MATERIAL CHANGE REPORT FORM 51-102F3

Item 1.

Name and Address of Company

Fording Canadian Coal Trust (the "Trust")
1000, 205 - 9th Avenue S.E.
Calgary, Alberta T2G 0R3

Item 2.

Date of Material Change

The material change occurred on April 5, 2005.

Item 3.

News Release

The press release reporting the material change was disseminated through Canada Newswire on April 5, 2005. A copy of the press release is attached hereto as Schedule "A".

Item 4.

Summary of Material Change

The Trust announced that Elk Valley Coal Corporation ("Elk Valley Coal") and Canadian Pacific Railway Company ("CPR") have reached a five-year agreement for the transportation of metallurgical coal from Elk Valley Coal's mines in southeastern British Columbia to Vancouver area ports for export.

In addition, the parties resolved a number of other operating and commercial issues. In connection with this agreement, Elk Valley Coal and CPR have agreed to discontinue all legal and regulatory proceedings relating to their previous contract dispute over the transportation of coal.

On the basis of expected coal prices for 2005 and the new rail contract, Fording anticipates that Elk Valley Coal's 2005 calendar year transportation and other costs will average approximately $37 to $38 per tonne compared with $29 per tonne in 2004.

Item 5.

Full Description of Material Change

The Trust announced that Elk Valley Coal and CPR have reached a five-year agreement for the transportation of metallurgical coal from Elk Valley Coal's mines in southeastern British Columbia to Vancouver area ports for export. The exact terms of the contract are confidential.

The key elements of the confidential contract are:

- a five-year agreement effective April 1, 2004 to March 31, 2009;
- a commitment from CPR to increase the base volumes of coal to be moved in line with Elk Valley Coal's current planned capacity increases;
- a framework of agreement with CPR to transport additional tonnes above the base volume during the 2006 to 2008 coal years, with a rate premium on the additional tonnes;
- fixed rates for the first three years of the contract, with the 2004 coal year rate being approximately 20% higher, and the 2005 and 2006 rates in the order of 60% higher, than the 2003 rate;
- rates for the 2007 and 2008 coal years that will be linked to Elk Valley Coal's sales price of coal, subject to a floor and ceiling rate, both of which will be lower than both the 2005 and 2006 but higher than the 2004 contract rail rates; and
- a fuel cost adjustment mechanism for the last two years of the contract.

In addition, the parties resolved a number of other operating and commercial issues. In connection with this agreement, Elk Valley Coal and CPR have agreed to discontinue all legal and regulatory proceedings relating to their previous contract dispute over the transportation of coal.

As a consequence of the new contract, Fording is updating previous information concerning transportation and other costs as provided in its news release dated December 14, 2004. On the basis of expected coal prices for 2005 and the new rail contract, Fording anticipates that Elk Valley Coal's 2005 calendar year transportation and other costs will average approximately $37 to $38 per tonne compared with $29 per tonne in 2004. Transportation and other costs include the cost of rail service, port charges, ocean freight costs where Elk Valley Coal is responsible for the expense, and other costs such as coal testing fees and demurrage charges for vessel waiting times.

SCHEDULE "A"

Elk Valley Coal and CPR reach five-year agreement

Contract Provides Commitment for Capacity Expansion

CALGARY, April 5 /CNW/ - Fording Canadian Coal Trust (TSX: FDG.UN, NYSE: FDG) and Teck Cominco Limited (TSX: TEK.MV.A, TEK.SV.B) today announced that Elk Valley Coal Corporation and Canadian Pacific Railway Company (CPR) have reached a five-year agreement for the transportation of metallurgical coal from Elk Valley Coal's mines in southeastern British Columbia to Vancouver area ports for export. The exact terms of the contract are confidential.

"We are very pleased to have finalized this agreement with Canadian Pacific," said Jim Popowich, CEO of Elk Valley Coal and President of Fording Canadian Coal Trust. "CPR's commitment to increase coal movements during the term of the contract provides us with the confidence that Elk Valley Coal will have sufficient rail capacity for its current expansion plans, and will have the flexibility in future years to consider further production increases. The new contract also provides us with more certainty in our rail costs. We believe this is a good contract for both parties and look forward to strengthening the relationship between the two companies and capturing opportunities in our coal markets."

The key elements of the confidential contract are:

- a five-year agreement effective April 1, 2004 to March 31, 2009;
- a commitment from CPR to increase the base volumes of coal to be moved in line with Elk Valley Coal's current planned capacity increases;
- a framework with CPR to transport additional tonnes above the base volume during the 2006 to 2008 coal years, with a rate premium on the additional tonnes;
- fixed rates for the first three years of the contract, with the 2004 coal year rate being approximately 20% higher, and the 2005 and 2006 rates in the order of 60% higher, than the 2003 rate;
- rates for the 2007 and 2008 coal years that will be linked to Elk Valley Coal's sales price of coal, subject to a floor and ceiling rate, both of which will be lower than both the 2005 and 2006 but higher than the 2004 contract rail rates; and
- a fuel cost adjustment mechanism for the last two years of the contract.

In addition, the parties resolved a number of other operating and commercial issues. In connection with this agreement, Elk Valley Coal and CPR have agreed to discontinue all legal and regulatory proceedings relating to their previous contract dispute over the transportation of coal.

As a consequence of the new contract, Fording is updating previous information concerning transportation and other costs as provided in its news release dated December 14, 2004. On the basis of expected coal prices for 2005 and the new rail contract, Fording anticipates that Elk Valley Coal's 2005 calendar year transportation and other costs will average approximately $37 to $38 per tonne compared with $29 per tonne in 2004. Transportation and other costs include the cost of rail service, port charges, ocean freight costs where Elk Valley Coal is responsible for the expense, and other costs such as coal testing fees and demurrage charges for vessel waiting times.

About Fording
