Item 8.01 Other Events

As previously reported, in February 2004, the California Department of Water Resources ("DWR") commenced an arbitration proceeding against Sempra Generation, a subsidiary of Sempra Energy, with respect to the contract under which Sempra Generation sells electricity to the DWR. Among other things, the DWR disputed a portion of Sempra Generation's billings and its manner of delivering electricity. The DWR also sought rescission of the contract, which expires by its terms in 2011.

On April 20, 2006, the arbitration panel issued its decision. The panel refused to rescind the contract and ruled against the DWR on its most significant claims. However, the panel ruled in favor of the DWR on several contractual issues, including disallowing Sempra Generation's pass through in billings to the DWR of certain amounts for fuel taxes, electricity transmission losses and gas transportation charges. Sempra Generation's previously established reserves provide for a significant portion of these amounts applicable to deliveries through March 31, 2006. Sempra Generation will record an additional after-tax charge of $15 million in the first quarter of 2006 to provide for the balance of these amounts. Sempra Energy's previously announced estimates of future annual earnings anticipated a comparable arbitration decision and, accordingly, those estimates remain unchanged.

The arbitration panel's ruling is final and binding upon both the DWR and Sempra Generation with respect to the issues that were the subject of the arbitration. However, as previously reported, other legal proceedings relating to Sempra Generation's contract with the DWR remain ongoing and unresolved. These include California civil court litigation in which the DWR has alleged breach of contract and misrepresentation by Sempra Generation and seeks damages and an order rescinding the contract, and appeals by a number of parties, including the California Energy Oversight Board and the California Public Utilities Commission, of a Federal Energy Regulatory decision upholding the DWR's contracts with Sempra Generation and other power suppliers. In addition, the DWR has commenced another arbitration proceeding against Sempra Generation in which it disputes payment for power that it claims it did not receive.

Additional information regarding these matters and related matters is set forth in Note 15 of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in Sempra Energy's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005.
