Subject: Department of Justice decision about acquisition of Cigna

For more than 75 years, our company has built a strong legacy by helping individuals gain access to high quality, affordable care. It is this commitment to access and affordability that is at the foundation of all that we do and is the reason that we made the decision last year to acquire Cigna.

This morning, the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) filed a civil antitrust lawsuit seeking to block Anthem from completing our acquisition of Cigna. We are disappointed by the DOJ's action as it is an unfortunate and misguided step backwards for access to affordable health care for America. The DOJ's action is based on a flawed analysis and misunderstanding of the dynamic, competitive and highly regulated health care landscape in which we operate and it is also inconsistent with the way that the DOJ has reviewed past health care transactions.

As we know, access to health insurance saves lives, improves health and reduces the cost of care for all Americans. Our company has an unwavering commitment to enhancing access to affordable health care and the benefits and efficiencies from our merger with Cigna is one way that Anthem will continue its mission of improving consumer choice, quality and affordability.

When we entered the agreement to acquire Cigna, we knew that the regulatory review process would be complex. During the past year, more than 1400 associates from both of our companies have been working diligently to move through this regulatory process and plan for the integration of our two companies. As a result of this effort, we have made good progress. We have received approvals from 12 states. But we have more work ahead.

Anthem is fully committed to challenging the DOJ's decision in court but we will also remain receptive to any efforts to reach a settlement that will allow us to complete the transaction and deliver its benefits to the public.

As we move forward with the DOJ and the remaining state regulatory approvals, I will continue to keep you informed of our progress.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the Anthem associates who are working to complete our acquisition, as well as to the remainder of our associates who have stayed focused on achieving our business priorities and, most importantly, serving our members.
