To all Patterson-UTI Energy Employees,

Today we announced that Patterson-UTI Energy and Seventy Seven Energy have reached agreement to merge our two companies. As I mentioned in the press release, we are excited to be joining forces with Seventy Seven Energy, where both companies have safe, high-quality operations with high-spec drilling rigs and modern pressure pumping equipment.

Following completion of the merger, Patterson-UTI will have 201 high-spec drilling rigs which will enhance our position as a leader in contract drilling, and 1.5 million horsepower of pressure pumping equipment which puts us in the top-5 for hydraulic fracturing capacity. Also, we will have the opportunity to enter a new product line with Seventy Seven Energy's oilfield rentals business.

We believe that the additional scale in contract drilling and pressure pumping allows us to better serve our customers and to improve our cost structure. Our new size should also provide greater opportunities for our employees to advance their capabilities and build their careers.

The merger is currently expected to close at the end of March 2017 and is subject to approval by the shareholders of both companies, customary governmental approval and certain other closing conditions. Until that date when we complete the merger, both Patterson-UTI and Seventy Seven Energy must continue to operate as separate and independent companies, without collaboration or sharing of confidential information, i.e., business as usual for both companies.

Integration of the two companies will only occur after the closing of the merger. An integration plan will be developed to ensure a smooth transition for customers, employees and other stakeholders.

I know you have questions about the road ahead. We are committed to providing you with open and transparent information as we progress. Until the merger closes, which I expect to occur late in the first quarter of 2017, there is no change in business operations. In the meantime, the top priority of every employee must be as always delivering safe and efficient services.
