Item 8.01 Other Events.

On October 7, 2005, Reliance Steel & Aluminum Co. (Reliance) and its wholly-owned subsidiary RSAC Management Corp. (RSAC), both California corporations, entered into a Share Subscription and Shareholders Agreement with New Wave Technologies, Ltd., a corporation organized under the laws of Singapore (New Wave), and its associate, Manufacturing Network Pte. Ltd., a corporation organized under the laws of Singapore (MNPL), with the intent and purpose to form a joint venture to operate as a corporation under the name Reliance Pan Pacific Pte. Ltd. (RPP). RPP is to be organized under the laws of Singapore and is to be owned 70% by RSAC and 30% by MNPL. MNPL owns all of the registered capital of Everest Metals (Suzhou) Co., Ltd., a corporation organized under the laws of the People's Republic of China (Everest Metals), which is a metals service center company operating near Shanghai in the People's Republic of China. If the requisite approvals are obtained (both from the New Wave shareholders and from the applicable governmental authorities), and Reliance successfully completes its due diligence, it is expected that RPP will acquire all of the registered capital of Everest Metals from MNPL. Everest Metals' 2004 revenues were approximately $2.5 million. The purchase price and other terms and conditions of the proposed acquisition were determined by negotiations between the parties. Neither New Wave nor MNPL nor any of their respective officers or directors is affiliated with Reliance.
