BUSINESS NEWS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Matav Reports Severe Problems in HOT's Telephone Services

NETANYA, Israel May 18, 2006 Matav-Cable Systems Media Ltd. (NASDAQ & TASE: MATV) reported today that the merged operations of Matav and the other two Israeli cable television providers operating under the HOT brand name through Hot Telecom, is experiencing severe problems in the provision of telephone services to its subscribers due to transmission failures in the interconnect lines between the companies' network caused by Bezeq Israel Telecommunications Corporation Ltd. Bezeq is the largest telephone services provider in Israel and a competitor of HOT.

As a result of the transmission failure, which appears to have been caused due to labor sanctions in Bezeq, HOT's telephone subscribers are generally not able to connect to telephone subscribers of other telephone service providers and to receive calls, excluding cellular and international calls. Following a motion filed with the Israeli district court in Jerusalem last night, Bezeq was instructed by the court to restore the transmission services immediately in any possible way. However, the failure has not been rectified yet. Bezeq applied to the labor court against the Bezeq's employees union and the hearing is set for today afternoon. There can be no assurance if and when such failure shall be rectified nor is it possible to assess at this stage the damages caused to HOT.
