Dear Fellow H&R Block Shareholders:

The H&R Block Annual Meeting scheduled for Thursday, September 6, 2007 is approaching quickly. We believe you should be aware that the two largest independent shareholder-advisory firms, Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) and Glass, Lewis & Co. (Glass Lewis), have each recommended a vote for all three of the Breeden Partners candidates for election to the board. I attach our press release announcing the ISS recommendation, which includes excerpts of some of ISS 's key observations. While we have not yet done a similar release concerning the Glass Lewis report released earlier today, it also highlights the Company 's weak performance in generating shareholder value and recommends the election of all three Breeden Partners nominees.

Both of these highly respected independent proxy advisory firms considered the arguments that the Company has made during this proxy campaign, as well as the analysis of Breeden Partners in support of change in the membership of the incumbent board of directors. Both considered the candidates for election on each of the separate slates. After careful study, both ISS and Glass Lewis endorsed the election of all three Breeden Partners nominees.

To follow the recommendation of ISS and Glass Lewis, and to help bring a strong shareholder voice to the H&R Block Boardroom, please vote for our nominees by voting the BLUE proxy card TODAY.

Respectfully,
Richard C. Breeden
Breeden Partners, L.P.

Time is Short! Please Vote Your Shares Promptly!

The Annual Meeting is scheduled for September 6, 2007. Your vote is very important. Please sign, date and mail the enclosed BLUE proxy card today or vote by telephone or internet. Please vote every BLUE proxy card that you receive since each account in which you own shares must be voted separately. Only your latest dated proxy card counts.

If you have any questions on how to vote your shares, please contact our proxy solicitor

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ISS RECOMMENDS H&R BLOCK SHAREHOLDERS VOTE IN FAVOR OF ALL THREE BREEDEN PARTNERS NOMINEES

The long-term financial and operational performance of the company and the dissidents' skill sets and track record establish both the need for change and the dissidents' ability to effect change.

[I]t appears that the company has batted below the Mendoza line when it comes to its diversification strategy.

We believe that HRB's performance and strategic decisions tend to indicate that the board has not adequately overseen management.

[W]e recommend shareholders support all three dissident candidates.

Greenwich, CT., August 22, 2007. Breeden Capital Management LLC, a Greenwich, CT., based investment fund manager, today announced that Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS), an independent proxy advisory firm, has recommended to its worldwide clients a vote for all three nominees of Breeden Partners to the board of H&R Block at the Company's upcoming annual meeting. To follow ISS's recommendation, HRB shareholders should vote FOR the Breeden Partner's director nominees on the BLUE proxy card and not sign or return H&R Block's white proxy card.

Poor Performance. The ISS report reviews the performance of H&R Block over the past five years, and finds:

Over the past five years, the company's shares have underperformed the S&P 500 index by 92%. Since June 2004 (the IPO of JTX), HRB has underperformed its direct competitor by approximately 80%.

"[W]e conclude the company has underperformed over the long term, above and beyond the company's recent difficulties arising from its mortgage business.

Failed Diversification Strategy and Poor Execution. ISS observes that:

It does not appear that the company's strategy of diversification has resulted in the hoped-for synergies...

"[I]t appears that the company has batted below the Mendoza line when it comes to its diversification strategy.

In sum, we conclude that the company has made some key operational missteps over recent years, which calls into question the adequacy of the board's oversight of management and strategy.

Board Change is Warranted. ISS reviews the arguments of both sides regarding the company's performance and the adequacy of the current board's oversight, and finds that there is a need for change.

After evaluating the dissident and incumbent arguments with respect to the company's financial and shareholder return performance, strategic track record and governance profile, we conclude the dissidents have met their burden of proving that board change is warranted.

New Directors to Add Value. ISS reviews the specific candidates of both the incumbent directors and the three nominees of Breeden Partners. It states:

"[O]n balance we conclude that the presence of the three dissidents on the HRB board would likely prove beneficial to long-term shareholder value.

The KPMG Issue. ISS carefully reviewed the arguments of the company's management that election of Mr. Breeden or any of Breeden Partners nominees could impair the independence of KPMG, the company's independent auditors. In a complete rejection of management's arguments, ISS notes that Mr. Breeden's role at KPMG as monitor on behalf of the U.S. Department of Justice should be put into perspective.

ISS notes that Mr. Breeden's role:

is related to that firm's tax practice, not its audit business. KPMG has not appeared troubled by Breeden's similar role at other companies. Moreover, as a former SEC Chairman who over the years became the US government's go to guy to oversee companies suffering from ethical turmoil, we believe that Breeden has a hard-earned reputation for integrity to protect that mitigates against any incentive for him to misuse his position.

Noting management's arguments concerning KPMG, ISS concludes:

"In the worst case scenario, KPMG could decide to resign as auditor. In our view, however, any cost or disruption has to be weighed against the opportunity cost of not changing the board's composition. We believe that, in this case, given HRB's poor long term returns, these concerns should take second priority.

Richard C. Breeden, Chairman and CEO of Breeden Partners, said "We are pleased that ISS has recommended the election of all three of the Breeden Partners nominees. To follow this recommendation, VOTE BLUE.

Mr. Breeden also noted, "This recommendation from ISS is a key moment in this proxy campaign. Rejecting the strident arguments of management, ISS has concluded that the interests of shareholders will best be served by electing all of the Breeden Partners' nominees. We hope that this election will begin the process of transition to a new era for H&R Block.
