Those proposals and the reasons the Company believes the proposals are not in stockholders' best interests are set forth in the enclosed Proxy Statement. The Proxy Statement also outlines the business plan adopted by the Company aimed at reducing the discount between the Company's net asset value and stock price.

Your board of directors is committed to serving the best interests of the Company and all stockholders. PROXY STATEMENT

2002 Annual Meeting of Stockholders

The proxy that accompanies this statement is being solicited by the Board of Directors (the Board) of Brantley Capital Corporation (the Company) for use at the 2002 Annual Meeting of Stockholders (the Meeting) to be held on August 8, 2002, or at any adjournment thereof. This proxy statement was first mailed on or about July 2, 2002 to stockholders of record on June 28, 2002.

Any stockholder giving a proxy for the Meeting may revoke it before it is exercised by giving a later dated proxy, or by giving notice of revocation to the Company in writing or at the Meeting. However, the mere presence at the Meeting of the stockholder does not revoke the proxy. Unless revoked as stated above, the shares of common stock represented by valid proxies will be voted on all matters to be acted upon at the Meeting. On any matter or matters with respect to which the proxy contains instructions for voting, such shares will be voted in accordance with such instructions. Abstentions and broker non-votes will be deemed to be present for the purpose of determining a quorum for the Meeting, but shares that are voted as abstentions and broker non-votes, together with any other shares not voted at the Meeting, will be deemed not voting on the issues or matters as to which abstention is applicable. A broker non-vote exists where a broker proxy indicates that the broker is not authorized to vote on a particular proposal. Brokers who have not received voting instructions from beneficial owners generally may vote in their discretion with respect to the election of directors and the ratification of the selection of the Company's independent public accountant. With respect to the election of directors, proxies cannot be voted for a greater number of persons than the number of nominees named.

The cost of solicitation of proxies in the form accompanying this statement will be borne by the Company. Proxies will be solicited by mail or by telephone or personal interview with an officer or regular employee of the Company, or by requesting brokers and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries to forward proxy soliciting material to the beneficial owners of shares of common stock held of record by such brokers, custodians, nominees or fiduciaries, each of whom will be reimbursed by the Company for its expenses in so doing. In addition, the Company has retained Georgeson Shareholder Communications, Inc., a professional proxy soliciting firm, to assist in the solicitation of proxies and will pay such firm a fee estimated to be $15,000, plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses.

The record date for determination of stockholders entitled to vote at the Meeting is June 28, 2002. As of June 28, 2002, the outstanding voting securities of the Company consisted of 3,810,535 shares of common stock. Each share of common stock has one vote. The presence, in person or by proxy, of the holders of a majority of the common stock of the Company outstanding and entitled to be cast shall constitute a quorum for the purposes of the Meeting.

As you may be aware, Phillip Goldstein of Opportunity Partners, L.P. has announced his intention to commence a hostile proxy contest, and the Company believes that he will distribute his own proxy solicitation materials (the Dissident Proxy) to our stockholders. Mr. Goldstein will attempt to solicit your vote for the purpose, among other things, of electing two of his colleagues as directors of your Company. As discussed in more detail below, the directors other than Mr. Goldstein believe that Mr. Goldstein will nominate Andrew Dakos and Gerald Hellerman (the Dissident Nominees) for positions on the board of directors to further Mr. Goldstein's personal agenda, which is reflected in his other proposals, discussed below. The directors' reasons for strongly opposing the Dissident Nominees and Mr. Goldstein's other proposals are set forth in the Opposition Statements included in this Proxy Statement. Please give this material your careful attention.

Organization and Compensation of the Board of Directors

The board of directors has established an audit committee, a compensation committee, an executive committee and a nominating committee. During 2001, the board of directors held eight regularly scheduled meetings. All directors attended at least 75% of the aggregate number of meetings of the board of directors and of the respective committees on which they served.

Audit Committee

The audit committee has oversight responsibilities with respect to the Company's financial audit and reporting process, system of internal controls, and process for monitoring compliance with law and with the Company's Code of Conduct. The audit committee is also responsible for maintaining open communication between and among the audit committee, management and the independent public accountants. Notwithstanding the above, the audit committee is not responsible for conducting audits, preparing financial statements, or assuring the accuracy of financial statements or filings, all of which is the responsibility of management and the outside auditors. The audit committee, which is currently composed of Messrs. Goldstein, Saltz and Smith, held five meetings during 2001. Each member of the Audit Committee is considered independent under the rules promulgated by the Nasdaq Stock Market.

The audit committee performs its oversight functions and responsibilities pursuant to a written charter adopted by the board of directors. A copy of the audit committee charter was included as an appendix to the Company's proxy statement for the 2001 Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

Compensation Committee

The function of the compensation committee is to assist the board of directors in evaluating and recommending compensation of the senior executives of the Company and to administer the Company's stock option plan in accordance with the terms thereof, including the designation of which officers and employees of the Company shall receive stock options, and the number of shares which should be subject to each option so granted. The compensation committee, which is currently composed of Messrs. Bales, Bryan and Saltz, held one meeting in connection with a meeting of the board of directors during 2001.

Executive Committee

The function of the executive committee is to assist the board in carrying out its responsibilities. The executive committee has and may exercise those rights, powers and authority as may be exercised by the full board, except where action by the full board is required by statute, an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission or the Company's charter or bylaws. The executive committee is composed of Messrs. Pinkas, Oliver and Finn. The committee did not meet during 2001.

Nominating Committee

The function of the nominating committee is to recommend candidates for the board of directors. The nominating committee is currently composed of Messrs. Pinkas and Finn, who are both interested persons of the Company as defined in the Investment Company Act, with one vacant seat. The nominating committee held one meeting in conjunction with a meeting of the board of directors during 2001. The nominating committee will consider nominees recommended by stockholders; stockholders may send resumes of recommended persons to the attention of Robert P. Pinkas, Chief Executive Officer, Brantley Capital Corporation, 20600 Chagrin Boulevard, Suite 1150, Cleveland, Ohio 44122.

Compensation of Executive Officers and Directors

The following table sets forth the compensation of the Company's directors, none of whom is an employee of the Company. Except as set forth in such table, no other compensation was paid to any director (including those who also serve as executive officers) by the Company or any other entity in the Company's fund complex during 2001. No information has been provided with respect to executive officers of the Company (other than those who also serve as directors), since none of them receives aggregate compensation from the Company and the Company's fund complex in excess of $60,000.

These amounts represent certain assumed rates of appreciation, as mandated by the SEC. Actual gains, if any, or stock option exercises are dependent on the future performance of the shares, overall market conditions, and the continued employment by the Company of the option holder. The potential realizable value will not necessarily be realized.

Stock Option Plan

The Company's 1996 Stock Option Plan (the "Stock Option Plan") permits the granting of nonqualified stock options to officers and employees of the Company. All officers of the Company are eligible to be selected to participate in the Stock Option Plan. At present, the Company has no employees. The Stock Option Plan is administered by the compensation committee of the board of directors, which selects the persons who are eligible to participate and determines the number of options to be granted.

The number of shares of common stock available for grant under the Stock Option Plan is 1,175,000, subject to certain adjustments. Options granted under the Stock Option Plan are exercisable at a price not less than the greater of (i) the current market value (as defined in the Stock Option Plan) on the date of option grant and (ii) the current net asset value of the shares of common stock. Options become exercisable to the extent of one-third of the subject shares after one year from the grant date, two-thirds of the subject shares after two years from the grant date and all subject shares after three years from the grant date.

The Company's Disinterested Director Option Plan (the "Director Option Plan") permits the granting of non-qualified stock options to the directors of the Company who are not employees or officers. All such directors of the Company are eligible to be selected to participate in the Director Option Plan, which is administered by the compensation committee of the board of directors. In order for options to be issued to the non-employee directors, the Company obtained exemptive relief from the SEC. Under the terms of the exemptive order and the Director Option Plan Agreement, each qualified director will be granted an option to purchase 2,000 shares upon their initial appointment to the board of directors. Throughout the term of the plan and immediately following each annual meeting of stockholders of the Company, each qualified director then serving on the Company's board of directors will be granted options to purchase 2,000 additional shares, subject to adjustment. Such option grants were made retroactively by the Company to its formation. As a result, the three original qualifying directors who served on the Company's board of directors since the Company's formation received options to purchase 6,000 shares each. The remaining qualifying directors who served on the Company's board of directors since 1998 each received options to purchase 2,000 shares of common stock.

Report of the Audit Committee

The audit committee has reviewed and discussed with the Company's management the audited financial statements of the Company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001. The audit committee has also discussed with Arthur Andersen LLP, the Company's independent public accountants, all matters required to be discussed by the Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61. The audit committee has received the written disclosures and the letter from Arthur Andersen LLP required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 and has discussed with Arthur Andersen LLP its independence.

Based on the review and discussions noted above, and consistent with the roles and responsibilities referred to above and in the audit committee's charter, the audit committee recommended to the board of directors that the audited financial statements be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 for filing with the SEC.

PROPOSAL 2: RATIFICATION OF SELECTION OF

INDEPENDENT PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT

The board of directors has selected KPMG LLP as independent public accountants for the Company for the year ending December 31, 2002. The Company will no longer engage Arthur Andersen LLP as its independent accountants. The decision to change independent accountants was approved by the Company's audit committee and board of directors and is subject to ratification or rejection by the stockholders of the Company.

KPMG LLP has advised the Company that neither the firm nor any present member or associate of it has any material financial interest, direct or indirect, in the Company. The Company also has not consulted with KPMG LLP during the last two years or subsequent interim periods on either the application of accounting principles to a specified transaction either completed or proposed or the type of audit opinion KPMG LLP might issue on the Company's financial statements.

It is expected that a representative of KPMG LLP will be present at the Meeting and will have an opportunity to make a statement if he or she so chooses and will be available to answer questions.

In connection with the audits of Arthur Andersen for the two most recent fiscal years, (1) there were no disagreements with Arthur Andersen on any matter of accounting principle or practice, financial statement disclosure, auditing scope or procedure, whereby such disagreements, if not resolved to the satisfaction of Arthur Andersen, would have caused them to make reference thereto in their report on the financial statements for such years; and (2) there has been no reportable events (as defined in Item 304(a)(1)(v) of Regulation S-K).

The reports of Arthur Andersen on the financial statements of the Company for the past two years contained no adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion and were not qualified or modified as to uncertainty, audit scope or accounting principle.

The Company requested that Arthur Andersen furnish a letter addressed to the SEC stating whether or not Arthur Andersen agreed with certain of the above statements. A copy of such letter has been filed with a Form 8-K filed with the SEC on June 10, 2002.

It is not expected that a representative of Arthur Andersen LLP will be present at the Meeting.

Arthur Andersen had advised the Company that neither the firm nor any present member or associate of it had any material financial interest, direct or indirect, in the Company. The Company also had not consulted with Arthur Andersen during the last two years or subsequent interim periods on either the application of accounting principles to a specified transaction either completed or proposed or the type of audit opinion Arthur Andersen might issue on the Company's financial statements. However, Arthur Andersen provided due diligence services in connection with proposed as well as completed investment transactions by the Company and its affiliates.

The favorable vote of a majority of the shares voting on this proposal is required for ratification of the selection of KPMG LLP as the Company's independent public accountant for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2002. The persons named in the accompanying proxy intend to vote proxies received by them in favor of this proposal unless a choice "Against" or "Abstain" is specified.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS VOTING FOR RATIFICATION OF THE SELECTION OF KPMG LLP AS THE INDEPENDENT PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT OF THE COMPANY FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 2002.

OPPOSITION STATEMENT

The board of directors opposes Mr. Goldstein's attempt to elect the Dissident Nominees to your Company's board of directors and to liquidate the Company. We recommend that stockholders support their board of directors by voting for Mr. Oliver and Mr. Bryan.

Why is Mr. Goldstein proposing the Dissident Nominees?

If you are not already familiar with Mr. Goldstein, we would like to provide you with some information about him and his motives. Mr. Goldstein runs a private investment partnership and is widely known in the closed-end fund industry as someone who targets companies whose stock trades at a discount to net asset value in order to pursue a reorganization to benefit his short-term financial goals. His typical method is to attempt to "open-end" a closed-end fund (i.e., causing it to no longer be traded on an exchange and to operate like a mutual fund and be sold at net asset value) to increase his personal profit at the expense of long-term stockholders.

To our knowledge, the Company is the first business development company (BDC) that he has targeted, and we believe he is seeking to increase his representation on the board in order to attempt to liquidate the Company. Because a BDC invests primarily in privately issued illiquid securities, it differs fundamentally from other types of closed-end funds, which typically invest in securities traded in liquid public markets. Thus, liquidation is, we believe, fundamentally inconsistent with the illiquid nature of the Company's portfolio. We believe Mr. Goldstein has failed to do his homework on this occasion. His lack of knowledge of how a BDC invests, operates and eventually returns value to its stockholders has caused him to miss the fundamental point that liquidation would be extremely detrimental to our stockholders.

Although Mr. Goldstein claims to be a stockholder activist, the Company believes nothing could be further from the truth and that, in reality, Mr. Goldstein's interests are not aligned with the long term interests of the Company or its stockholders. In fact, Mr. Goldstein told the Company in writing that he and another large investor, Richard Barone with Fifth Third Bancorp, Inc., were willing to be bought out in a private transaction for a price in excess of $13.00 per share. How can he claim to be representing all stockholders if he was so eager to cut a private deal for himself and Mr. Barone? In the Company's opinion, board membership carries with it the fiduciary responsibility to protect the interests of all stockholders, regardless of any opportunities that may arise for a select few. The Company believes that Mr. Goldstein is seeking to increase his influence on the board primarily to advance his narrow, private agenda of achieving short-term personal profit, irrespective of the effects his actions will have on other stockholders.

What can we expect from Mr. Goldstein and his Dissident Nominees?

Mr. Goldstein wants you to believe that the current directors are not adequately safeguarding stockholder interests and urges you to turn over the leadership to him and his colleagues. The board has serious concerns about the qualifications of the Dissident Nominees given their complete lack of experience with business development companies.

The Dissident Nominees have only gained experience on the boards of closed-end fund companies by waging expensive and disruptive proxy contests against incumbent boards, often combined with proposals to open-end or liquidate funds. It appears that Mr. Hellerman and Mr. Dakos' primary experience has been as directors or nominees of funds Mr. Goldstein has engaged in proxy contests. Mr. Dakos' primary occupation is president of a printing company, and Mr. Hellerman is a consultant. According to the submission Mr. Goldstein made to the Company announcing his intention to nominate Messrs. Dakos and Hellerman, it appears that most of the directorships the Dissident Nominees hold are in companies targeted by Mr. Goldstein.

In contrast to the Dissident Nominees, Mr. Oliver and Mr. Bryan have considerable experience serving as directors of a BDC. Messrs. Oliver and Bryan's years of experience have afforded them the required leadership skills that best serve the needs of all stockholders and not merely those seeking short-term profits from short-sighted strategies.

In our opinion, one of the critical duties of an effectively functioning board is a commitment by all board members to work together to oversee the Company's operations. Since Mr. Goldstein was appointed to the board last year, he has failed to demonstrate a willingness to work with the current board, and we believe that electing the Dissident Nominees would only exacerbate the situation. We believe the Dissident Nominees have acted to advance Mr. Goldstein's short-term interests in the past at the expense of long-term investors and that their only goal is to liquidate the Company.

In May 2001, after negotiations begun at the behest of Mr. Goldstein, the board agreed to add Mr. Goldstein to the board in exchange for the withdrawal by Mr. Goldstein of his stockholder proposals. The board also agreed to ask the Company's investment adviser to recommend measures to maximize stockholder value in the event that the net asset value of the Company has not appreciated by a minimum of 15% per annum for the seven-year period ending December 31, 2003. Although the Company has so far achieved the 15% goal, Mr. Goldstein has attempted to thwart the efforts of the board and management to achieve long-term stable returns for investors every chance he gets.

Last September, the board determined that an appropriate way to grow the Company and enhance stockholder value was to raise funds in an underwritten offering, the proceeds of which were to be used to expand the Company's mezzanine investment portfolio. After receiving feedback from stockholders, including Mr. Goldstein, the Company revised the offering to reduce the number of shares being sold and to establish a minimum price at which the shares could be sold. The revised proposal, although it did not achieve the necessary vote under the Investment Company Act of 1940, did receive the approval of a majority of the shares voting.

Mr. Goldstein did not support the original proposal and, in fact, actively campaigned against it. He then voted as a director in favor of the revised proposal, yet he voted his shares against the offering proposal.

The only growth initiative that Mr. Goldstein has ever proposed to the Company was a rights offering. However, when the board decided to undertake a rights offering, Mr. Goldstein voted against it.

Now his only suggestion is to conduct a proxy contest to load his nominees on the board and destroy the Company by putting a for sale sign on the Company's assets through pursuing liquidation.

The only constant with Mr. Goldstein is his apparent desire to maximize his own personal profit. He continues to attempt to hamstring every effort the board makes to increase value for its stockholders. Board membership carries with it certain fiduciary responsibilities including the legal and ethical duty to protect the interests of all stockholders. Mr. Goldstein's proposal to liquidate the Company in conjunction with his attempt to elect additional Dissident Nominees indicates clearly that Mr. Goldstein is seeking additional board seats purely for personal financial reasons and that he places his own interests above the best interest of stockholders.

What is Mr. Goldstein's goal in proposing the Dissident Nominees?

Mr. Goldstein wants to liquidate your Company. The Board is deeply concerned by Mr. Goldstein's complete silence as to the potential negative effects of his proposal to your investment in the Company. The Board believes that his vague proposal as set forth in his press release dated June 13, 2002 dramatically and significantly misrepresents the consequences of liquidation to the Company. Mr. Goldstein has not offered any rationale for his recommendation to liquidate the Company, nor has he presented any alternative course of action that might benefit stockholders.

Liquidation is not a viable option. Unlike the closed-end funds that invest in publicly traded securities and that generally have an active trading market with which Mr. Goldstein has some experience, BDCs, such as the Company, invest primarily in illiquid securities of private companies for which there is no market. Announcing a liquidation would not maximize value for stockholders. In fact, it would have the opposite effect as buyers would discount their prices as a result of their knowledge that this is a forced sale. Effecting a liquidation would likely cause the Company to accept far lower proceeds for its investments than it could realize if those investments were held long enough for the Company to exit in an orderly fashion consistent with its long-term investment goal. Mr. Goldstein's short-term view serves only his short-term personal goals. A liquidation of the Company is not in the best interests of stockholders.

Mr. Goldstein offers no rationale for his recommendation to terminate the Company's advisory agreement. If Mr. Goldstein had a legitimate concern about quality of the service provided by the Company's investment adviser, why has he not voiced them?

Mr. Goldstein has served on the board for over a year and, as required by the 1940 Act, has approved the valuations of the Company's portfolio investment quarterly. As a Board member he has voted in approval of the valuations recommended by the Company's investment adviser. He has questioned why he is required to approve these valuations—evidencing his complete lack of understanding of the regulatory structure of a BDC and his unwillingness to spend the time and effort necessary to perform his duties as a director. If he cannot understand and perform his duties, what can we expect from his nominees?

How has your board sought to increase stockholder value?

The Company's stock has in the past traded, and continues to trade, at a discount to net asset value. Your board of directors is committed to reducing this discount and enhancing the value of the Company. The Company has been exploring strategic alternatives to enhance our growth and stockholder value. We determined that continuing to operate at our current size or attempting to realize premature liquidity events within our current portfolio would not enhance the market value of our common stock. However, shares of business development companies that invest primarily in mezzanine investments, which typically take the form of subordinated debt with equity kickers such as warrants tend to trade at a premium to net asset value due to the expectation of current income produced by such investments.

Thus, on June 4, 2002, the Company announced that it had received board approval to pursue a transferable rights offering. The proceeds from the offering will be used to expand our origination of mezzanine investments. In addition, we believe that current market conditions, influenced by more stringent credit standards of commercial banks and more conservative capital structures sought by entrepreneurs and equity sponsors, have created an increased demand for mezzanine investments.

By offering transferable rights to our stockholders, we are seeking to raise capital to expand our mezzanine investments while giving stockholders an opportunity to purchase additional shares of our common stock at a price that is anticipated to be below market and below net asset value without incurring any commission charge. Because the rights will be transferable, non-participating stockholders may be able to reduce the possible dilution of their interests as a result of the rights offering by selling their rights.

The Company intends to execute its mezzanine investment strategy by forming a new subsidiary that will operate as a small business investment company, or SBIC. We intend to seek a license from the Small Business Administration, or SBA, to operate an SBIC under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, which will allow us to have access to various forms of capital provided by the SBA to SBICs. The Company intends to begin the license application process as soon as practicable, though no assurances can be made that we will be successful in obtaining such a license.

As we invest the net proceeds from the rights offering, we expect that mezzanine investments will represent a much larger percentage of our assets. The mezzanine investments are expected to provide a current cash return to us in the form of interest and origination fees. Although we will typically participate in any increase in the equity value of the companies to whom we provide mezzanine financing through warrants or other equity rights, we anticipate that our mezzanine investments will provide less potential for appreciation in our net asset value than our private equity investments, but will instead provide higher current income that may be distributed to our stockholders.

We believe the actions taken by the board in the past demonstrate our commitment to serving the best interests of all of the Company's stockholders. The Company is actively pursuing a business plan to reduce the discount between net asset value and the stock price. We believe that a vote in favor of the Dissident Nominees would NOT be in the best interests of all stockholders and would put the Company's value at great risk.

The Company urges you not to sign or return any proxy card sent to you by Mr. Goldstein. Please vote as soon as possible on the white proxy card attached hereto.

NOTICE

Mr. Goldstein has notified the Company that he intends to solicit proxies for other proposals. We believe that the notice Mr. Goldstein provided to the Company was not sufficient for these proposals to come before the meeting. In addition, one of the proposals, if presented, would not be a proper proposal for stockholders under Maryland law. Therefore, if Mr. Goldstein attempts to present these improper proposals, we intend to rule him out of order.

The Company's bylaws provide in Section 2.12 that a stockholder may present business at an annual meeting if it is properly submitted to the Company prior to the meeting. In addition to conforming to timing and content requirements, the business must conform with any other applicable requirements and be otherwise properly brought before the meeting. In this case, the applicable requirement that Mr. Goldstein failed to comply with is Maryland corporate law.

Maryland corporate law requires that the board of directors approve a liquidation proposal before it is presented to the stockholders for approval. Your board of directors has approved nothing of the kind. In fact, the business plan approved by the board is completely opposite of Mr. Goldstein's proposal. Thus, Mr. Goldstein is attempting to present an improper proposal. Because Mr. Goldstein failed to do his due diligence as to the legal requirements for his proposals, we urge stockholders not to cast votes for this illegal and improper proposal.

Mr. Goldstein's second proposal regarding the advisory agreement of the Company is contingent on approval of the first proposal. Because the first proposal is not able to be approved by stockholders, the second proposal will also not come before stockholders.

The Company urges you not to sign or return any proxy card sent to you by Mr. Goldstein. Please vote as soon as possible on the white proxy card attached hereto.

STOCKHOLDER PROPOSALS FOR THE 2003 ANNUAL MEETING
