subject to common voting control and with entities over which the Company exercises significant influence. These transactions are measured at the exchange amount, which is the actual amount of consideration given as established and agreed between the related parties and having normal trade terms.

i)

During the year ended August 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company paid $190,000 and $185,000, respectively, to a company controlled by a shareholder, director and officer of the Company for executive services rendered. These expenditures are reflected in the company's selling, general and administrative expenses.

ii)

During the year ended August 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company paid $nil and $32,000, respectively, to a shareholder, director and officer of the Company for legal services rendered. These expenditures are reflected in the Company's selling, general and administrative expenses.

iii)

As at August 31, 2006 and 2005, included in accounts receivable was $nil and $1,421,000 from a company owned by a member of senior management. This amount is a result of a sale of distribution rights to the related company prior to the individual becoming a member of senior management. The amount is secured by an irrevocable letter of credit.

iv)

On June 16, 2006, the Company entered into an agreement with a company controlled by a director of the Company and a member of the Company's senior management to loan the Company $2,740,000. The loan bears interest at the rate of 18% per annum and is secured by the Company's unencumbered entitlement to tax credit receivables due on films that it has produced and by guarantees provided by certain unrelated production companies from whom the Company has acquired distribution rights in return for the payment of a distribution advance. The unrelated production companies' guarantees are limited to each production company's unencumbered entitlement to its tax credits receivables. The loan is due on December 1, 2007. During the year, the Company incurred interest of $99,000, which is included in interest expense in the statement of earnings.

As at August 31, 2006, included in production loans was $50,000 due to a director of the Company in respect of a loan for the purpose of interim financing of a certain production. The loan is due on demand and is interest free.

vi)

During the year ended August 31, 2006, the Company paid interest of $13,000 to a member of the Company's senior management in respect of an interim bridge loan provided for one of the Company's productions. The interest is reflected as a cost of that production in investment in film and television programming.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

A.

CONSOLIDATED STATEMENTS AND OTHER INFORMATION

Our financial statements are stated in Canadian Dollars (CDN$) and are prepared in accordance with Canadian Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) in Canada, the application of which, in our case, conforms in all material respects for the periods presented with United States GAAP except as explained in note 32 of our fiscal 2006 consolidated financial statements included under Item 18 herein.

The financial statements as required under Item 18 are attached hereto and found immediately following the text of this Annual Report. The report of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, Chartered Accountants for each of the years in the three-year period ended August 31, 2006 and the consolidated balance sheet data as of August 31, 2005 and 2006 is included herein immediately preceding the financial statements.

Legal Proceedings

i)

On October 2, 2001, the Company initiated an action against Viacom, Inc., MTV Networks, and VH1 Music First et al in British Columbia Supreme Court for damages in the amount of US$2,750,000 and consequential damages arising from the Defendants' failure to honour a contract for the co-financing of the television series Big Sound. On December 21, 2006 the parties met with an arbitrator and negotiated a settlement of the Company's claim against Viacom, whereas Viacom agreed to pay US$1,000,000. In addition, the Company entered into a distribution agreement with Viacom for the sale of certain U.S. broadcast rights for the television series Big Sound.

The Company's subsidiary Peace Arch Motion Pictures Inc. (formerly GFT Entertainment Inc.) was named as one of several defendants in an action that commenced in June 2004 by Comerica Bank California. The Company believes that this claim is without merit because, among other things, the alleged events on which the claim is based occurred years prior to the formation of Peace Arch Motion Pictures Inc. The Company does not expect the outcome of this proceeding to have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or liquidity.

Other than as set out above, we are not currently subject to any legal proceedings, which, if determined adversely to us, would have a material adverse effect on our business or results of operations. We may, from time to time, become a party to various legal proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business. We maintain insurance coverage for such matters in amounts that we believe to be adequate.

Dividend Policy

We have not declared or paid dividends on our Common Shares.

During the years ended August 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, the Company recorded dividends of $308,000, $22,000 and $nil, respectively, in respect of the Series I Preference Shares and the Series II Preference Shares determined as 10% of the outstanding Series I and Series II Preference Shares face value of US$3,330,965 (2005 US$2,000,000).

The Preference Shares shall be entitled to priority over the Common Shares and over any other shares of Peace Arch ranking junior to the Preference Shares with respect to the payment of dividends (and in the distribution of assets in the event of the liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of Peace Arch, whether voluntary or involuntary, or any other distribution of the assets of Peace Arch among its shareholders for the purpose of winding up its affairs. The Preference Shares of any series shall be given such other preferences and rights over the Common Shares and over any other shares ranking junior to the Preference Shares as may be determined in the case of such series of Preference Shares. No rights, privileges, restrictions or conditions attached to a series of Preference Shares shall confer upon a series a priority over any other series of Preference Shares in respect of dividends or return of capital in the event of the liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of Peace Arch). Each preference share carries a 10% cumulative annual dividend.

Subject to any preferences and rights of the holders of the Preference Shares (including without limitation any preferences or rights attached to any existing or future series of Preference Shares) and any other shares ranking senior to the Common Shares with respect to priority in the payment of dividends, the holders of Common Shares shall be entitled to receive dividends, and we shall pay dividends thereon, as and when declared by our board of directors in such amount and in such form as our board of directors may from time to time determine. All dividends which our board of directors may declare on the Common Shares shall be declared and paid in equal amounts per share on all Common Shares at the time outstanding.

B.

SIGNIFICANT CHANGES

i)

On November 1, 2006, the Company entered into a binding letter agreement with CSC Global Technologies Inc. (CSC). Pursuant to the agreement, a new company will be created, whereby 51% of the common shares will be owned by the Company and 49% owned by CSC. The agreement will require the Company to provide financing toward the start up of the business venture. The amount of this obligation has not yet been determined.

On December 21, 2006, the Company acquired 100% of the issued and outstanding shares of Castle Hill Productions Inc. and Dream LLC, which holds the rights to a library of films for a purchase price of US$9,000,000. The purchase consideration is US$8,000,000 cash and US$1,000,000 in issuance of Company shares. The total amount of Common Shares issued was 1,120,419 and the fair value per Common Share was US$0.89, determined as at the 10 day weighted average prior to closing.

One of the components of the agreement was the issuance of 1.5 million Common Share warrants to Trilogy. 1 million warrants vested immediately and 500,000 warrants vest at the end of the arrangement 12 months after the grant date, as a result, the Company recorded an expense of $469,000. Each warrant is convertible into one common share of the Company at an exercise price of US$0.54, exercisable to February 7, 2009.

On June 7, 2006, the Company granted, as partial compensation to retain Westwind Partners Inc., an investment banker as its financial advisor in connection with the private placement described in note 18(a)(vi) of the financial statements, a warrant to purchase up to 269,000 common shares at an exercise price of $1.21 per share, exercisable to June 7, 2010 as described in note 20.

In September 2006, the Company signed an offer to lease with Cushman & Lakefield LePage to lease space at 1867 Yonge Street, 7th Floor, and a portion of the 6th Floor, Toronto, Ontario for a term of 7 years commencing July 1, 2007.

In October 2006, a subsidiary entered into a lease agreement with Marina Airport Building Ltd., a California limited partnership to lease space at 4640 Admiralty Way, Suite 710, Marina Del Rey, California for a term of 5 years commencing November 1, 2006.

On November 1, 2006, the Company entered into a binding letter agreement with CSC Global Technologies Inc. (CSC). Pursuant to the Agreement, a new company will be created, where 51% of the common shares will be owned by the Company and 49% owned by CSC. The agreement will require the Company to provide financing toward the start up of the business venture. The amount of this obligation has not yet been determined.

On December 21, 2006, the Company negotiated a settlement of an outstanding legal dispute with Viacom Inc., MTV Networks, and VH1 Music First et al. Viacom agreed to pay US$1.0 million as settlement to the Company's claim for damages in the original amount of US$2.7 million and consequential damages arising from the failure to honor a contract for the co-financing of the television series Big Sound. In addition, the Company entered into a distribution agreement with Viacom for the sale of certain U.S. broadcast rights for the television series Big Sound.

On December 21, 2006, the Company completed the acquisition of independent film companies Castle Hill Productions Inc. (CHP) and Dream LLC (Dream), for a purchase price of US$9 million. The acquisition was financed through US$8 million cash and US$1 million issuance of Company shares. The Dream/CHP library of approximately 500 titles represents one of the largest independent film libraries in the world, containing both classic and contemporary motion Pictures. This strategic transaction supports Peace Arch's goal of revenue growth through U.S. and worldwide distribution, and brings to the Company a proven U.S. distribution and licensing operation with an experienced executive team.

Except as otherwise disclosed in this annual report and our financial statements and notes included elsewhere in this annual report, we have no other material contracts.

EXCHANGE CONTROLS

There are no governmental laws, decrees or regulations in Canada restricting the import or export of capital or affecting the remittance to the United States of interest, dividends or other payments to non-resident holders of our shares. However, the payment or crediting of interest or dividends to United States residents may be subject to applicable withholding taxes at a rate prescribed by the Income Tax Act (Canada) and modified by the provisions of the Canada-United States Income Tax Convention, 1980 (see commentary section entitled "Taxation" below).

49

Except as provided in the Investment Canada Act (the "ICA"), there are no limitations under the laws of Canada, the Province of Ontario or in our Memorandum or Articles on the right of foreigners to hold and/or vote the shares of our capital stock.

The ICA has application where a non-Canadian individual or entity or controlled group of entities proposes to make an investment to acquire control of a Canadian business enterprise, either directly or indirectly, by way of purchase of voting shares of a corporation or of substantially all of the assets used in the Canadian business enterprise. An investment to acquire voting shares of a corporation is deemed to be an acquisition of control where more than one-half of the voting shares are acquired. An acquisition of less than one-third of the voting shares of a corporation is deemed not to be an acquisition of control and an acquisition of between one-third and one-half of the voting shares of a corporation is presumed to be an acquisition of control unless it can be established that the acquisition does not in fact result in control of the corporation by the investor.

Different provisions and considerations apply with respect to an investment to acquire control of a Canadian business that, as defined in the ICA or regulations as follows:

Engages in production of uranium and owns an interest in producing uranium property in Canada; provides financial services; provides transportation services; and is a cultural business.

We are considered to be a cultural business pursuant to the ICA.

An investment to acquire control of a Canadian business enterprise, the gross assets of which exceed certain thresholds, must be reviewed and approved under the ICA before implementation. An investment to acquire control of a Canadian business enterprise, the gross asset value of which falls below these threshold amounts, is one in respect of which notification must be given under the ICA although approval is not required prior to implementation of the investment.

Specific investment thresholds apply to investors of the United States. The investment threshold for a direct acquisition of control has been established at Cdn$5 million for 2006 and no review is required for an indirect acquisition of control. Each year the direct acquisition investment threshold is adjusted for inflation.

E.

TAXATION

The discussions summarize the material tax considerations relevant to an investment in Common Shares by individuals and corporations who, for income tax purposes, are resident in the U.S. for purposes of the Convention (as hereinafter defined) and are not resident in Canada, who hold Common Shares as a capital asset, and who do not use or hold the Common Shares in carrying on a business through a permanent establishment in Canada or in connection with a fixed base in Canada (collectively, U.S. Holders). The discussion of U.S. tax considerations is addressed only to U.S. Holders whose functional currency within the meaning of section 985 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), is the U.S. dollar, and to U.S. citizens who are not residents in the U.S. for purposes of the Convention, but who otherwise meet the definition of U.S. Holders. Furthermore, the discussion of U.S. tax considerations does not address the tax treatment of U.S. Holders that own, or are deemed for U.S. federal income tax purposes to own, 10% or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of voting stock of Peace Arch. This discussion does not cover any state, local or foreign tax consequences. The discussion of Canadian tax considerations does not address the tax treatment of a trust, company, organization or other arrangement that is a resident of the U.S. and that is generally exempt from U.S. tax.

This discussion does not address all of the income tax consequences that may be applicable to any particular Holder subject to special treatment under the U.S. federal income tax law or to any particular Holder in light of such Holder's particular facts and circumstances. Some Holders, including tax-exempt entities, banks, insurance companies and persons who hold the Common Shares as part of a synthetic security, conversion transaction or straddle or hedging transactions may be subject to special and/or different rules not discussed below. Statements of legal conclusion of U.S. tax considerations as to the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of the Common Shares by U.S. Holders do not purport to be a complete analysis or listing of all possible tax considerations. The discussion of U.S. tax considerations is based upon the sections of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended including the American Job Creation Act 2004 (the 2004 Act) which was enacted October 22, 2004, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rulings, published administrative positions of the IRS and court decisions that are applicable as of February 25, 2005, any or all of which could be materially and adversely changed, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time. This discussion does not consider the potential effects, both adverse and beneficial, of any recently proposed legislation which, if enacted, could be applied, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time.

Statements of legal conclusions of Canadian tax considerations as to the material Canadian federal income tax consequences of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of the Common Shares by U.S. Holders do not purport to be a complete analysis or listing of all possible tax consequences. The discussion of Canadian tax considerations is based upon the provisions of the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the Tax Act), the Convention between Canada and the U.S. of America with Respect to Taxes on Income and on Capital, as amended from time to time (the Convention), our understanding of published administrative practices of Canada Revenue Agency (formerly, Canada Customs and Revenue Agency) and judicial decisions, all of which are subject to change. The discussion does not take into account the tax laws of the various provinces or territories of Canada or the tax laws of the various state and local jurisdictions in the U.S.

This discussion is not intended to be nor should it be construed as legal or tax advice to any particular investor. Therefore, prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors with respect to the tax consequences of an investment in the Common shares.

United States Federal Income Tax Considerations

The following is, in the opinion of the Company after consultation with its professional advisors, a discussion of material United States federal income tax consequences, under current law, generally applicable to a U.S. Holder (as hereinafter defined) of common shares of the Company. This discussion does not address all potentially relevant federal income tax law, such as those described below as excluded from the definition of a U.S. Holder. In addition, this discussion does not cover any state, local or foreign tax consequences. (see Taxation Canadian Federal Income Taxes Consequences above). Accordingly, holders and prospective holders of common shares of the Company are urged to consult their own tax advisors about the specific federal, state, local, and foreign tax consequences to them of purchasing, owning and disposing of common shares of the Company, based upon their individual circumstances.

The following discussion is based upon the sections of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), Treasury Regulations, published Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rulings, published administrative positions of the IRS and court decisions that are currently applicable, any or all of which could be materially and adversely changed, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time and which are subject to differing interpretations. This discussion does not consider the potential effects, both adverse and beneficial, of any proposed legislation which, if enacted, could be applied, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time.

Distributions of Shares

A U.S. Holder generally will treat the gross amount of distributions paid by us, including the amount of any Canadian tax withheld, as foreign source dividend income for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent of our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as computed for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Distributions in excess of that amount will reduce an U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Common Shares, but not below zero, and the remainder, if any, will be treated as taxable capital gain. In general, in computing its U.S. federal income tax liability, a U.S. Holder may elect for each taxable year whether to claim a deduction or, subject to the limitations described below, a credit for Canadian taxes withheld from dividends paid on its Common Shares.

If the U.S. Holder elects to claim a credit for such Canadian taxes, the election will be binding for all foreign taxes paid or accrued by the U.S. Holder for such taxable year. The Code applies various limitations on the amount of the foreign tax credit that may be available to a U.S. taxpayer based upon the segregation of foreign source income into separate categories, or "baskets", of income. For purposes of applying the foreign tax credit limitation, dividends are generally included in the passive income basket or the financial services income basket if received by a financial services entity.

The amount of credit that may be claimed with respect to the basket of income to which the dividend is allocated, and to which the foreign taxes are attributable, generally may not exceed the same proportion of the U.S. tax on worldwide taxable income, before applying the foreign tax credit as the U.S. holder's foreign source taxable income allocable to such basket bears to such U.S. holder's entire taxable income. The foreign tax credit is disallowed for dividends on stock unless a minimum holding period requirement is satisfied and additional limitations may restrict the ability of some individuals to claim the foreign tax credit. The 2004 Act amends the foreign tax credit provisions. These amendments include reducing the limitations on certain classifications of income. These amendments are effective for tax years beginning after 2006. Accordingly, investors should consult their own tax advisors with respect to the potential consequences to them of the foreign tax credit limitations. Dividends paid by us generally will constitute "portfolio income" for purposes of the limitation on the use of passive activity losses by investors and "investment income" for purposes of the limitation on investors' investment interest expense. Dividends paid by us will not be eligible for the dividends received deduction generally allowed with respect to dividends paid by U.S. corporations under Section 243 of the Code, but may be eligible for the dividends received deduction which may be claimed by 10% corporate shareholders under Section 245 of the Code.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, the amount of any distributions made on Common Shares to an U.S. Holder in Canadian dollars will equal the U.S. dollar value of the Canadian dollars calculated by reference to the appropriate exchange rate in effect on the date of receipt of the distribution, regardless of whether the Canadian dollars are actually converted into U.S. dollars upon receipt. U.S. Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the treatment of foreign currency gain or loss, if any, on any Canadian dollars which are converted into U.S. dollars subsequent to receipt by the U.S. Holder.

Disposition of Shares

The sale of Common Shares generally will result in the recognition of gain or loss to the Holder in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized and the Holder's adjusted basis in the Common Shares. Provided the Holder is not considered a "dealer" in the Common Shares sold, gain or loss upon the sale of Common Shares will generally be capital gain or loss.

Capital losses are deductible to the extent of capital gains. Individual taxpayers may deduct excess capital losses up to $3,000 a year, $1,500 in the case of a married individual filing separately, from ordinary income. Non-corporate taxpayers may carry forward unused capital losses indefinitely. Unused capital losses of a corporation may be carried back three years and carried forward five years.

In the case of individuals, net capital gain from the disposition of property held for investment is excluded from investment income for purposes of computing the limitation on the deduction for investment interest applicable. An individual may, however, elect to include such net capital gain in investment income if such taxpayer reduces the amount of its net capital gain that is otherwise eligible for preferential capital gains tax treatment by such amount. In that event, such investment income would be taxable at ordinary income rates.

Passive Foreign Investment Company

For any taxable year of Peace Arch, if at least 75% of our gross income is passive income, as defined in the Code, or if at least 50% of our assets, by average fair market value, or, prior to fiscal year 1998, possibly by adjusted tax basis, are assets that produce or are held for the production of passive income, we will be a passive foreign investment company (PFIC). If we are a PFIC for any taxable year during which a U.S. Holder holds any Common Shares, the U.S. Holder will be subject to special U.S. federal income tax rules, set forth in Sections 1291 to 1298 of the Code, with respect to all of such U.S. Holder's Common Shares. If we were treated as a PFIC at any time during a U.S. Holder's holding period for Common Shares, such U.S. Holder generally would be subject to additional tax as well as interest charges with respect to the deferral of tax for the period during which such Common Shares were held. Any such additional tax and interest charges would apply upon the disposition of the Common Shares or the receipt of dividends. Additionally, any gain realized on the disposition of Common Shares would be treated as ordinary income or taxable at ordinary income rates rather than as capital gain or taxable at capital gains rates, and the tax basis of the Common Shares held by a U.S. Holder generally would not be stepped up to fair market value at death. Under some circumstances, shareholders of a PFIC may elect to be taxed currently on their pro rata shares of PFIC income and capital gain or, report income currently on a mark to market basis with respect to their shares of stock in the PFIC.

We do not believe that we are likely to be a PFIC in the current or future taxable years; however, because the PFIC determination is made annually on the basis of facts and circumstances that may be beyond our control and because the principles and methodology for determining the fair market values of our assets are unclear, there can be no assurance that we will not be a PFIC for such years.

Special rules not described herein will also apply if we become a controlled foreign corporation foreign personal holding company or foreign investment company for U.S. federal income tax purposes. We would be treated as a controlled foreign corporation if U.S. Shareholders were to own, actually or constructively, more than 50% of the total combined voting power or total value of us. For this purpose, the term U.S. Shareholder means a U.S. person who owns, actually or constructively, ten percent or more of the total combined voting power of Peace Arch. A US shareholder of a controlled foreign corporation owning the shares for an uninterrupted period of 30 days or more must include in gross income their proportionate share of the controlled foreign corporation's income whether distributed or not.

Foreign Personal Holding Company

We would be treated as a foreign personal holding company if at any time during a taxable year more than 50% of the total combined voting power or the total value of the Company's outstanding shares is owned directly or indirectly by five or fewer individuals who are citizens or residents of the United States and 60% or more of the Company's gross income for such year (reduced to 50% in subsequent years) was derived from certain passive sources. In that event, U.S. Holders that hold shares would be required to include in gross income for such year their allocable portion of such passive income to the extent the Company does not actually distribute such income. The 2004 Act repeals the foreign personal holding company rules. This repeal is effective after 2004.

Foreign Investment Company

We would be treated as a foreign investment company as defined in Section 1246 of the Code if 50% or more of the combined voting power or total value of the Company's outstanding shares are held, directly or indirectly, by citizens or residents of the United States, United States domestic partnerships or corporations, or estates or trusts other than foreign estates or trusts (as defined by the Code Section 7701(a)(31)), and the Company is found to be engaged primarily in the business of investing, reinvesting or trading in securities, commodities or any interest therein. If we are assessed as being a foreign investment company, then this could cause all or part of any gain realized by a U.S.

Holder selling or exchanging shares to be treated as ordinary income rather than capital gain. The 2004 Act repeals the foreign investment company rules. This repeal is effective after 2004.

However, in light of the ownership requirements necessary for our productions to constitute Canadian-content productions and for us to claim Canadian tax benefits, it is not anticipated that we are or will become a controlled foreign corporation, foreign personal holding company or foreign investment company for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

U.S. Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Under U.S. treasury regulations that are generally effective with respect to payments made after December 31, 2000 (the new withholding Regulations), the proceeds of a sale of Common Shares through a U.S. or U.S. related broker may be subject to U.S. information reporting and may be subject to the 28% U.S. backup withholding requirements. Unconnected U.S. Shareholders generally can avoid the imposition of U.S. non-resident withholding tax by reporting their taxpayer identification number on an Internal Revenue Service Form W-9. Non-U.S. shareholders generally can avoid the imposition of U.S. backup withholding tax by providing to their broker or paying agent a duly completed Internal Revenue Service Form W-8 BEN. Any amounts withheld under the backup/non-resident withholding rules will be allowed as a refund or a credit against the shareholder's U.S. Federal income tax, provided the required information is furnished to the Internal Revenue Service.

Dividends paid in the U.S. on the Common Shares to Unconnected U.S. Shareholders or to non-U.S. shareholders through a U.S. or U.S. related person might be subject to the 28% U.S. backup/non-resident withholding tax unless certification requirements are satisfied.

The New Withholding Regulations consolidate and modify the pre-2001 certification requirements and means by which a holder may claim exemption from U.S. federal income tax withholding and provide presumptions regarding the status of holders when payments to the holders cannot be reliably associated with appropriate documentation provided to the payor. All holders should consult their tax advisors regarding the application of the New Withholding Regulations.

Canadian Income Tax Considerations

Dividends on Common Shares and other Income

Dividends paid or credited, or that we deem to pay or credit, on the Common Shares to U.S. Holders will be subject to Canadian withholding tax. Under the Convention, the maximum rate of withholding tax on dividends paid or credited on the Common Shares is 15% if the beneficial owner of such dividends is a U.S. Holder. However, that rate is reduced to 5% under the Convention if the beneficial owner of such dividends is a U.S. Holder that is a corporation that owns at least 10% of the voting stock of Peace Arch.

Disposition of Common Shares

A U.S. Holder will not be subject to tax in Canada on any capital gain realized upon a disposition or deemed disposition of the Common Shares, provided that the Common Shares do not constitute taxable Canadian property of the U.S. holder within the meaning of the Tax Act. The Common Shares will not generally constitute taxable Canadian property of the U.S. Holder unless, at any time in the five-year period that ends at the time of the disposition, the U.S. Holder, either alone or together with persons with whom the U.S. Holder did not deal at arm's length, owned, had an interest in or the right to acquire 25% or more of the issued Common Shares or any series or class of our capital stock. Even if the Common Shares are taxable Canadian property, under the Convention, gains derived by a U.S. Holder would generally not be taxable in Canada unless the value of the Common Shares is derived principally from real property situated in Canada. We believe that the value of our Common Shares is not currently principally derived, directly or indirectly, from real property situated in Canada and do not expect this to change in the foreseeable future.

Canada does not currently impose any estate taxes or succession duties.

ITEM 11.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE

DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

The following discussion should be read in conjunction with notes to the consolidated financial statements attached herein in Item 18. The Company is subject to two main market risks: Interest rate risk and foreign currency exchange risk. The Company does not use financial derivatives to hedge market risks.

Interest rate risk primarily arises because we borrow funds to finance the production costs of our film and television programs, which are generally incurred in advance of contracted receipts and revenues from these programs. These loans usually bear interest at rates that change as market interest rates fluctuate. A rise in interest rates would cause an increase in the cost to produce our film and television programs and an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition. At August 31, 2006 we had borrowings of $29,761,653 in United States and Canadian dollar currencies outstanding from financial institutions. The United States dollar loans of $16,903,918 bear interest at rates ranging from the financial institute's United States dollar base rate plus 1.5% to 30.0% per annum, while the $12,857,735 loans in Canadian dollars bear interest at rates ranging from a financial institute's prime lending rate minus 0.5% to plus 2.0%.

For fixed rate debt, changes in interest rates generally affect the fair market value, but do not impact earnings or cash flows. As the term of the outstanding fixed rate loans is less than one year small changes in interest rates are not expected to affect the fair market value of the outstanding debt. Variable rate debt will affect the future earnings and cash flows of the Company as the interest rate changes. We generally cannot prepay fixed rate debt prior to maturity. Therefore, interest rate risk and changes in fair market value should not have a significant impact on the fixed rate debt. Holding the variable rate debt balance constant, each one percentage point increase in interest rates would result in an increase in interest expense of approximately $235,780 for the year. For the prior year, the comparable increase in interest expense of each percentage increase in interest rates would be approximately $125,780.

The following table presents principal cash flows, presented in Canadian dollars, and related interest rate sensitive financial instruments, by fiscal year of maturity.

	Fair Value	Expected to mature before August 31 2007	Expected to mature before August 31 2008

(1)

Bank credit facility is due on demand.

(2)

Interest rate is fixed or is payable as a flat fee negotiated at the inception of the loan.

Exchange Rate Sensitivity

We receive a portion of our revenues from U.S. and international sources in U.S. dollars while costs are payable primarily in Canadian dollars. Accordingly, operating results can be affected by fluctuations in the U.S. dollar exchange rate. Currency exchange rates are determined by market factors beyond our control and may vary substantially during the course of a production. If the Canadian dollar were to strengthen in relation to the U.S. dollar, our effective costs would rise in relation to our revenues. We do not maintain U.S. currency balances in excess of our estimated U.S. payables.

Based on our net US dollar liability exposure at August 31, 2006 and 2005 and holding that exposure constant each 1% decrease in the US dollar exchange rate to Canadian dollars would result in an approximate $68,000 increase (2005 - $39,000 increase) to our income and each 1% increase in the US dollar exchange rate would result in an approximate $68,000 decrease (2005 - $39,000 decrease) to our income.

At the present time we have no derivative instruments outstanding. The average exchange rate for fiscal 2006 was Cdn$0.8714 per US$1.00 (2005- Cdn$0.8114 per US$1.00).

CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

As required by rule 13a-15 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act), the Company carried out an evaluation of the effectiveness of the design and operation of its disclosure controls and procedures as of August 31, 2006, being the date of the Company s most recently completed fiscal year.

Disclosure Controls and Procedures are controls and other procedures that are designed to ensure that the information required to be disclosed in the Company s reports filed or submitted under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported, within the time periods specified in the Securities and Exchange Commission s rules and forms. Disclosure controls and procedures include, without limitation, controls and procedures designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in our reports filed under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to management, including the Company s Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

As required by Rule 13a-15 under the Exchange Act, the Company s management with the participation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer evaluated the effectiveness of the Company s disclosure controls and procedures .. Based upon that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Company s disclosure controls and procedures were effective as of August 31, 2006, which is the end of the Company s most recently completed fiscal year.

There were no changes in internal control over financial reporting during the fiscal year ended August 31, 2006 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company s internal control over financial reporting.

The Company is rapidly growing by incorporating new subsidiaries and acquiring new companies. From time to time there may be deficiencies in the design of disclosure controls and procedures relating to newly acquired or incorporated subsidiaries. Given the ongoing increase in size and capacity of operations, management is continually re-evaluating the current system and implementing the appropriate changes to the current controls and procedures to address the needs of a larger organization.

[RESERVED]

AUDIT COMMITTEE FINANCIAL EXPERT

The Company's Board of Directors has determined that Juliet Jones qualifies as an audit committee financial expert as defined by the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). Juliet Jones, a Certified General Accountant, has been on the Board of Directors since February 22, 2001. Previously Ms. Jones served in various roles for Peace Arch Entertainment Group Inc. including Chief Financial Officer. Ms. Jones previously served as a member of the Board of the Vancouver Chapter of Certified General Accountants and served as the chair of the professional development committee. She has 20+ years of accounting experience, 15 years of which were in senior financial roles with public companies. Ms. Jones has 15 years of experience in the film and television industry. She has a solid understanding of generally accepted accounting principles and accounting issues specific to the film and television industry, providing her with the ability to assess the application of such accounting principles to accruals, estimates and reserves. Ms. Jones has prepared and supervised the preparation of financial statements with comparable complexity to the issuer's financial statements, and as past Chief Financial Officer of the issuer until June 20, 2003, has prepared previous financial statements for the issuer. Ms. Jones also has hands on experience with managing internal controls and is active in following new accounting pronouncements with respect to the management and compliance with internal control requirements. Ms. Jones continues to stay current on new accounting and securities developments.

The Company's audit committee consists entirely of independent directors, and they meet certain independence criteria outside of their work as board or committee members. They do not accept directly or indirectly any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee from the Company or its subsidiaries, nor are affiliated persons of the Company or any of its subsidiaries.

ITEM 16B.

CODE OF ETHICS

We have adopted a code of ethics for our Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer, Principal Accounting Officer, Controller and other persons performing similar functions. Our code of ethics complies with the SEC rules. A copy of the Company's Code of Ethics is currently posted on our website at www.peacearch.com, and will be furnished, without charge, to any person who requests such copy by writing to the Chief Financial Officer, Peace Arch

Entertainment Group Inc., 124 Merton Street, Suite 407, Toronto, Ontario CANADA M4S 2Z2.

Audit Fees Audit fees consist of fees for the audit of the Company's annual financial statements or services that are normally provided in connection with statutory and regulatory filings or engagements.

Audit-Related Fees Audit-Related Fees consist of fees related to contract compliance audits, accounting assistance related to the adoption of new CICA Handbook pronouncements and new business ventures, assistance with the review of correspondence with regulatory authorities and prospectus preparation.

Tax Fees Tax Fees consist of fees for tax compliance services, tax advice, tax planning and transfer pricing services. The services provided in this category included assistance and advice in relation to the preparation of corporate income tax returns and income tax provisions included in the financial statements.

Audit Committee Pre-approval Policy

Our Audit Committee is responsible for the oversight of our independent auditor's work. Our Audit Committee's policy is to pre-approve all audit and non-audit services provided by PwC. These services may include audit services, audit-related services, tax services and other services, as described above. In such an event, the Audit Committee sets forth its pre-approval in detail, listing the particular services or categories of services which are pre-approved, and setting forth a specific budget for such services. In urgent circumstances, the Audit Committee's Chair, may issue such a pre-approval. Additional services may be pre-approved on an individual basis. PwC and our management then report to the Audit Committee on a quarterly basis regarding the extent of services actually provided in accordance with the applicable pre-approval, and regarding the fees for the services performed.
