ANNOUNCEMENT OF 2001 RESULTS

On March 15, 2002, Reliant Resources, Inc. ("Reliant Resources" and, together with its subsidiaries, the "Company") reported fourth quarter 2001 and year 2001 earnings. For additional information regarding Reliant Resources' fourth quarter 2001 earnings and its year 2001 earnings, please refer to Reliant Resources' press release attached to this report as Exhibit 99.1 (the "Press Release"), which Press Release, other than the information therein under the caption "Outlook for 2002," is incorporated by reference herein. Reliant Resources also announced changes to its second and third quarter 2001 earnings. For additional information regarding these restated earnings, please see the Press Release under the caption "Restatement of Earnings for Second and Third Quarters of 2001" as well as "Restatement of Second and Third Quarter Earnings" below.

MANAGEMENT PRESENTATION AND CONFERENCE CALL

On March 15, 2002, executives of Reliant Resources spoke to the public, as well as various members of the financial and investment community in Houston, Texas regarding Reliant Resources' 2001 results and the 2002 outlook of Reliant Resources. A copy of the slide presentation given at this presentation is attached to this report as Exhibit 99.2 (the "Slide Presentation"), and slides six through ten thereof, are incorporated by reference herein. A replay of this presentation has been made available on Reliant Resources' web site found at www.ReliantResources.com in the Investor Relations section and will be archived for 25 days after the event. In addition, a replay of the presentation can be accessed until March 21, 2002, 9 p.m. Houston time, by calling (800) 642-1687 (Conference I.D. 3444270).

RESTATEMENT OF SECOND AND THIRD QUARTER EARNINGS

The Company is providing information concerning a required restatement of its Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q ("Interim Financial Statements") for the quarters ended June 30, 2001 and September 30, 2001. As a result, the previously issued Interim Financial Statements for these periods should not be relied upon.

Background. In early 2001, the Company's forecasts indicated a substantial increase in earnings as a result of price volatility in the California power markets. The Company did not believe that the early 2001 price levels were sustainable over subsequent years. As a result, the Company determined that its key financial metrics would be improved if it entered into physical delivery contracts with end-user customers in which the Company would sell power at a levelized price over the 2001-2003 or longer time frame. The result of this type of transaction would have provided the end-user with a favorable price in 2001 and provided the Company with a favorable price in subsequent years. This energy marketing approach would have advantages for both parties to the long-term contracts. The Company would have reduced the variability of future cash flows and the end-user would have reduced pricing volatility. The Company had been in negotiations with a large end-user customer over precisely such an arrangement since late 2000. By late Spring 2001, it became clear that a final agreement with that customer was unlikely. At this point, the Company began to look for similar deals with other end user customers, a process that evolved into the structured transactions discussed below.

Discussion of Accounting Restatement. On February 5, 2002, the Company announced that it was restating its earnings for the second and third quarters of 2001. As more fully described below, the restatement relates to a correction in accounting treatment for a series of four structured transactions that were inappropriately accounted for as cash flow hedges for the period of May 2001 through September 2001.

During the May 2001 through September 2001 time frame, the Company entered into a series of four structured transactions that were intended to increase future cash flow and earnings and to increase certainty associated with future cash flow and earnings, albeit at the expense of 2001 cash flow and earnings. It was contemplated that the structured transactions would qualify for hedge accounting under the Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities," as amended ("SFAS No. 133"). The transactions were recorded in the Company's cash flow hedge accounting records and were, in effect, overlaid on existing contracts entered into as hedges. In general, each structured transaction involved a series of forward contracts to buy and sell an energy commodity in 2001 and to buy and sell an energy commodity in 2002 or 2003. Each series of contracts in a structure were executed contemporaneously with the same counterparty and were for the same commodities, quantities and locations. The contracts in each structure were offsetting in terms of physical attributes. In two of the four structured transactions, a series of contracts were entered into with the same counterparty to mitigate credit exposure (the "credit mitigation contracts"). These credit mitigation contracts mirrored the cash flows and terms from the other contracts in the structure, except for an upfront demand payment made to the counterparty in these two transactions. In addition, in contemplation of one of the structured transactions, in August 2001, the Company entered into forward contracts with a different counterparty to buy and sell natural gas, a portion of which was inappropriately recorded in the fourth quarter of 2001. The counterparties to all of the structured transactions were independent third parties that are regularly engaged in the energy trading business.

While each contract in each structure was not at market at inception, the contracts were intended to be at market in total, so the structure had little or no fair value at inception. Under the original accounting treatment, however, the Company recorded each applicable contract in its hedge accounting records on an individual basis, resulting in the recognition of a non-trading derivative asset or liability on the balance sheet with an offsetting entry in accumulated other comprehensive income at inception for each contract. Such accounting treatment resulted in a net loss being recorded in 2001 and ultimately would result in income being recorded for 2002 and 2003 related to these four structured transactions. In this situation, the recognition of other comprehensive income was in error, because the fair value of each contract in each structure resulted not from changes in the fair value of any anticipated transaction, but rather from the fact that the individual contracts were not at market at inception.

Having further reviewed the transactions, the Company now believes the contracts should have been accounted for as a unit within each structured transaction rather than separately and that, viewed as such, they did not qualify as cash flow hedges under SFAS No. 133. Consequently, these contracts should have been accounted for as derivatives with changes in fair value recognized through the income statement.

As a result, the Company's Interim Financial Statements and related disclosures as of June 30, 2001 and September 30, 2001 and for the three months ended June 30, 2001 and September 30, 2001, will be restated from amounts previously reported to appropriately account for the transactions as described above. Therefore, the Company will report an increase in net income as compared to earnings shown in previously issued Interim Financial Statements filed on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended June 30, 2001 and September 30, 2001 of $53 million and $81 million, respectively.

Audit Committee Review. At the time of the Company's public announcement of its intention to restate its reporting of the structured transactions, the Audit Committees of the Company and its parent, Reliant Energy, Incorporated, instructed the Company to conduct an internal audit review to determine whether there were any other transactions included in the asset books as cash flow hedges that failed to meet the cash flow hedge requirements under SFAS No. 133. This targeted internal audit review found no other similar transactions. The Audit Committees also directed an internal investigation by outside legal counsel of the facts and circumstances leading to the restatement, which investigation has been completed. To address the issues identified in that process, the Company expects to take remedial actions, including, among other things, changes in organizational structure and enhancement of internal controls and procedures.
