ITEM 1. SCHEDULE OF INVESTMENTS.

The schedule of investments is included in the quarterly report to shareholders, which follows.

Fund Distributions and Managed Distribution Plan: Your Fund has been paying a regular 6.5 cent per share monthly distribution on its common stock since July 1997. In February 2007, the Board of Directors adopted a Managed Distribution Plan, which provides for the Fund to continue to make a monthly distribution on its common stock of 6.5 cents per share. Under the Managed Distribution Plan, the Fund will distribute all available investment income to shareholders, consistent with the Fund's primary investment objective. If and when sufficient investment income is not available on a monthly basis, the Fund will distribute long-term capital gains and/or return capital to its shareholders in order to maintain the 6.5 cent per share distribution level.

To the extent that the Fund uses capital gains and/or return of capital to supplement its investment income, you should not draw any conclusions about the Fund's investment performance from the amount of the Fund's distributions or from the terms of the Fund's Managed Distribution Plan.

The Fund distributed more than its income and capital gains during the year 2011; therefore, a portion of the distribution was a return of capital. A return of capital may occur, for example, when some or all of the money that you invested in the Fund is paid back to you. A return of capital distribution does not necessarily reflect the Fund's investment performance and should not be confused with "yield" or "income".

The amounts and sources of distributions reported in monthly statements from the Fund are only estimates and are not provided for tax reporting purposes. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes depend upon the Fund's investment experience during its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. In early 2013, the Fund will send you a Form 1099-DIV for the calendar year 2012 that tells you how to report these distributions for federal income tax purposes.

The Board may amend, suspend or terminate the Managed Distribution Plan without prior notice to shareholders if it deems such action to be in the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders. For example, the Board might take such action if the Plan had the effect of shrinking the Fund's assets to a level that was determined to be detrimental to Fund shareholders. The suspension or termination of the Plan could have the effect of creating a trading discount (if the Fund's stock is trading at or above net asset value), widening an existing trading discount, or decreasing an existing premium.

The Managed Distribution Plan is described in a Question and Answer format on your Fund's website, www.dnpselectincome.com, and discussed in the section of management's letter captioned "About Your Fund's Distribution Policy".

November 8, 2012

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

Performance Review: Consistent with its primary objective of current income and its Managed Distribution Plan, the Fund declared three monthly distributions of 6.5 cents per share of common stock during the third quarter of 2012. The 6.5 cent per share monthly rate, without compounding, would be 78 cents annualized, which is equal to 7.91% of the September 30, 2012, closing price of $9.86 per share. Please refer to the inside front cover of this report and the portion of this letter captioned “About Your Fund” for important information about the Fund and its Managed Distribution Plan.

Your Fund had a total return (income plus change in market price) of -9.63% for the quarter ended September 30, 2012, which was less than the .29% return of the composite of the S&P Utilities Index and the Barclays Utility Bond Index, reflecting the stock and bond ratio of the Fund. In comparison, the S&P Utilities Index — a stock-only index — had a total return of -.53%. During this period your Fund conducted a rights offering. The near term effect of this offering was pressure on the common stock price. There has been no change in the fundamental investment policies of the Fund. Additional details about the rights offering can be found in the portion of this letter captioned “Rights Offering”.

On a longer-term basis, as of September 30, 2012, your Fund had a five-year cumulative total return of 40.71%, which is higher than the 25.33% return of the composite of the S&P 500 Utilities Index and the Barclays Utility Bond Index, reflecting the stock and bond ratio of the Fund. In comparison, the S&P 500 Utilities Index had a total return during that period of 12.71%. It is important to note that the composite and index returns stated here and below include no fees or expenses, whereas the Fund’s NAV returns are net of expenses.

The table below compares the performance of your Fund to various market benchmarks.

For the period indicated through September 30, 2012	Cumulative Total Return*
	DNP Select Income Fund Inc.		Composite Index	S&P 500 Utilities Index	Barclays Utility Bond Index
	Market	NAV
One year	6.38%	23.6%	12.0%	4.3%	9.3%
Five years	40.7%	44.3%	25.3%	12.7%	59.7%

Total return includes dividends reinvested in the Fund or index, as applicable. The Composite Index is a composite of the returns of the S&P 500 Utilities Index and the Barclays Utility Bond Index, weighted to reflect the stock and *bond ratio of the Fund. Performance returns for the S&P 500 Utilities Index and Barclays Utility Bond Index were obtained from Bloomberg LLP. Fund returns were obtained from the Administrator of the Fund. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

Rights Offering: On September 24, 2012 your Fund announced the completion of its transferable rights offering which raised approximately $230 million of net proceeds. The record date of the rights offering was August 23, 2012 and the rights offering expired on September 21, 2012. Shareholders of record received one right for each outstanding share of common stock (“Common Share”) owned as of 5:00 p.m. Eastern time on the record date. The rights entitled holders to purchase one new Common Share of the Fund for every eight rights held (1-for-8). The subscription price was $9.57 per Common Share and was based on a formula equal to 112% of the Fund’s net asset value per Common Share at the close of trading on the expiration date. The offer was 84% subscribed. Common shares were issued to exercising rights holders after completion of subscription payments on or about Friday, September 28, 2012. The Fund is in the process of investing the net proceeds of the rights offering in accordance with its investment objectives and policies. In particular, the Fund is expanding its portfolio to include investments in midstream energy pipeline companies that are organized as master limited partnerships (MLPs).

The Connect America Fund — A National Broadband Plan: In 2012 the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) adopted changes to the deployment of its Universal Service Fund (USF). A significant portion of the USF will now be used to subsidize broadband Internet infrastructure available to Americans living in rural areas.

The USF has as its foundation The Communications Act of 1996. Section 254 of that Act characterizes universal telephone service as a cornerstone of the nation's communications system, and codifies the policy of Congress and the authority of the FCC to require telephone carriers to provide universal service.

The USF obtains monies by requiring wireline and wireless telephone service providers to contribute to the Fund from subscriber fees. This means that most of us pay a monthly fee in our phone bill to subsidize telephone service in those parts of the country that otherwise might be expensive to serve. From this beginning, the USF fund had expanded to encompass four funding programs: High Cost, Lifeline, Rural Health Care, and Schools and Libraries. In 2011, $8 billion in USF funds were spent, with $4 billion going to the original High Cost program.

Alexander Graham Bell held telephone patents that created a virtual monopoly until they expired in 1894. At that point unregulated competition between telephone exchange operating companies began. The rivalry between the Bell Telephone Company and independent telephone companies led to a race to wire the country for telecommunication services. The result was an extremely rapid advance in household and business telephone penetration and geographic coverage of the communications network.

Although competition led to the rapid spread of telecommunications, occasionally the competing telephone exchanges refused to interconnect with each other. Subscribers in the same city might not be able to call each other. They also might not be able to call users in other cities. After a great deal of debate, telephone companies were legislatively exempted from antitrust laws in order to make it possible for them to unify service by merging competing companies. The original concept of unified or universal service had emerged — phone companies would be granted monopoly rights in geographical areas in return for full regulation and an obligation to provide service to all — no matter how uneconomic.

More recently, in 2009, the new administration began planning its National Broadband Plan to promote affordability of high speed data services. In contrast to the early development of phone service, high speed data service is already widely available. Using a definition of broadband as a data speed of at least 1.5 Mbps, cable wired broadband is available to 85% of the U.S. population. Phone-based DSL broadband is available to 89%. Wireless broadband is available to 94%, and satellite broadband is available to 99% of the entire US population.

The new focus is on subsidizing broadband service overall and especially on subsidizing the build out of higher speed service. This has involved changing the existing, complicated system of USF subsidies and channeling some of those funds to broadband via the Connect American Fund (CAF). To date, the amount spent by the CAF has been minor, $115 million of public funding in the first phase. Its effect on companies' prospects has been even smaller.

The reform of USF funding and the changing rules affecting intercarrier compensation will have a much greater impact on telecommunications companies, especially the Rural Local Exchange Carrier. This is an area that will require continued focus going forward. In all of the sectors in which the Fund invests, Fund managers focus their efforts on understanding competitive and regulatory processes, and determining the companies and managements best suited to navigating the changing landscape and meeting the objectives of the Fund.

Board of Directors Meeting: At the regular November 2012 Board of Directors' meeting, the Board declared the following monthly dividends:

Cents Per Share	Record Date	Payable Date
6.5	December 31	January 10
6.5	January 31	February 11
6.5	February 28	March 11

About Your Fund: The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objectives by investing primarily in the public utility industries. Under normal market conditions, more than 65% of the Fund's total assets will be invested in a diversified portfolio of equity and fixed income securities of companies of public utility companies engaged in the production, transmission or distribution of electric energy, gas or telecommunication services. The Fund does not currently use derivatives and has no investments in complex or structured investment vehicles.

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a stable monthly dividend that is primarily derived from current fiscal year earnings and profits. The Investment Company Act of 1940 (1940 Act) and related Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) rules generally prohibit investment companies from distributing long-term capital gains more often than once in a twelve-month period. However, in 2008, the SEC granted the Fund's request for exemptive relief from that prohibition, and the Fund is now permitted, subject to certain conditions, to make periodic distributions of long-term capital gains as frequently as twelve times a year. In connection with the exemptive relief, in February 2008 the Board of Directors reaffirmed the current 6.5 cent per share monthly distribution rate and formalized the monthly distribution process by adopting a Managed Distribution Plan (MDP). The Board reviews the operation of the MDP on a quarterly basis, with the most recent review having been conducted at the November 2012 regular meeting, and retains an independent consultant to review the plan annually in February. The MDP is described on the inside front cover of this report and in a Question and Answer format on the Fund's website, www.dnpselectincome.com.

The Fund's monthly distribution may be derived from one or more of the following sources: net investment income, realized capital gains, and to the extent necessary to support the monthly distribution, return of capital. At the time of each distribution, the Fund is required to inform shareholders of the sources of its distributions based on U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). However, the tax treatment of the Fund's distributions can only be determined at the end of the fiscal year, and is reported to shareholders on Form 1099-DIV early in the following year.

The use of leverage enables the Fund to borrow at short-term rates and invest at longer-term rates. As of September 30, 2012 the Fund's leverage consisted of $138.2 million of Remarketed Preferred Stock (RP), $198.8 million of Auction Preferred Stock (APS), and $663 million of debt. On that date the total amount of leverage represented approximately 30% of the Fund's total assets. The amount and type of leverage used is reviewed by the Board of Directors based on the Fund's expected earnings relative to the anticipated costs (including fees and expenses) associated with the leverage. In addition, the long-term expected benefits of leverage are weighed against the potential effect of increasing the volatility of both the Fund's net asset value and the market value of its common stock. Historically, the tendency of the U.S. yield curve to exhibit a positive slope (i.e., long-term rates higher than short-term rates) has fostered an environment in which leverage can make a positive contribution to the earnings of the Fund. There is no assurance that this will continue to be the case in the future. If the use of leverage were to cease being beneficial, the amount and type of leverage employed by the Fund could potentially be modified or eliminated.

Early in 2008, disruptions in the short-term fixed income markets resulted in failures in the periodic auctions and remarketings of many closed-end fund's preferred shares, including the preferred shares of the Fund. After reviewing options for resolving preferred share illiquidity, in March 2009 management arranged a $1 billion credit facility with a commercial bank. Subsequent to the implementation of the credit facility, the Fund redeemed $300 million of RP and $300 million of APS, and in June 2012 the Fund tendered for additional shares which resulted in the current capital structure of the Fund.

Management of the Fund continues to seek ways to mitigate the impact of auction failures on preferred shareholders. The Fund is limited in its ability to use debt to refinance all of its outstanding preferred shares because of the asset coverage requirements of the 1940 Act and related SEC rules, and by guidelines established by the rating agencies as a condition of maintaining the current rating of the preferred shares. Accordingly, the exact timing of any share redemptions is uncertain, and it is unlikely that all of the Fund's outstanding preferred shares will be retired in the near future. The Fund will announce any redemption through press releases and postings to its website.

NOTES TO STATEMENT OF NET ASSETS
September 30, 2012
(Unaudited)

Note 1. Security Valuation

The Fund's investments are carried at fair value which is defined as the price that the Fund would receive upon selling an investment in a timely transaction to an independent buyer in the principal or most advantageous market of the investment. The three-tier hierarchy of inputs established to classify fair value measurements for disclosure purposes is summarized in the three broad levels listed below.

Level 1—quoted prices in active markets for identical securities

Level 2—other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment spreads, credit risks, etc.)

Level 3—significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining fair value of investments)

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in these securities. For more information about the Fund's policy regarding valuation of investments and other significant accounting policies, please refer to the Fund's most recent financial statements contained in its semi-annual report. The following is a summary of the inputs used to value each of the Fund's investments at September 30, 2012:

	Level 1	Level 2
Common stocks	$2,268,530,624	—
Preferred stocks	97,059,643	—
Bonds		$666,497,196
Total	$2,365,590,267	$666,497,196

There were no Level 3 priced securities held and there were no significant transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 during the quarter ended September 30, 2012.

Note 2. Federal Tax Cost

At December 31, 2011, the Fund's most recent fiscal tax year end, the tax cost of investments and aggregate gross unrealized appreciation (depreciation) were as follows:
