Questions and Answers for our employees concerning our recent merger announcement.

Overview

On June 12, 2018, First Mid-Illinois Bancshares, Inc. (“First Mid”) and SCB Bancorp (“Soy Capital Bank”) were pleased to announce that Soy Capital Bank will become a part of First Mid. The transaction is expected to close in late-2018, subject to customary closing conditions and required approvals. Combining our companies means we can bring expanded services to Soy Capital Bank customers in the areas of traditional trust, brokerage, retirement services, insurance and farm management. As we draw closer to the completion of this transaction, customers will receive additional information about any changes to their current accounts that may affect them.

Why are we doing this merger?

This merger will strengthen our ability to serve our customers, with additional locations throughout Illinois and the ability to bring new products and services to our current customers. All of First Mid’s lines of business, the bank, insurance and wealth and farm management, align perfectly with our businesses. Both of our organizations share a similar commitment to personalized customer service and strong community involvement. We are confident this partnership represents a tremendous cultural and business fit, and we firmly believe it will benefit most of our employees, customers and communities.

Now that we have announced, what happens next?

For customers, until the transaction is complete, it is business as usual at Soy Capital. All of our customers will receive a letter from Soy Capital letting them know about this announcement and our continued commitment to care for their financial needs. We know customers may have questions about this change; therefore, we've prepared a Q&A that can be provided to customers and may be helpful.

For employees, we will continue to do our jobs and serve our customers. Over the next months, work will begin to integrate our two organizations. The closing of this transaction is anticipated in late-2018, with a system conversion occurring around April 2019. A conversion team with representatives from both banks will be put in place early next year.

How does this merger benefit customers?

Our customers, in the future, will enjoy a broader range of financial solutions including, trust, brokerage, insurance and other banking services. The merger will increase their access to banking services through an expanded network of branch and ATM locations that spans most of down-state Illinois.

How will our customers be notified?

A press release was issued on June 12, 2018, at close of day. In addition to this, we will visit many of our larger customers immediately. We also plan to mail letters to our customers announcing the merger.

What should I say when customers ask me about the merger?

Only authorized Soy Capital personnel are permitted to comment to the media. Please refer all media inquiries to Bob Smith at 217-428-7781 or Rcsmith@soybank.com. First Mid Contact: Laura ZuHone, 217-258-0675 or lzuhone@firstmid.com

Will our branch hours be changing?

Prior to the merger, Soy Capital and First Mid will continue to operate as separate businesses. We do not anticipate any change in our hours. If there are changes of any kind in the future, we will share that information with our employees and customers well in advance.

Will any banking centers be closing?

First Mid's branch network is mostly complementary with Soy Capital Bank's branch network, with some overlap. We will evaluate locations where overlap exists and communicate any changes well in advance.

Will our name change?

The name will change sometime in the future, but no decision has been finalized on the name transition and related timing.

Will this change our commitment to our communities?

First Mid shares our commitment to community investment and community service. First Mid associates are encouraged and empowered to volunteer their time in the community. Last year First Mid employees donated almost 20,000 volunteer hours in their communities.

Will this impact my job?

You should see no immediate impact to the day-to-day operations as a result of today's announcement. It is important to remember that until the transaction is completed, Soy Capital will continue to operate as it is, and it is business as usual. There will be many details to work through as this transaction gets finalized. Staffing needs will be evaluated over the next few months and we will provide answers to questions as soon as decisions are made. Our values align and there will be good people working hard to learn how we each do business and together maximize our opportunities in the future.

Will people lose their jobs as a result of this merger?

It is simply too early in the process to make a determination about individual roles and positions.

There will likely be some reorganization as we evaluate our two banks and review staffing levels to determine what appropriate levels are for the combined organization, but none of those decisions have been made yet. We would expect that some of the reductions will occur through attrition. Our pledge to you is that we will communicate all employment decisions privately as soon as is reasonably possible.

What will happen to my medical benefits (Medical, Dental, Vision, 401K, PTO, etc.)?

All employee benefits will remain the same through 2018. We understand the importance of this particular area and will give it the consideration it requires. Any changes in plans will be communicated in advance to give employees time for consideration and decisions.

I have a vacation scheduled in 2018, will I still be able to take it?

It is business as usual at this time. All vacations are subject to the regular approval process by your supervisor.

Who should I contact if I have additional questions?

Please reach out to your supervisor first with any questions. Otherwise, you may email any additional questions to Kathi McCluggage, Community Senior VP, Human Resources. Questions will be compiled and answers provided periodically, as decisions are made. Please know that we won't have the answer to many questions at this early point in the transaction, as most answers will come closer to the closing in late-2018, but know that we want to get you correct information as soon as possible.

Will I start over as a new employee or do I keep my seniority that I have with Soy Capital?

Your prior years of service with Soy Capital will transfer over with you to First Mid.
