Table of Contents

The actuarial assumptions used in determining the benefit obligation and the net gratuity cost are given below:

	As of March 31,
	2006	2005 Unaudited
Discount rate	7.50%	7.00%
Rate of increase in compensation levels	6.00%	5.00%
Rate of return on plan assets	7.50%	7.00%

The expected long term rate of return is an average of the expected long term returns for the fund held with LIC.

Investment strategy for plan assets maintained by the LIC

The LIC administers the plan fund and it independently determines the target allocation by asset category. The LIC primarily invests the fund in government securities and other debt instruments. The selection of investments and the asset category is determined by LIC. The LIC's strategy is to invest in a prudent manner to produce a return that will enable the fund to meet the required benefit obligations. The insurance industry in the country is highly regulated and the LIC, which is majority owned by the Government of India, functions within regulated investment norms. As such, while the return on investments is subject to market interest rate and other risks, no untoward losses are expected to the plan assets. No such events have occurred in the history of operations of the fund. As of 31 March 2006 all plan assets are invested in approved government securities only.

The benefits expected to be paid in each of the next five fiscal years, and in the aggregate for the five fiscal years thereafter are as follows:

	(Rs. in thousands)
Future estimated payments during the year ending March 31,
2007	69
2008	120
2009	386
2010	730
2011	1,074
Thereafter	8,426
Total	10,805

The employers best estimate of contribution expected to be paid to the plan during 2006-2007 amounts to Rs. 1,916 thousands.

Provident fund

The Company contributed Rs 2,280 thousands during the year ended March 31, 2006 (Rs 1,537 thousands during March 31, 2005) towards provident fund.

Table of Contents12. Income taxesComponents of the deferred tax balances*

The tax effects of temporary differences are reflected through a deferred tax asset/liability which is included in the statement of financial condition of the Company.

Components of the deferred tax balances are set out below:

	As of March 31,
	2006	2005
		Unaudited
	(Rs. in thousands)
Deferred tax assets
Furniture and equipment	12,185	18,024
Allowances for Debtors	1,009	168
Gratuity	470	690
Membership in exchanges	3,881	2,272
	17,545	21,154
Valuation allowance	(3,881)	(2,272)
Total deferred tax asset	13,664	18,882
Deferred tax liability
Undistributed earnings of subsidiaries	8,441	1,248
Net deferred tax asset/(liability)	5,223	17,634

In assessing the realizability of deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of the deferred tax asset is dependent on the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversal of the projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable incomes over the periods in which the deferred tax assets are deductible, management believes that it is more likely than not that the Company will realize the benefits of those deductible differences, net of existing valuation allowances as at 31 March 2006. The amount of deferred tax asset is considered realizable, however could be reduced in the near term, if estimates of future taxable income are reduced.

The Company would require taxable income of Rs 15,517 thousands in the future periods to be able to fully realize the benefit of net deferred asset recognized in these financial statements.

The net change in the total valuation allowance for the years ended March 31, 2006, and March 31, 2005 was an increase of Rs 1,609 thousands and an increase of Rs 2,272 thousands respectively. The valuation allowance as of March 31, 2006 relates to capital loss carried forward on membership in exchanges.

14. Financial Instruments

Financial Instruments With Off-Balance-Sheet Risk

In the normal course of business, the Company's customer activities involve the execution, settlement, and financing of various customer securities transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the customer or other broker-dealer is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss.

The Company's customer securities activities are transacted on either a cash or margin basis. In margin transactions, the Company extends credit to its customers, subject to various regulatory and internal margin requirements, collateralized by cash and securities in the customers' accounts. In connection with these activities, the Company executes and clears customer transactions involving the purchase and sale of securities, which are transacted on a margin basis subject to individual exchange regulations. Such transactions may expose the Company to significant off-balance-sheet risk in the event margin requirements are not sufficient to fully cover losses that customers may incur. In the event the customer fails to satisfy its obligations, the Company may be required to purchase or sell financial instruments at prevailing market prices to fulfill the customer's obligations. The Company seeks to mitigate the risks associated with its customer activities by requiring customers to maintain margin collateral in compliance with various regulatory and internal guidelines. The Company monitors required margin levels daily and pursuant to such guidelines, requires the customer to deposit additional collateral or to reduce positions when necessary. The Company mitigates the risk by monitoring the market value of securities pledged on a daily basis and by requiring adjustments of collateral levels in the event of excess market exposure. In addition, the Company establishes credit limits for such activities and monitors compliance on a daily basis.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Company and its subsidiaries are engaged in brokerage activities in which counterparties primarily include foreign institutional investors, financial institutions, mutual funds and retail investors. In the event counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Company's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty.

FASB Interpretation No. 45 (FIN 45), Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others, requires the Company to disclose information about its obligations under certain guarantee arrangements and to record a liability at inception of the guarantee. FIN 45 defines guarantees as contracts and indemnification agreements that contingently require a guarantor to make payments to the guaranteed party based on changes in an underlying (such as an interest or foreign exchange rate, security or commodity price, an index or the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a specified event) related to an asset, liability or equity security of a guaranteed party. FIN 45 also defines guarantees as contracts that contingently require the guarantor to make payments to the guaranteed party based on another entity's failure to perform under an agreement as well as indirect guarantees of the indebtedness of others.

The Company has outstanding financial guarantees granted on behalf of its subsidiary Man Financial Commodities, for statutory purposes. These guarantees are provided to trading exchanges. The current carrying amount of the liability and the maximum potential amount of future payments the Company could be required to make under the guarantee amounts to Rs 95,000 thousands as of March 31, 2006 (Rs 95,000 thousands as of March 31, 2005).

Exchange Member Guarantees

The Company is a member of various exchanges that trade and clear securities, commodities and/or futures contracts. Associated with its membership, the Company may be required to pay a proportionate share of the financial obligations of another member who may default on its obligations to the exchange. While the rules governing different exchange memberships vary, in general the Company's guarantee obligations would be restricted only to the extent of amounts due/receivable from the Exchange and would arise only if the exchange had previously exhausted its resources. In addition, any such guarantee obligation would be apportioned among the other non-defaulting members of the exchange. Any potential contingent liability under these membership agreements cannot be estimated. The Company has not recorded any contingent liability in the consolidated financial statements for these agreements and believes that any potential requirement to make payments under these agreements is remote.
