Current El Paso Board Enormous Decline in Shareholder Value

The price of El Paso's common stock fell by over 90% between April 1, 2002 and February 18, 2003 (the date Mr. Zilkha formally notified El Paso of his intent to replace the board at the Annual Meeting).

El Paso's debt rating has been downgraded from investment grade to junk. We believe the performance of El Paso's current Board of Directors and management has been inexcusably poor and that they do not deserve your support and should be replaced.

Less than three years ago, El Paso's fully integrated core businesses of natural gas exploration combined with nationwide pipeline distribution system and its solid balance sheet made it a very successful commercial enterprise. Since that time, the current Board has led a once-proud company to the point that its very viability is being publicly questioned.

El Paso's stock price has underperformed several other indices and stocks from April 1, 2002 to February 18, 2003:

EP down 72.07 percentage points versus AMEX Natural Gas Index.

EP down 65.54 percentage points versus Standard and Poor's 500 Index.

EP down 3.46 percentage points versus The Williams Companies Inc.

EP down 31.06 percentage points versus Duke Energy Corporation.

EP down 100.79 percentage points versus Kinder Morgan Energy Partners LP.¹

¹ Kinder Morgan's stock price has increased while El Paso's stock price has plummeted.

Current El Paso Board Lack of Focus and Direction

The current board has repeatedly changed El Paso's business strategy, including pursuing and then abandoning a series of high-risk ventures that proved disastrous.

In 1999, El Paso announced in its annual report that it would enter the telecommunications arena in 2000, stating: Our physical footprint, risk management capabilities, and Internet trading platform provide us with a strong entry point into this business.

By the end of 2001, El Paso had stated that it would no longer participate in the telecommunications market.

In 2001, El Paso announced in its annual report: Future growth will be driven by our LNG business, increased market share in North America, expansion of our petroleum business, and the addition of selected power generation assets.

Table of Contents

On May 2, 2002, El Paso stated during a call with analysts: The most significant development in merchant energy is our [LNG] business. The board of directors has authorized a major move by the Corporation into [LNG]. We believe we have real competitive advantage in the business and we believe it should be the largest growing subsegment of the energy sector over the next 10 years.

On May 29, 2002, El Paso implemented a restructuring plan in which its Merchant Energy Segment was reorganized so that LNG, Petroleum and Energy Trading Businesses would each report separately. El Paso's stated objective for this restructuring was to generate better and higher earnings, get the credit profile right.

On February 4, 2003, El Paso announced that it was exiting the LNG and Energy Trading Businesses and would seek to sell its petroleum assets.

Table of Contents

Current El Paso Board Inability to Execute Current Business Plan

El Paso's latest plan calls for preserving and enhancing the value of El Paso's core businesses which, according to El Paso's SEC filings, include its Pipeline, Production, Midstream and Non-merchant Power Businesses, and divesting non-core businesses.

Since January 1, 2002 approximately 72% by value of El Paso's asset dispositions have been in core (not non-core) areas as identified by El Paso.

Since January 1, 2003 over 50% by value of El Paso's asset dispositions have been in core (not non-core) areas.

In El Paso's May 1 preliminary proxy statement, it once again changed its business plan by removing Non-merchant Power Business from the definition of its core areas.

Current El Paso Board Severance & Compensation

The current board has insisted on retaining outrageously expensive golden parachutes and other related self-enrichment devices. Now they are threatening shareholders with the additional expenses associated with a novel change of control scheme, as a means of coercing you into retaining the current management and board.

According to El Paso's public filings, the severance arrangements are only payable if there is a change in control, which happens if, over two years there is a change in a majority of the board, unless the election or nomination for the election by El Paso Corporation's stockholders of each new director was approved by a vote of at least two-thirds (2/3) of the directors then still in office who were directors at the beginning of the period.

In other words, El Paso's current board could prevent the payment of at least $75 million and an obligation to set aside at least $165 million (which El Paso has now changed to $123 million) by simply letting shareholders pick a Board of their choosing without the threat of a financial payout to current management if you elect our nominees. (We believe El Paso has in any event exaggerated the possible size of these payouts, which become due only if there is a change in control and a termination of employment and although we plan to dismiss Mr. Kuehn, we are not planning mass firings.)

The current board has condoned and, in fact, rewarded management despite poor performance.

William Wise, the CEO of El Paso until he was recently jettisoned, received compensation in excess of $37 million between 2001 and 2003 while El Paso's stock price dropped from a high of over $75 to a low of $3.33. Wise's compensation, as disclosed in El Paso's proxy statement, is made up of salary and bonus of $6.2 million paid to Mr. Wise, restricted stock awards valued at $1.7 million, other compensation of $4.5 million, $9.4 million remaining salary and bonus due as severance under his employment contract and $15.3 million lump sum retirement payment. This amount does not include a $9 million dollar loan to Wise.

Brent Austin, who as El Paso's CFO had direct responsibility for the series of financing transactions including the off-balance sheet transactions that led to El Paso's current sorry state, was promoted to President in late 2002. El Paso announced his termination shortly after Mr. Zilkha criticized his performance and promotion.

Table of Contents

Current El Paso Board Credibility, Disclosure & Debt

According to a recent report by a Goldman Sachs analyst, One of El Paso's key challenges is restoring management credibility. The same report noted that their hiring a new CEO could help restore credibility.

A recent Morgan Stanley report concludes that the maximum prudent debt level for El Paso is $11 billion in other words, the incumbent directors have permitted El Paso to become seriously over-leveraged.

Following the Board's high-risk business strategies, such as venturing into telecommunications, energy trading and LNG, as well as off-balance sheet financing transactions, and particularly because of the excessive levels of debt it authorized, El Paso's financial condition continued to decline, leading it to fall into its current severe liquidity crisis.

The Board's failure to act quickly and decisively almost certainly made the liquidity crisis worse than it otherwise would have been since earlier action could have reduced El Paso's expenses and debt.

Transparency of El Paso's Disclosure

It is impossible to determine from El Paso's disclosure the true level of its debt. In fact, a recent report published by Morgan Stanley concludes that it is not possible to determine from El Paso's SEC filings whether its total debt level is $25 billion or $29 billion.

El Paso's disclosure regarding their merchant energy segment fails to provide the basis to determine such key metrics as value of assets, how cash flow is being generated and nature of contracts.

Questionable Business Decisions

El Paso, as described in its proxy statement, anticipates spending $2.6 billion on capital expenditures in 2003 while projecting in its annual report free cash flows of approximately $2.1 billion to 2.4 billion. It is not a sustainable business strategy to spend more than you earn.

Despite having access to capital, El Paso has allowed a productive asset, their Aruba refinery, to operate at 50% of capacity at a time when the refinery could generate significant returns due to favorable oil and gas prices.

Potentially valuable assets in Australia being jeopardized while El Paso shuffles local management.

Re-hiring terminated executives as consultants.

Quality of earnings non-recurring charges

We believe investors are appropriately skeptical of companies that repeatedly report non-recurring charges. El Paso's history in this respect is poor. A recent A.G. Edwards analyst report states: "[t]he company once again reported large non-recurring charges . . . In total, El Paso has taken non-recurring charges in excess of $5 billion, or almost 7.50 per share, since 2000. El Paso has written off more than it has reported in pro forma earnings for this time period. See Annex A for a detailed list of El Paso's non-recurring charges since 2000.

Debt Ratios:

The current board claims to be tackling El Paso's debt burden. Recent performance suggests otherwise:

	Debt to Capitalization Ratio³
March 31, 2003	69%
December 31, 2002	66%
September 30, 2002	62%
June 30, 2002	62%
March 31, 2002	61%

³ Calculated by dividing total debt by the sum of total debt and stockholder's equity as disclosed in El Paso's quarterly and annual reports.

Current El Paso Board Lack of Accountability

The current board has failed to act proactively and instead acts principally in response to outside pressure it belatedly fired Mr. Wise and added a few new directors almost immediately after Mr. Zilkha announced he would seek to replace the Board, demanded Mr. Wise be fired and criticized the Board's lack of energy industry experience.

The current board makes excuses for poor performance, rather than taking responsibility for it.

Table of Contents

Our Nominees Industry-Specific Experience and Credibility

Our nominees are a world-class group with a vast wealth of industry-specific experience and expertise.

They have a genuine personal commitment to rolling up their sleeves and working long and hard to achieve a successful turnaround.

They are not burdened by the lack of credibility or history of failed business initiatives that afflicts the current board.

They are not beholden to anyone.

As securities analyst John Olson stated: We have known several of these individuals for 10-20 years, and would suggest that this proposed Board is as deep a bench of energy talent available in Houston at large.

Table of Contents

Our Nominees Philosophy

El Paso must return to good basic management.

The El Paso Board defines the corporate culture.

El Paso should only own assets whose return exceeds the company's cost of capital.

El Paso must have a solid financial structure and competent and reliable personnel.

El Paso has enormous assets burdened by enormous debt, no recent earnings, inadequate equity and is beset by internal turmoil.

We will work hard to analyze El Paso's assets, sell underperforming assets, and reorganize its culture.

Productive assets will be defined by their ability to generate revenue.

Assets that generate returns that exceed their cost of capital will be developed to encourage growth.

If an asset is not productive, our nominees will

Consider strategies to make asset productive.

If asset cannot be made productive, sell the asset and use proceeds to fund growth of productive assets.

Review will be headed by board member with expertise in the area in which the asset is used.

Non-productive assets will be addressed systematically, taking those with the most value first.

Initial plan to address higher value non-productive assets will be formulated within 30 days of being seated.

Next tier of assets will be reviewed within 30 to 60 days of being seated.

Our Nominees Non-Executive Chairman / Lead Director

Under El Paso's current board arrangements, Mr. Kuehn serves as Chairman and CEO (the positions recently held by Mr. Wise). El Paso's board recently appointed Mr. Bissell, Chairman of the Board of BISSELL Inc., a manufacturer of vacuum cleaners, as lead director. By contrast, we plan to separate the positions of Chairman and CEO. We intend that when our slate is elected, John Murphy will serve as Chairman and, in that capacity, as lead director. In that capacity, he will:

Set the frequency and agenda for meetings of the Board.

Conduct executive sessions of the Board without management.

Appoint Committees of the Board and establish the process for selecting the Chair of each Board Committee.

Select the Secretary of the Company.

Conduct a Board review of strategic and long-term plans.

Our Nominees Smooth Management Transition

We believe the management transition to the new board will be a smooth one because of the broad energy industry expertise that exists within the slate and the personal knowledge of significant portions of El Paso's core businesses and assets.

Mr. Chesebro was CEO of Tenneco Energy, which is an important part of El Paso's natural gas transmission system. Tenneco Energy owned and operated a large portion of El Paso's current Midstream Business. Mr. Chesebro established the base for most of El Paso's international operations including Australia, Indonesia and Brazil. In addition, Mr. Chesebro managed South Texas exploration and production activities for both Tenneco Oil Company and Pennzoil. Mr. Chesebro was operations manager for Tenneco's Gulf of Mexico operations when it was the largest and most active in the industry. Mr. Chesebro also led the energy industry in achieving increased reliability and transparency in energy trading practices by forming the Gas Industries Standards Board, where he was chairman for the first three years of the organization's existence.

Mr. Murphy has worked with most, if not all of the major pipeline and Exploration and Production companies building refineries, providing pipeline components, or directly contributing to the exploration, production, and processing of oil and gas.

Mr. Zilkha owned and operated a significant part of what is now El Paso's Exploration and Production Business Segment.

Mr. Burns and Mr. Bennett both have extensive experience directly related to El Paso's natural gas business, including trading.

Mr. Davis has extensive Exploration and Production plus Midstream experience, and like Mr. Black and Mr. Bowman has led successful Exploration and Production organizations in the United States and worldwide.

We also expect a smooth transition because we do not plan mass firings.

Given the current management turmoil at El Paso, we believe that far from bringing disruption, the election of our slate will help stabilize the situation.
