COHEN & STEERS QUALITY INCOME REALTY FUND, INC.

July 15, 2002

To Our Shareholders:

We are pleased to submit to you our report for the period ended June 30, 2002. The net asset value per common share at that date was $15.40. During the quarter the Fund declared and paid three $0.105 per share monthly dividends.

INVESTMENT REVIEW

For the quarter, Cohen & Steers Quality Income Realty Fund's total return, based on income and change in net asset value, was 4.8%, which compared to the NAREIT Equity REIT Index's* total return of 5.0%. Since its inception on February 28, 2002, the Fund's total return was 8.1%. The Fund's performance since its inception reflects the high cash position from the Fund's initial public offering and the proceeds from the Fund's subsequent issuance of $280 million in Auction Market Preferred Shares on April 4, 2002. Because REIT prices in general increased during the quarter, the large initial cash balance held by the Fund was a relative drag on performance. However, as the enclosed portfolio reflects, the Fund was essentially fully invested at quarter end.

In what has been characterized by the press as a 'grim' quarter for the financial markets (the S&P 500 Index declined 13.4%), REITs extended their winning streak, now to nearly two-and-a-half years, outperforming most asset classes during this period by an extraordinary margin. Despite the continued mild deterioration in real estate fundamentals, REIT share valuations expanded moderately in the quarter. In our opinion, this is the result of the market's anticipation of a recovery that will begin to take place, property type-by-property type, as an economic expansion begins to unfold. Based on performance in both the second quarter and the first half of the year, it appears that the market expects the Regional Mall (+25.0% in the first half of 2002), Hotel (+22.7%), and Industrial (+20.8%) sectors to be the first to recover.

The Apartment (+5.2%) and Office (+8.2%) sectors, although still producing positive returns, were exceptions to the powerful performance of REITs this year. Perhaps the most consistently strong sector of the economy has been single-family home construction. Low interest rates and the strong propensity of Americans to own their homes have created softness in many apartment markets. Exacerbating this has been developers' and owners' access to low-cost financing, which has helped create excess supply: multifamily construction has risen by about 10% from last year's levels, despite soft demand. Consequently, vacancy rates have risen and price competition is causing downward pressure on rental rates. While we are looking for these trends to abate, we have not yet seen any convincing sign that they are.

We remain cautiously optimistic with respect to the Office sector, despite the absence of signs that a meaningful recovery in occupancies and rents is in sight. In fact, continuing layoffs and expectations of relatively slow job growth have caused some analysts to expect no recovery in many office markets until late 2003 or even 2004. In contrast to the apartment market, however, current and prospective supply of new office space has declined dramatically: construction has declined 21% from last year's levels. Also, in contrast to the Apartment sector, most office owners are selling at above-average discounts to multiples of cash flow. This, in our opinion, suggests that the market is already discounting continued weakness in many office markets. Further, the lead time required to bring office space out of the ground is much longer than for any other property type. As a result, we believe that improving occupancies and rents may be evident sooner than many currently envision. We expect that, well before any upturn, and as conditions begin to stabilize, the shares of office owners will respond very positively.

In addition to the positive market performance of REITs so far this year, the other big story has been their much-improved access to equity and debt capital. The successful initial public offering of Heritage Property Investment Trust was the first REIT IPO since 1999. In addition, the $3.9 billion of common equity capital raised in the first half of the year places the industry in line to raise the most equity capital in several years, albeit well below the $14.6 billion raised in 1998 and the record $26.3 billion raised in 1997. REITs have also continued to take advantage of the favorable interest rate environment, raising $5.4 billion in unsecured debt in the first half of the year, up approximately 10% year over year. While much of this debt and equity capital has been used to finance property acquisitions, a great deal of it has been used to refinance existing or maturing high-cost debt. In either case, this capital was put to good use, enhancing most companies' current and long-term earnings potential.

The Fund benefited by its participation in a portion of this equity issuance in two ways. First, simultaneous with its IPO, the Fund invested over $210 million in the common stock of nine REITs. In effect, these securities were purchased at a slight discount to their market price, thereby increasing the initial Net Asset Value of the Fund from $14.30 per share to $14.57 per share. In addition, the Fund made purchases of newly issued stock directly from several other REITs (both common and preferred securities) subsequent to the IPO date, enabling the Fund to accelerate its initial investment program. As a result, the Fund was able to announce its first three dividends of $0.105/share on April 2, 2002; these dividends were subsequently paid on April 30, 2002, May 31, 2002 and June 28, 2002.

INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

Many have noted that in the first half of 2002 a record $2.8 billion flowed into real estate mutual funds, whose total assets of $15.4 billion at mid-year is also a record. Flows into mutual funds are considered by many to be a barometer of investor psychology and an influence over the movement of share prices. Many analysts and commentators have argued that the rise of REIT prices has had less to do with sound, or improving, fundamentals, than with the sheer power of money chasing this small group of stocks. On the contrary, we believe that the rise of REIT prices reflects an underlying trend that is much more powerful than the flow of capital into mutual funds.

We believe that the strength of REITs is based on the market's increased confidence in their stability of cash flows, the veracity of their financial disclosure, and the sustainability and growth potential of dividends. These features, sadly, are in stark contrast to the issues that are of greatest concern to investors today with respect to much of corporate America. Nowhere is this better reflected than in the debt market for REITs. As shown in the chart below, for the first time ever, REIT unsecured debt is now trading at a yield that is lower than comparably rated industrial companies. This has nothing to do with the flow of capital into mutual funds. Rather, this is the result of the rash of downgrades in corporate America and the bankruptcy or near-bankruptcy of companies that very recently had investment-grade credit ratings. In contrast, the market appears to have greater confidence in asset-based lending. This is not confined to the public market. Because the default rate on commercial mortgages continues to hover at a record-low level (less than 1%), financial institutions have continued to extend credit to real estate owners throughout the economic downturn.

To be sure, there are several things that must happen for REITs to continue to perform well. Foremost is that the economy must indeed continue on the path toward recovery, without which real estate conditions and the outlook for earnings will worsen. It is our sense that the market has already begun to factor a stronger economy with healthy job growth into REIT valuations. In addition, discipline must be maintained with respect to development so that any new demand for space is not immediately satisfied with new supply. Related to this, of course, is that the low interest rate environment and strength of real estate credit must not encourage speculative development unwarranted by fundamentals.

Despite the strong performance of REIT shares, we continue to view their valuations as well within fair and rational bounds. On average, REITs trade at around 10x cash flow, compared to a peak of 14x and a long-term average of 12x. Also on average, REITs are currently trading close to the net asset values of their underlying properties, a level that is consistent with the historical average. The direction of net asset value is an important factor for share prices, and the prospect of improving asset values as the real estate recovery proceeds gives us further confidence in current valuations. Importantly, based on the high current dividend yield of REITs, their exceptional dividend growth potential, and the prospect of total returns from other assets, which is barely more than REIT current yields alone, we believe that REITs should continue to deliver acceptable long-term total returns.

COHEN & STEERS QUALITY INCOME REALTY FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)

NOTE 1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cohen & Steers Quality Income Realty Fund, Inc. (the 'Fund') was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland on August 22, 2001 and is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company. The Fund had no operations until February 15, 2002 when it sold 7,000 shares of common stock for $100,275 to Cohen & Steers Capital Management, Inc. (the 'Investment Manager'). In addition, on February 27, 2002, the Investment Manager wired $1,701 to the Fund to pay the difference in net asset value ('NAV') of $14.325 on February 14, 2002 with the actual NAV of $14.568 at the closing on February 28, 2002. Investment operations commenced on February 28, 2002.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles in the United States of America. The preparation of the financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Portfolio Valuation: Investments in securities that are listed on the New York Stock Exchange are valued, except as indicated below, at the last sale price reflected at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the business day as of which such value is being determined. If there has been no sale on such day, the securities are valued at the mean of the closing bid and asked prices for the day. If no bid or asked prices are quoted on such day, then the security is valued by such method as the Board of Directors shall determine in good faith to reflect its fair market value.

Securities not listed on the New York Stock Exchange but listed on other domestic or foreign securities exchanges or admitted to trading on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations, Inc. ('NASDAQ') National Market System are valued in a similar manner. Securities traded on more than one securities exchange are valued at the last sale price on the business day as of which such value is being determined as reflected on the tape at the close of the exchange representing the principal market for such securities.

Readily marketable securities traded in the over-the-counter market, including listed securities whose primary market is believed by the Investment Manager to be over-the-counter, but excluding securities admitted to trading on the NASDAQ National List, are valued at the mean of the current bid and asked prices as reported by NASDAQ, the National Quotations Bureau or such other comparable sources as the Board of Directors deems appropriate to reflect their fair market value. However, certain fixed-income securities may be valued on the basis of prices provided by a pricing service when such prices are believed by the Board of Directors to reflect the fair market value of such securities. Where securities are traded on more than one exchange and also over-the-counter, the securities will generally be valued using the quotations the Board of Directors believes reflect most closely the value of such securities.

Short-term debt securities, which have a maturity of 60 days or less, are valued at amortized cost which approximates value.

Interest Rate Swaps: The Fund uses interest rate swaps in connection with the sale of Taxable Auction Market Preferred Shares. In an interest rate swap, the Fund agrees to pay the other party to the interest rate swap (which is known as the 'Counterparty') a fixed rate payment in exchange for the Counterparty agreeing to pay the Fund a variable rate payment that is intended to approximate the Fund's variable rate payment obligation on the Taxable Auction Market Preferred Shares. The payment obligation is based on the notional amount of the swap. Depending on the state of interest rates in general, the use of interest rate swaps could enhance or harm the overall performance of the common shares. The market value of interest rate swaps is based on pricing models that consider the time value of money, volatility, the current market and contractual prices of the underlying financial instrument.

Security Transactions and Investment Income: Security transactions are recorded on trade date. Realized gains and losses on investments sold are recorded on the basis of identified cost for accounting and tax purposes. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Discounts and premiums of securities purchased are amortized using the scientific method over their respective lives.

Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders: Dividends from net investment income are declared and paid to common shareholders monthly. Dividends to shareholders are recorded on the exdividend date. A portion of the Fund's dividend may consist of amounts in excess of net investment income derived from non-taxable components of the dividends from the Fund's portfolio investments. Net realized capital gains, unless offset by any available capital loss carryforward, are distributed to shareholders annually.

Dividends from net investment income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with U.S. Federal income tax regulations which may differ from generally accepted accounting principals.

Series T, Series TH, and Series F preferred shares pay dividends based on a variable interest rate set at auctions, normally held every seven days. Dividends for Series T, Series TH, and Series F preferred shares are accrued for the subsequent seven day period on the auction date. In most instances, dividends are payable every seven days, on the first business day following the end of the dividend period.

Series W preferred shares pay dividends based on a variable interest rate set at auctions, normally held every 28 days. Dividends for Series W preferred shares are accrued for the subsequent 28 day period on the auction date. In most instances, dividends are payable every 28 days, on the first business day following the end of the dividend period.

Federal Income Taxes: It is the policy of the Fund to qualify as a regulated investment company, if such qualification is in the best interest of the shareholders, by complying with the requirements of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies, and by distributing substantially all of its taxable earnings to its shareholders. Accordingly, no provision for Federal income or excise tax is necessary.

NOTE 2. INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT FEES, ADMINISTRATION FEES AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES.

Investment Management Fees: Cohen & Steers Capital Management, Inc. (the 'Investment Manager') serves as the investment manager to the Fund, pursuant to an Investment Management Agreement (the 'Management Agreement'). The Investment Manager furnishes a continuous investment program for the Fund's portfolio, makes the day-to-day investment decisions for the Fund and generally manages the Fund's investments in accordance with the stated policies of the Fund, subject to the general supervision of the Board of Directors of the Fund. The Investment Manager also performs certain administrative services for the Fund. For the services under the Management Agreement, the Fund pays the Investment Manager a monthly management fee, computed daily and payable monthly at an annual rate of 0.85% of the Fund's average daily managed asset value. Managed asset value is the net asset value of the common shares plus the liquidation preference of the preferred shares. For the period February 28, 2002 (commencement of operations) through June 30, 2002, the Fund incurred investment management fees of $2,183,916.

Edgar Filing: COHEN & STEERS QUALITY INCOME REALTY FUND INC - Form N-30D

The Investment Manager has contractually agreed to waive its investment management fee in the amount of 0.32% of average daily managed asset value for the first 5 fiscal year of the Fund's operations, 0.26% of average daily managed asset value in year 6, 0.20% of average daily managed asset value in year 7, 0.14% of average daily managed asset value in year 8, 0.08% of average daily managed asset value in year 9 and 0.02% of average daily managed asset value in year 10. As long as this expense cap continues, it may lower the Fund's expenses and increase its total return. For the period February 28, 2002 (commencement of operations) through June 30, 2002, the Investment Manager waived management fees of $822,180.

Administration Fees: Pursuant to an administration agreement, the Investment Manager also performs certain administrative and accounting functions for the Fund and receives a fee of 0.02% of the Fund's average daily managed asset value. For the period February 28, 2002 (commencement of operations) through June 30, 2002, the Fund incurred $51,386 in administration fees.

Director's Fees: Certain directors and officers of the Fund are also directors, officers and/or employees of the Investment Manager. None of the directors and officers so affiliated received compensation from the Fund for their services as directors and/or officers. Fees and related expenses accrued for non-affiliated directors totaled $15,505 for the period February 28, 2002 (commencement of operations) through June 30, 2002.
