Financial Markets Highlights

March 31, 2015

Emerging Markets (EM) Debt

Over the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, U.S. dollar (USD) denominated EM fixed income sovereign and corporate indices, as represented by the J.P. Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Index and the J.P. Morgan Corporate EMBI Broad Diversified Index, respectively, posted low single-digit returns. Despite credit spreads widening over the period, accrued interest and a positive duration contribution helped USD-denominated EM indices post a small positive return. 10-year and 7-year UST yields fell over 50 basis points (bps) over the period, in part benefiting from Europe announcing their own Quantitative Easing (QE) program and a growing yield differential between the U.S. and Europe. Oil and geopolitical noise dominated EM headlines. Oil exporting countries, such as Ecuador and Venezuela, posted steep losses as the declining terms of trade lowered growth expectations and oil-related revenues to the government. Ukraine bond prices fell over 50% as the ongoing fighting in the Eastern provinces has led to a sharp recession and debt sustainability concerns. EM local currency debt saw sharp declines as EM currencies broadly fell against the USD. The Russian Ruble tumbled over 30% and the Brazil Real sank over 23% versus the USD.

Agency Mortgage-Backed Securities (Agency MBS)

For the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, the Barclays U.S. MBS Index returned 2.86%; the Index s duration shortened to 3.54 years. The U.S. Treasury (UST) curve flattened with longer term rates declining more than shorter term rates. 10-year UST yields declined by 57 bps, while 2-year yields declined by only 1 bp. As a result, 30-year mortgage collateral outperformed 15-year collateral during this time due to longer-term rates declining the most during the trailing six-month period. Current coupon spreads slightly widened from September month-end figures and though there was widening against 10-year UST yields for the month of January, spreads have tightened back to the range that we ve seen for most of the last two quarters of the reporting period. Total gross Agency MBS issuance averaged about $95 billion monthly for the period, in line with increasing aggregate prepayment speeds across all three agencies (Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and Ginnie Mae).

Non-Agency Mortgage-Backed Securities (Non-Agency MBS)

Non-Agency MBS performance has been stable during the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, with pricing and underlying fundamentals displaying little change over the period. Mortgage rates declined during the reporting period, from 4.12% in early October to 3.80% at the end of March. Despite the decline in rates, prepayments only increased slightly on legacy non-Agency MBS. Liquidation rates, severities and the pace of loan modifications remained range bound with only a few pockets of volatility. On a technical basis, non-Agency MBS continued to be well bid while supply has been showing up more unevenly. Large bid lists continue to be a factor in determining monthly trading volume, but the frequency of these lists has subsided coming into the new year.

· U.S. High Yield

For the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, the Citi High-Yield Cash-Pay Capped Index returned 0.98%. Longer-maturity bonds outperformed shorter ones, with those maturing in 10 years or more returning 4.37% while the 1-7 year category returned just 0.25%. Credit quality was also a significant differentiator, with higher BB-rated issues returning 2.85%. The lower CCC-rated issues returned -3.23%. Notable outperformers by industry were Cellular Towers (+7.40%), Food Processors/Beverage/Bottling (+7.22%) and Retail-Food & Drug (+6.92%). The underperforming sectors over the period were all commodity or energy related. Underperformance was led by Oil Equipment (-14.03%), Secondary Oil & Gas Producers (-12.53%) and Metals/Mining (-7.51%).

· Bank Loans

For the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, the S&P/LSTA Leveraged Loan Index managed to return 1.61% after a bumpy fourth quarter. A look at performance by facility rating shows that BB loans were the outperformer, returning 2.74%. Notable outperformers by industry for the six-month period were Food and Drug Retailers (+3.78%), Cable and Satellite TV (+3.68%), and Cosmetics Toiletries (+3.60%). The underperformers for the period were heavily concentrated around the commodities and energy sectors. The underperformers were Oil and Gas (-12.01%), Nonferrous Metals Minerals (-6.82%) and Utilities (-4.75%).

· Collateralized Loan Obligations (CLOs)

For the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, issuance continued to print new deals at record pace. The fourth quarter of 2014 issued a total of $30.7 billion. Total issuance for 2014 shattered the previous record for issuance with a total of $124.10 billion issued. After a record breaking year, January 2015 was off to a sluggish start with the CLO market working towards solutions for the new risk retention requirements. Despite the slow start, issuance for the quarter ended with $29.79 billion across 55 deals. Spreads for AAAs tightened by 10 bps over the period coming in from wides of 2014 at 165 to 155 discount margin.

· Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (CMBS)

Over the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, new issue CMBS spreads were mixed stemming from uneven economic data including both fear and later contagion of European deflation, changes to Federal Reserve interest-rate forecasts and subsequent 10-year UST yield swings from a high of 2.43% to a low of 1.64%, ending the period at 1.92%. The Barclays U.S. CMBS Index returned 3.24%, underperforming the broader aggregate by 19 bps. Secondary market trading activity slowed given the uneven but relatively mild price movements as investors turned to holding for yield rather than looking to capture small price swings. For the period, 10-year AAA last cash flows (LCFs) remained unchanged at 85 bps over swaps, while the BBBs traded at 345bp, a 4bp widening. Total first quarter private label CMBS issuance finished the quarter at $24.7 billion, 15% higher than fourth quarter 2014 and 30% higher than first quarter 2014 equating to the second highest quarterly issuance since the end of the financial crisis, trailing only $26.3 billion in the third quarter 2014. The 2015 new issue calendar is on-pace to exceed that of 2014. $45 billion of deals was brought to market over the six-month period ended March 31, 2015, a $4 billion increase over the same period in 2014. Delinquency rates declined across four of the five major property types over the six-month reporting period, with industrial representing the lone outlier. The overall U.S. CMBS delinquency rate ended the first quarter at 5.58%, a 45bp improvement.

Management s Discussion of Fund Performance

March 31, 2015

DoubleLine Income Solutions Fund s portfolio outperformed (based on net asset value) and underperformed (based on market price) the Barclays Global Aggregate Bond Index s return of -2.94% for the six-month period ended March 31, 2015. With the decline in UST interest rates, longer duration assets generally outperformed shorter duration assets. Mortgage-related sectors, such as residential MBS and CMBS, led the outperformance and contributed strong price gains due to their relatively longer durations as well as high interest income. CLOs also added robust returns to the Fund as the sector experienced strong demand despite record new issuance last calendar year. Conversely, EM detracted from returns as the Fund s exposure to Latin American credits dampened performance earlier over the first half of the period on both the corporate and dollar-denominated sovereign fronts. The Fund continued to employ leverage and had a levered duration of 6.3 years at the end of the reporting period.

Shares of closed-end investment companies frequently trade at a discount to their net asset value, which may increase investors—risk of loss. There are risks associated with an investment in the Fund. Investors should consider the Fund—s investment objective, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. An investment in the Fund should not constitute a complete investment program.

The Fund s daily New York Stock Exchange closing prices, net asset values per share, as well as other information are available at http://www.doublelinefunds.com/closed_end_funds/income_solutions/overview.html or by calling the Fund s shareholder servicing agent at (877) 354-6311.

This document is not an offer to sell securities or the solicitation of an offer to buy securities, nor shall there be any sale or offer of these securities, in any jurisdiction where such sale or offer is not permitted.

The Fund s shares are only offered through broker/dealers on the secondary market. Unlike an open-end mutual fund, a closed-end fund offers a fixed number of shares for sale. After the initial public offering, shares are bought and sold in the secondary marketplace, and the market price of the shares is determined by supply and demand, not by net asset value (NAV), often at a lower price than the NAV. A closed-end fund is not required to buy its shares back from investors upon request.

Credit ratings from Moody's range from the highest rating of Aaa for bonds of the highest quality that offer the lowest degree of investment risk to the lowest rating of C for the lowest rated class of bonds. Credit ratings from Standard & Poor's (S&P) range from the highest rating of AAA for bonds of the highest quality that offer the lowest degree of investment risk to the lowest rating of D for bonds that are in default.

Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible.

Investments in debt securities typically decline in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Investments in asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities include additional risks that investors should be aware of including credit risk, prepayment risk, possible illiquidity and default, as well as increased susceptibility to adverse economic developments. The Fund may invest in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater for investments in emerging markets. Investments in lower rated and non-rated securities present a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than higher rated securities. Investment strategies may not achieve the desired results due to implementation lag, other timing factors, portfolio management decision-making, economic or market conditions or other unanticipated factors. The Fund may use leverage or change its leverage without notice which may cause an increase or decrease in the value of the portfolio securities to be magnified and the Fund to be more volatile than if leverage was not used.

The Fund is a non-diversified investment company and therefore may invest a greater percentage of its assets in the securities of a single issuer or a limited number of issuers than funds that are diversified. Accordingly, the Fund is more susceptible to risks associated with a single economic, political or regulatory occurrence than a diversified fund might be.

In addition, the Fund may invest in other asset classes and investments such as, among others, REITs, credit default swaps, short sales, derivatives and smaller companies which include additional risks.

The Fund s investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. You can obtain the Fund s most recent periodic reports and certain other regulatory filings by calling 1 (877) 354-6311/1 (877) DLINE11, or visiting www.doublelinefunds.com. You should read these reports and other filings carefully before investing.
